AUDITORS' REPORT.

TO THE CITIZENS OF QUINCY: —

Another financial year of the town has closed, and it becomes our duty as Auditors, agreeable to the usual custom, to submit to you the following Report, which gives in detail the amount of expenditures in each Department, also the financial condition of the town.

The Almshouse has continued under the management of Mr. Charles Spear and wife, who have managed its affairs so faithfully for the past six years. Although Mr. Spear has devoted much of his time to the highways, his accounts and the general appearance of the outbuildings, show that the farm has not been neglected. The house looked remarkably neat and clean, and the appearance of the inmates indicated that they were kindly treated and well provided for. Our inspection of the establishment forcibly reminded us of the suggestions of the several Boards of Auditors for the past eight or nine years, as to the necessity of a new almshouse and stable, and we merely add our opinion that those we now have are too far behind the age to be either creditable or profitable to the town.

The expenses of living having largely increased the past year, an unusual number of families have been obliged to call upon the Selectmen for aid, thus increasing the expenditures for the poor out of the almshouse. There are at the present time four persons in the hospitals whose expenses are defrayed by the town, which, if it had a suitable almshouse, could be maintained here at a much less expense.

By reference to the school expenses it will be seen that they have largely exceeded the appropriation, which excess is to be accounted for by the fact that most of the teachers have drawn their salary up to February (thirteen months) 1, the school year having been changed from January 1 to that time, and the largely increased price of fuel.

The town has been called upon to furnish 240 volunteers the past year, thus largely increasing the recruiting expenses.

The labors of the Selectmen have been arduous and unparalleled during the past year, and there is abundant evidence that the interests of the town have not suffered in their hands.

We have carefully examined the books and accounts of the Selectmen and Treasurer, and found them correct, with proper vouchers for all payments.

Thanking the Selectmen, Town Treasurer, and Clerk, for valuable assistance rendered, we submit the Seventy-third Annual Report of the Receipts and Expenditures of the town for your consideration.

REPORT.

In the record of proceedings at the regular March meeting of the Town in 1861, we find the following : —

“ Voted, That the School Committee be instructed to make up their Report to the first day of February next, and have it printed with the Auditors' Report.”

It does not appear that these instructions were complied with at the time ; nor was it, indeed, an altogether easy matter to comply with them, inasmuch as the school year did not end until the first Monday in April, and it would have been necessary to prepare the Report, not only before the Winter Examinations, which have usually been the severer Examinations of the year, but so early as to leave the condition and progress of the Schools during the months of February and March quite unaccounted for.

A year ago, however, the Committee determined, at the earnest request of the Selectmen, to issue their Report in connection with the Town Report ; deeming, in their own words, that such disadvantages as those just referred to were “ more than counterbalanced by the immense advantage gained through the opportunity afforded them of placing their Report in the hands of the people prior to the Annual March meeting, thus enabling all voters to vote understandingly upon any matters relating to the schools that may be brought forward at that meeting.”

But this year our course has become plainer. In entire accordance with the spirit of the above vote passed by the Town in 1861, and in order that there may be for the future no such discrepancy between the School Committee's and the Auditors' Reports as has heretofore existed, — a discrepancy due to the fact that the municipal year ended two months before the School Year, — we have decided that the School Year shall begin henceforth on the first Monday in February; thus making the Municipal and the School years very nearly coincide.

GENERAL CONDITION OF THE SCHOOLS.

When we consider what our Schools might become; and how, with all that has been hitherto accomplished, the art of education seems even now to be but in its infancy; and how we are only inaugurating that great revolution in the whole system of teaching which must take place before we can arrive at anything like perfection in our methods of instruction; we are unable to declare ourselves really satisfied with the condition of our Schools. A great deal remains to be accomplished before the eight or ten years usually devoted to a common school education shall be spent in such a manner as will be best suited to the interests of the pupils.

But, on the other hand, looking backward instead of forward, and comparing past methods with present, we have much reason to congratulate our fellow-citizens on the manifest and continual improvement in our Schools. With every year deepens and spreads among us interest in the great work of popular education. With every year is manifested an increasing anxiety to discover and eradicate faults of teaching, and to devise and use wiser and better plans. In almost every instance we have found Teachers ready and even glad to acknowledge deficiencies of former years, and to receive and adopt suggestions of improvement. In fact, we think that more and speedier improvements would have been effected hitherto, had not Teachers felt themselves subjected to the pressure of an outward authority, bent on resisting reform, and self-pledged to travel forever in the old ruts.

A word here as to the choice of teachers. In selecting them from among the many candidates who generally present themselves whenever a vacancy is to be filled, it is the duty of the Committee to lay aside all personal preferences and private interests, and consider solely the good of the Schools. It was stated in last year's Report that, "in determining the fitness of candidates for the office of teacher, four considerations have recently had much weight with the Committee:—

"1. Whether the applicants are inhabitants of Quincy.

"2. Whether they need the money.

"3. Whether they are graduates of a Normal School.

"4. Whether they are graduates of our High School."

We repeat the statement; but it should be clearly understood that superior to any or all of these is the consideration: Which of the applicants is best fitted to take charge of the School? It by no means follows that the selection of the Committee is unwise if in the successful candidate is fulfilled neither of the conditions mentioned above.

And let us urge again upon parents the importance of visiting the Schools. We are always glad to see the blank pages in the School Register well filled with visitors' names;—especially glad when these names are the names of parents. Be assured that every visit of one who feels a real interest in the School gives a fresh inspiration both to teachers and to pupils.

CONDITION OF THE SCHOOLHOUSES.

There has been trouble again with regard to the heating of some of the buildings. In some instances, where the furnace has either worn out, or has been found for other reasons insufficient, stoves have been set in the different rooms.*

* It is the opinion of more than one member of the Committee that one large furnace of good construction, properly set, and wisely managed, ought to heat any one of the school buildings in all its parts. A furnace properly

The Coddington Schoolhouse still remains unpainted. The Committee, consisting of the Selectmen and the School Committee, appointed to carry out the vote passed at the last March meeting to provide a new room for the second Primary School in this District, have as yet taken no definite action in the matter.

The suggestions made in the last Report with regard to the Stone Schoolhouse have been mainly carried out. The lower room has been enlarged, provided with a new floor, and furnished with seats and desks of the most approved construction. Besides this, the playground has been considerably enlarged by the temporary addition of a tract of land lying on the southwest side of the building. We recommend that this land be either purchased, or hired again, for the ensuing year.

We have found a slight change for the better in the West District Schoolhouses. There are still wanted, in some of the rooms, clocks and blackboards. We are sorry to say that the very important repairs in the Third Primary Schoolroom, alluded to in the last Report, have not yet been made. When a District appoints a Prudential Committee, not only the selection of the Teachers, but the care of the Schoolhouses is in his hands.

CHANGES OF TEACHERS.

In the High School, Mr. Putnam and Miss Dow have been succeeded by Mr. Edward W. Howe, Principal, and Miss Cora A. Chapin, Assistant.

In the Point District, Mr. S. H. Haskell has succeeded Mr. Comins as Principal of the Grammar School.

In the South District, Mr. Gage, the Principal of the Grammar School at the beginning of the year, was succeeded by Mr. Martin, and he by the present incumbent, Mr. H. F. Allen.

constructed and managed is constantly pouring into the rooms a supply of fresh, moist air; and even without ventilators, or opening of windows, ensures a better ventilation than can readily be obtained with the use of the close stove. But it is essential that the furnace be rightly constructed, properly set, and wisely managed.

In the North District Grammar School, Mr. Bunker was succeeded by Mr. Warren, and he by Mr. Lewis F. Hobbs, the present Teacher.

In the Neck Primary School, Miss Emma A. French has succeeded Miss Baxter.

Undoubtedly, as a general rule, Schools suffer from frequent changes of Teachers. Almost all the changes of the past year in our Schools have been caused by Teachers leaving us for higher salaries. Whatever we may have gained, we have certainly lost several valuable instructors, simply because their services have been deemed worthy of higher remuneration elsewhere.

GRADING OF THE SCHOOLS.

The system according to which our Schools are graded implies the establishment, in each District, of two grades of Primary Schools, one Intermediate School, and one Grammar School. In some Districts, however, owing to local causes, we have not been able to carry out this system to perfection. Thus in the North District, where there are only two Schools, the higher of these two necessarily partakes somewhat of the character of an Intermediate, and even of a Primary School. At the Point there is but one grade of Primary Schools; hence the Intermediate School there is partially Primary, and in the Grammar School some studies are pursued which properly belong to an Intermediate School. Again, at Germantown, is a Mixed School, containing scholars whose ages range from five to fifteen.

THE PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

These are not the least important of our Schools. Here is laid the foundation, and it is of no small moment how it is laid. No trifling responsibility rests upon the Primary School Teachers. They are helping to form in their pupils habits which will cling to them through life. Here are formed, very much according to the character, capacity, and zeal of the teacher, habits of idleness or industry, of attention or inattention, of good behavior or bad, of obedience or disobedience, — nay of willing or unwilling compliance with the law of right. So great has seemed to some Committees the importance of securing competent teachers for Schools of this grade, that in several Towns they receive as high salaries as any of the instructresses, excepting the High School Assistants. We have not followed this custom, because of our feeling that it is easier to govern the little children of a Primary School than the larger ones of an Intermediate School. And yet, as will appear from what has been already said, we are by no means insensible to the importance of obtaining first-rate Teachers for the youngest children. The Grammar School, nay, even the High School, feels the good or the evil effect of wise or unwise teaching and training in the Primary School.

Of our Primary Schools as a whole we can speak with much pleasure. We rarely fail to find, in our visits, good order and excellent deportment. Almost always the little faces are bright and eager and happy. Rarely is there any evidence of antagonism between pupils and Teacher; rather do all appear interested in one common object, and working for one common end. Almost always do the children evidently look upon the Teacher as a protector and kind friend, and rather side with than against her, when any instance occurs of flagrant disobedience, or contempt for the rules of the School. And moreover, we have generally found the recitations very good indeed. All this is very gratifying. And yet we see large room for improvement. Let us briefly indicate where and how improvement may be made.

In the first place, we believe that children are usually sent to school too early for their own good. We venture without hesitation the assertion, that if two children, of equal abilities, begin to learn to read, the one at five years of age, and the other at seven, the latter will be as far advanced as the former when they shall both have arrived at the age of twelve. The sudden transition, at a very early age, from the freedom of the home and the playground is too great. The little limbs grow tired, the whole body suffers from the confinement. Still farther, the mind, which has hitherto been subject to no special training, cannot readily bear the heavy burdens laid upon it, — finds it hard to undergo the strain of fixing the attention upon any one subject for many consecutive moments.

The children in the lowest Primary Schools are taught mainly Reading and Spelling ; and a great many of them read and spell very well. But it is a quite mistaken idea that it is desirable to hurry them on from one lesson to another, and from one book to another. There need be no hurry at all. Every child who goes to school should undoubtedly be taught habits of study and close attention ; but it is only a very few minutes each day that a little boy or girl of five or six years can easily give to real study. During the greater part of the school hours, effort should be made by the teacher to interest and amuse the children while she instructs them. Not a half, not a quarter of the time should be spent in mere recitation. Let there be plenty of oral instruction, in which the whole School shall be simultaneously interested. Let there be talks upon all sorts of subjects. Whatever the little children learn or fail to learn from the text-books, let them not grow sleepy, or dull, or tired, or find the Schoolroom anything but a pleasant place. At very frequent intervals, let them have gymnastics and singing. Get the principle of curiosity thoroughly awakened within them. No matter how little in comparison they may have learned from the book. No matter if, at the end of the first two years, they shall be able to read only a few easy sentences. It will be vastly better for them than if they had become prodigies of learning. They will be far less likely to have degenerated into incipient book-worms ; rather will have developed into wide-awake inquirers, fond of their school, thirsting for knowledge, every day better prepared for the harder tasks that await them. One thing must be heeded, however, — whatever is learned from the book must be well learned, and thoroughly understood. Not one syllable should be passed over whose meaning is not fully comprehended.

Now we cheerfully admit the progress that our Primary Schools are making in this direction. In almost all cases the recitation consists, not merely in the reading or repeating of the lesson, but in talks about the lesson, and about subjects connected with it, and about the pictures,—of which, by the way, the books can hardly contain too many. Only there is not enough of this. Slates have also been extensively used during the last two or three years; and the children learn to print and write, some of them with remarkable neatness. We have witnessed very fair specimens of drawing on slate and blackboard. There is scarcely any limit to the use of the slate in the Primary Schools.

Very early in the course children may and should be taught the rudiments of many branches of learning; of Geometry, History, Geography, Arithmetic, Natural History, for example,—and this without any irksome labor, but with only unvarying interest and delight.

In farther explanation and illustration of what is meant by Object-teaching, we make the following extract from an excellent School Report which has fallen under our notice.

“Variety and change are elements in the child mind, and their lessons should therefore be brief and often changed. Their mental aliment needs this spice of variety; to them novelty is pleasure. The whole of Nature is a volume where a leaf may be daily turned for gathering knowledge and to teach the heart. Natural History is full of interest to the young; a cow, a dog, a cat, though familiar objects, would always excite an interest and afford them pleasure and instruction. They must be taught to spell the object spoken of, for instance: ‘Skin; what do they do with the hide?’ ‘What is leather, and how do they tan it?’ ‘Hair’ ‘spell it;’ ‘what do they do with the hair?’ ‘What with horse hair,’—‘What is soft hair called?’ ‘What do they do with fur?’ ‘Spell hoof.’ ‘What kind of a hoof has a cow, a sheep, a hog?’ ‘What a horse?’ ‘Butter; cheese, how is it made?’ Each interrogation would be, as in cultivating the ground, —like digging and putting in the seed, — mind would grow and become productive under such methods of mental culture.”

“ Again ; a most useful and interesting plan of instruction has latterly grown into disuse, and should be revived, that of lessons by means of pictures. While conveying other knowledge they may be made to aid in moral instruction . . . . . With short lessons, daily given, with never-ceasing variety, knowledge would soon accumulate in the storehouse of the young mind, by the due exercise of its several faculties, without hazard of injury. Spelling lessons by dictation might always be a ready means of changing the exercise, not forgetting to use the powerful principles of association to help the memory by classification. Spell the following actions of the limbs ; Slap, to strike with the palm of the hand. Tap, to strike lightly with the finger. Thump, to strike hard. Kick, to strike with the foot. Stamp, to strike hard with the bottom of the foot. Butt, to strike with the head. Rap, to strike with quick blows.”

“ Name the limbs and joints of the body, while elevating or touching them ; arms, elbows, hands, fists, thumbs, fingers, knuckles, wrists, shoulders, legs, feet. . . . . Then let there be a spelling lesson by touching the pupils, spelling whatever the teacher touches, they naming it, which serves to teach the pronunciation of words, a practice apt to be neglected in first lessons in orthography. Example : chair, table, window, card, door, floor, boy, girl, book, stove, &c.

“ Such lessons, it will be at once perceived, may be infinitely varied, and they would inevitably enlighten, instruct, and please. . . . . The intellect would be constantly and pleasurably quickened, and the powers genially directed into those channels of attention, observation, reflection, and comparison, which are to constitute the grand substructure of all substantial culture in after life.”

In old times sewing used to be taught in schools. And in Boston special Teachers of this branch are employed in several of the Districts. We recommend that the girls, in our Primary Schools at least, be henceforth instructed in sewing. Hence will result both pleasure and profit, as all mothers will readily confess.

In the upper grade of Primary Schools, the pupils are older and can, without injury, study somewhat longer and harder. Yet what has been said will apply very generally to these Schools, as well as to those of the lower grade.

We think that the instructors of these Schools, in teaching Geography and Arithmetic, should depend less upon text-books. The outlines of Geography can be easily learned by the use of globes and maps, and the elementary definitions can be given orally as they are needed. The four tables in Arithmetic can be committed by having them written on the blackboard, or on slates; and simple examples in Addition, Subtraction, Multiplication, and Division can be performed orally.

A word about Reading. Evidently it is not enough to repeat the printed words. The pupil must be persistently drilled, until, entering into the spirit of what he reads, and understanding every word, he delivers each sentence with the proper accent, inflection, and emphasis. Better half a dozen pages read in this way than a whole book repeated in any other way. And we must add, that we have never listened to better reading anywhere than that which we have now and then heard in some of our Primary Schools.

THE INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

These schools, as their name indicates, stand between the Primary and the Grammar Schools. There are four of them in Town. Taking them as a whole, there are no Schools of which we can speak with more satisfaction than of these. Here the pupils are old enough to devote a large part of the school session to hard study, and old enough to appreciate the importance of study. Here, besides Reading and Spelling, they continue Mental Arithmetic; and for a year past have been required to begin the study of Written Arithmetic. This latter requirement puts an end to one complaint that is sometimes made about our school system: That pupils learn to do very difficult examples in Oral Arithmetic, and are not able to perform the simplest operation upon the slate.

And here we would remark, that, in promoting pupils from one School to another, it will be better, in future, for every Sub-Committee to make a careful examination, and promote none who are not really fitted to enter the higher Department. Let none pass from the Primary to the Intermediate School who do not know the four tables perfectly. Let none enter the Grammar School who are not able to perform on the slate simple examples in Addition, Subtraction, Multiplication, and Division.

And still farther, with regard to the study of arithmetic, we would say that we are not desirous that the pupils in the Intermediate Schools should finish Colburn. We shall be better satisfied to have them complete but one half of it, or even less, really comprehending all that they learn, than to render themselves able to solve mechanically all the problems it contains. Some parts of this book are too difficult for the comprehension of average Intermediate pupils.

In this Department, pupils begin to write with pen and ink. The writing-books are generally very neatly kept, and many excellent specimens of chirography are to be found therein.

Considerable time is given to the study of Geography in the Intermediate Schools, and considerable time is wasted on this subject. Our text-books are among the best that have been published, but they are not satisfactory. Knowing the frequent practice of examiners to ask only concerning progress in the book, and to examine only from the book,—equally pleased whether the subject be Affghanistan or Massachusetts, Tobolsk or Washington,—so that a great many pages have been committed to memory, and can be recited glibly,—we take this occasion to declare emphatically that we do not wish the Teachers to confine themselves to the text. Let them make large omissions, and wise supplies. Let the child be taught the outlines, the most important definitions, the names and the relative situation of the great divisions of land and water; then let him be occupied principally with his own Country, and his own State. He can learn all that he need know at present, or can easily remember, of the rest of the world, in a month or two at most.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

The Grammar Department completes our Common School system, and fits pupils for the duties of active life. Here the studies of Reading and Spelling, Geography, Arithmetic, and Writing are carried on, and brought as nearly as possible to perfection. English Grammar and the History of the United States are also studied. We have determined upon the introduction of Physiology and Book-keeping.

A good deal of hard work has been done in this Department during the year, and the Examinations have passed off very creditably.

Pupils have been too much in the habit of leaving the Grammar Schools too soon; and applicants for the High School have been admitted there before they were properly prepared. It ought to be distinctly understood that the Grammar School completes a certain stage of the education of the majority of the children of the Town, and that very many never go to any higher School. It is important then that they learn here all, or nearly all, of Arithmetic and of Geography that it is needful for them to know as men and women. With Arithmetic they should be so thoroughly acquainted as to understand all the principles of the science, and so be able to perform with facility miscellaneous examples not set down in the book. Then they should have such a practical knowledge of Grammar as will enable them to write a letter without grammatical errors, and to speak correctly. The study of text-books in Grammar is generally begun too early. A pupil can learn within a very short time all the rules that it is necessary for him to know. Nothing but persistent practice in correcting false sentences, and in writing compositions of some sort, will give him that mastery over his language that he needs to acquire. Very few of our well-educated men and women, in whose speech and writing one can hardly detect an error, can give readily the different rules for the formation of the plural, or even the names and precise signification of the different tenses of the verb. It is habit, practice, that has made them perfect. And so we would have children, even before they enter the Grammar Schools, and especially in these Schools, express their thoughts in writing, and write dictation exercises. It is a good plan to study Grammar in connection with Reading.

We prescribe a certain text-book in this branch; but we say to Teachers, — Use as little of it as you consistently can.

In some of our Grammar Schools, Geography is far more wisely studied than it used to be; even now, however, too much time is given to it in comparison with the amount of knowledge gained. It will not do to crowd the mind with too many names and figures. Only those should be learned which can be remembered.

By a recent change in the time of the Annual Promotions, we are enabled to raise at once the standard of the Grammar Schools, as well as that of the lower Schools. These Promotions will take place, in future, immediately after the close of the Summer Vacation.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The statutes provide that every town containing five hundred families, — that is, about twenty-five hundred inhabitants, — shall maintain a School in which shall be taught “ General History, Book-keeping, Surveying, Geometry, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Botany, the Civil Polity of this Commonwealth and of the United States, and the Latin language. And farther, that every town containing four thousand inhabitants shall maintain a school in which shall be taught, besides the branches mentioned above, — Greek, French, Astronomy, Geology, Rhetoric, Logic, Intellectual and Moral Science, and Political Economy.”

This enumeration plainly indicates what our High School should be. It is neither an English High School, like the English High School in Boston; nor a Latin High School, like the Latin High School in Boston; but a combination of both. It is provided for those pupils who wish to pursue certain studies in addition to those taught in the Grammar Schools, — who wish to enter college; or to become teachers; or to prepare themselves for what we may, without invidious distinction, call the higher kinds of business; or who simply wish for self-improvement and self-enlightenment. So far from thinking that too much attention has been given to the Languages in this School, we believe that they have not been sufficiently attended to. Latin and French, to say nothing of Greek, are properly excluded from all the Schools excepting this. It is surely unwise, as well as contrary to the spirit of the law, to assign to them an inferior position in our course of studies here. We believe that the study of Greek has always been optional with the pupils. And of the two languages, Latin and French, if one is to be made elective, we should prefer that it be the latter rather than the former. Knowing how much better acquainted with their own tongue men become after learning the Latin, and how much easier the knowledge of it renders the acquisition of the modern languages; and remembering too that if any of our High School pupils are to enter college, they ought to study Latin from the very beginning, the Committee decided last year to require pupils to begin this study in the first year of the course.

If we had double the number of Teachers, we might divide the school into two Departments, an English and a Classical; but the greatly increased number of classes which such an arrangement would involve, renders a substantial adherence to our existing system necessary with our present force of instruction.

Meanwhile, although we are very far from wishing to deter pupils from applying for admission into this School, we would discourage the idea that the main object of the Grammar Schools is to fit candidates for the High School. Nor would we have any think of entering the latter Institution, who do not fully understand the conditions of remaining therein, and who are not determined to pursue with diligence all the required studies.

Our new arrangement with regard to Promotions will raise the grade of the High School, as well as that of the other Schools. The Examination of Candidates will take place henceforth in the first week of the Summer Vacation.

GYMNASTICS.

Very satisfactory has been the working of our new rule enjoining the practice of gymnastics upon all the Schools. We have been greatly delighted with the pleasure and pride which the pupils, in many instances, take in these exercises; nor can there be any doubt whatever of their highly beneficial result. Let a skeptical person enter a schoolroom in which the physical exercises are about to be performed. The pupils have become a little tired and cramped from their long sitting. Some of them are really unfitted for study. Scarcely any can labor with the same zest that they did at the beginning of the session. The windows are thrown open; the scholars rise to their feet, and with precision and accuracy perform their various movements, sending the blood freely through every part of the body, expanding the lungs, relieving the head of its pressure, preparing every pupil for renewed attention to study.

In the younger Schools, a very little time suffices to tire the children. There gymnastics should be practised several times each half day. In no School should less than twenty minutes be devoted to them each day.

SINGING.

In singing, there is continued improvement. Some of the Schools are almost all that can be wished in this respect.

The High School has had a piano for some time; and in two of the Grammar Schools pianos have either been hired or purchased through the united efforts of Teachers and scholars. How much good is effected by the introduction of these instruments cannot be easily measured. All who care anything about music will appreciate the advantage to the pupils, and indirectly to the whole community, of such an accompaniment and inspirer of song.

In two or three Districts it has been the custom of late to gather at certain intervals, the children of all the Schools into the Grammar Schoolroom to engage together in singing and other exercises. We highly approve the arrangement, believing it to be extremely beneficial to all concerned; and we recommend its adoption in all the Districts.

And still farther do we recommend the gathering together at some stated time of the best singers of all the Schools in Town, for a Musicial Festival. Some of our distinguished visitors once expressed themselves better pleased with the Music Hall Festival of the Children of the Public Schools of Boston than with anything else that they had witnessed in the Country. There is no good reason why there should not be Festivals of a somewhat similar character in every Town in the State.

DEPORTMENT.

The statutes specify "good behavior" as one of the subjects of instruction in the Schools. Certainly all parents must desire that the Teachers should co-operate with them in insuring good behavior on the part of their children. The elders say that children are not so respectful as they used to be. A late writer, speaking of the want of reverence among the young at the present day, pithily remarks: "The spirit which animates men is naturally reproduced in boys, and re-enacted in the nursery and in the Public Schools. In the increasing activity of our people, in the intensity of our haste to be rich, we cannot wait to be respectful. Parents once brought up their children; children now bring down their parents. Formerly, the traveller, in passing the school playground, was saluted by deferential bows and courtesies from its party-colored columns of light infantry; now, the hat adheres to the head as firmly as to the scalp, the 'pregnant hinges of the knee' have forgotten how to crook, except where 'thrift may follow fawning,' and the traveller is happy if he can dodge between the snow-balls which fly around him like bomb-shells from a malakoff."

There is undoubtedly a foundation of truth in all this. We cannot stay to inquire now how wide-spread the evil is, or at whose door it lies; but we urge upon Teachers the importance of making every effort to secure propriety of deportment on the part of their pupils, not only when they are in school, but, so far as possible, when they are in the streets.

TRUANCY AND ABSENTEEISM.

At the last March meeting, in accordance with the Act of February 14, 1862, the town passed the following By-laws concerning Truants and Absentees from School:—

"Every child in the town of Quincy, between the ages of seven and sixteen years, who shall be an habitual truant from school shall be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars, to be recovered to the use of the town of Quincy, on complaint before the trial justice in Quincy; or by confinement in the State Reform School at Westboro,' for a term not exceeding two years at any time.

"Every child in the town of Quincy, between the ages of seven and sixteen years, who shall not attend school, and not be engaged in any regular and lawful occupation, growing up in ignorance, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars, to be recovered to the use of the town of Quincy, on complaint before the trial justice in Quincy; or by confinement in the State Reform School at Westboro' for a term not exceeding two years at any one time."

There were also appointed Truant officers, — one for each District.

It is perhaps too soon to determine results very precisely; yet the experience of the past year must have convinced any who may have doubted before of the benefits of the new system. The evils of truancy and absenteeism have diminished to a remarkable degree.

EXPENSES OF THE SCHOOLS.

The teachers are now paid at the following rates: —

	Per annum.
Principal of High School,	$ 1,130
Assistant        "        "	400
Principals of Grammar Schools,	800
Assistants        "        "	264
Teachers of Intermediate Schools,	300
"        of Primary Schools,	250
Teacher of Mixed School,	284

In order that all accounts might be settled up to the first of February, it was thought best to include the Teachers' bills for January in the expenses of the past year. Hence the School Expenditures appear disproportionately large. Persons inclined to criticize must also bear in mind the greatly increased price of fuel. It is well to add that, in estimating the necessary expenses for the past year at $ 11,000, the last Committee inadvertently reckoned four Grammar Schools instead of five, — making a difference of $ 800.

We shall need an appropriation of $ 12,000, for teaching and fuel for the next year.

All which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN D. WELLS, Chairman.
EBENEZER ADAMS,
J. G. B. HEATH, Secretary.

SECT. 3. The Teachers shall devote themselves earnestly and exclusively to the duties of the schoolroom during the school term and school hours established by the Committee, and no absence shall be allowable, except for sickness, without previous notice to the Sub-Committee, and permission obtained.

SECT. 4. When a Teacher is absent on account of sickness for more than a week, the bill shall not be allowed for the time of absence, except by a special vote of the Board, and no Substitute shall be employed for more than one day at a time without the approbation of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 5. Teachers shall have the privilege of taking one half day in each term to visit any school or schools in Town. They shall also have the privilege of taking one day in the year to visit the High School.

SECT. 7. No pupil or other persons shall cut, deface, defile, or otherwise injure the school buildings or furniture thereof, or the fences, trees, shrubbery, or any other property thereto belonging; and any pupil or other person suspected of being guilty of such an offence, shall be reported forthwith, by the Teacher, to the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 8. Teachers shall aim at such discipline in their schools as would be exercised by a kind and judicious parent in his family; and shall avoid corporal punishment in all cases where good order can be preserved by milder measures. SECT. 9. It shall be the duty of all the Teachers to give vigilant attention to the ventilation and temperature of their respective schoolrooms. A regular system of ventilation shall be practised, in winter as well as in summer; and the temperature of the rooms shall be kept as nearly as possible at 66° Fahrenheit.

SECT. 10. No child who comes to school without proper attention having been given to the cleanliness of his person, and of his dress, or whose clothes have not been properly repaired, shall be permitted to remain in school, but shall be sent home to be prepared for school in a proper manner.

SECT. 11. The Teachers shall carefully observe and follow that requirement of the State Laws which enjoins it upon "all instructors of youth to exert their best endeavors to impress on the minds of children and youth committed to their care and instruction the principles of piety and justice, and a sacred regard to truth ; love of their country, humanity, and universal benevolence ; sobriety, industry, and frugality ; chastity, moderation, and temperance, and those other virtues which are the ornament of human society and the basis upon which a republican constitution is founded ; and it shall be the duty of such instructors to endeavor to lead their pupils, as their ages and capacities will admit, into a clear understanding of the tendency of the above-mentioned virtues to preserve and perfect a republican constitution and secure the blessings of liberty, as well as to promote their future happiness ; and also to point out to them the evil tendency of the opposite vices."

SECT. 12. It shall be the duty of the several Teachers to exercise, so far as practicable, a general inspection over their pupils while going to school and returning home.

SECT. 13. Any Teacher may exclude from school for the time being any pupil who shall exhibit habitual disobedience to the rules of the school, or who shall be known to be guilty of habitual immoralities, or habitual rudeness or impropriety of manners ; and the Teacher shall immediately inform the parent or guardian of the child of such exclusion, and shall apply to the Sub-Committee for advice and direction. The Sub-Committee may prescribe any temporary exclusion which may be desirable, and such scholar shall be admitted to no other school without the vote of the Board, and the Sub-Committee shall report all such cases at the meeting of the Board next following the expulsion ; and no permanent expulsion shall be made except by the Board.

SECT. 14. Tardiness shall be subject to such penalty as in each case the teacher may think proper. Pupils absent from school must, on returning, bring an excuse for such absence ; and every pupil, wishing on any day to be dismissed before the close of the session, must assign satisfactory reasons therefor, and obtain the consent of the teacher. Teachers having charge of pupils who are habitually truant shall, with the approval of their respective Sub-Committees, report their names, residences, and the names of their parents or guardians, to the Truant Officers of the town.

SECT. 15. The teachers of all the schools shall be required to fill up with accuracy the blanks prepared for school returns, and to hand the same to their respective Sub-Committees, duly signed, at the close of the school year; and accompany them with such suggestions in writing as may seem to deserve the attention of the Committee, and to be for the welfare of their schools.

SECT. 21. The several schools shall commence at 9 o'clock A. M. and 2 P. M. from April to September, and at 9 o'clock A. M. and 1½ P. M. from September, to April; provided, however, that other hours may be substituted by the respective Sub-Committees when the convenience of pupils and parents may render it expedient, subject to the approval of the Board. These hours shall not be altered without permission of the Sub-Committees.

SECT. 22. No Principal shall on any account leave his school in charge of his Assistant without special permission of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 23. The doors of the several schoolhouses and school-rooms shall be opened, and the teachers shall be present for the reception of the scholars, at least ten minutes before the time fixed for the schools to begin. The teachers shall require the scholars to be in their seats, and shall commence and close the exercises of the schools punctually at the prescribed hours.

SECT. 24. There shall be a recess of fifteen minutes in length during each half day; and no pupil in any school shall be deprived of his full recess, though he may—for punishment—not be allowed to take it at the regular time with the school.

SECT. 25. In addition to the usual recesses, there shall be, in all the Primary Schools, two intermissions of study, of five minutes each, in each half day; the first intermission to take place midway between the opening of school and the recess; and the second intermission midway between the recess and the close of the session.

SECT. 26. The school year shall begin on the first Monday in February, and end on the day next preceding the first Monday in February following. It shall consist of two terms; the first term to begin on the first Monday in February, and the second term to begin on the first Monday after the close of the summer vacation.

SECT. 27. There shall be the following holidays and vacations:—

Every Saturday in the year. Washington's Birthday; Fast day; May day; the last week in May; the Fourth of July; the six weeks immediately following the third Monday in July; Thanksgiving week; Christmas day; and the week immediately preceding the first Monday in February;—and the Chairman of the Board is authorized to suspend the schools on such public occasions as he may think proper, not exceeding three days in the year. No other holidays shall be allowed except by special vote of the Board; and no school shall be suspended on any other occasion, except for special and important reasons relating to a particular school, and then only by express permission of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 28. No subscription or contribution, for any purpose whatever, shall be introduced into any Public School. No person whatever shall read to the pupils in any school, or post upon the walls of any school building or fences of the same, any advertisement. Nor shall any agent or other person be permitted to enter any school for the purpose of exhibiting either to teacher or pupil any new book or article of apparatus.

SECT. 29. The schoolhouses shall not be opened or used for any other purpose than the regular instruction of the public schools, except under the direction of the Sub-Committees respectively.

SECT. 30. No teacher shall make any purchase at the expense of the Town, without first obtaining the consent of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 31. The books used and the studies pursued in all the Public Schools shall be such and such only as may be authorized by the Board.

SECT. 32. In teaching Arithmetic to the several classes, every teacher shall be at liberty to employ such books as he shall deem useful, for the purpose of affording illustration and examples; but such books shall not be used to the exclusion or neglect of the prescribed text-books; nor shall the pupils be required to furnish themselves with any books but the prescribed text-books.

SECT. 33. It shall be the duty of the teachers of the High School, the Grammar Schools, and the East District School, to keep or cause to be kept in a book provided for that purpose, the character of the lesson required of each pupil; also to note in the same the tardiness or absence and the deportment of each pupil. It shall also be the duty of these teachers at the close of every month to send to the parents or guardians of each pupil, on cards prepared for the purpose, a copy of the record of said pupil, as it shall have been entered on the said book for the month.

preceding, and the pupil shall return said card with his parent's or guardian's name indorsed upon it, at the session next following that on which it was presented. This rule shall not apply to the pupils of the first and second classes on the High School.

The Annual Promotions, — to be made by the several Sub-Committees, — shall take place at the beginning of the Second Term; at which time such pupils belonging to the first classes in the Intermediate, and first and second Primary Schools respectively, as a careful examination shall find worthy of promotion, shall be transferred to the schools of next higher grade. But special promotions may be made whenever the several Sub-Committees shall deem it advisable.

SECT. 2. Increase of town debt,	$ 2,720 13

The undersigned Auditors of Accounts for the town of Quincy, for the year ending Feb. 1, 1866, have attended to the duty assigned them, and respectfully submit the foregoing as the result of their labors.

The expenses of the town have been somewhat larger than was anticipated, owing to the following causes, viz: 1. The Bluehill Turnpike was indicted by the Grand Jury in the early part of the year, causing an expenditure of $ 282.50; 2. The New Payne's Hill Road was laid out by the County Commissioners at an expense to the town of nearly seven thousand dollars, on which account $ 1,314.75 has been paid; 3. The Hingham and Quincy bridges, owing to accident, have been almost entirely rebuilt at an expense to this town of $ 786.25, which with the largely increased bills under the head of school incidentals has increased the town debt $ 2,720.13.

An inspection of the Almshouse and appraisal of the property connected with the establishment, has been made. The establishment still continues under the excellent management of Mr. Charles Spear and wife. The buildings are unworthy of the labor and care bestowed upon them, and should be replaced by new ones.

The provisions of chapter 230 of the acts passed by the last Legislature, which gives certain soldiers a settlement in the town from which they enlisted, has caused the Overseers of the Poor to aid an unusual number of families, out of the Almshouse.

Before closing, we would recommend the General School Committee to abolish the system adopted the present year of paying the teachers monthly, as the benefits which accrue to the few who avail themselves of the change, is more than counterbalanced by the extra and perplexing duties imposed upon the Selectmen, Town Treasurer, and Auditors.

We have carefully examined the books of the Selectmen and Treasurer, and found them correct, and with proper vouchers for all payments.

We are under many obligations to the Selectmen, Town Treasurer, and Town Clerk, for valuable assistance rendered.

REPORT.

“ The school committee shall annually make a detailed report of the condition of the several public schools, which report shall contain such statements and suggestions in relation to the schools as the committee deem necessary or proper to promote the interests thereof. The committee shall cause said report to be printed for the use of the inhabitants, in octavo, pamphlet form, of the size of the annual reports of the board of education, and transmit two copies thereof to the secretary of said board, on or before the last day of April, and deposit one copy in the office of the clerk of the city or town.” Gen. Stat. Chap. 40, Sec. 6.

In this Report of the condition of the Schools of Quincy for the school year ending February 4, 1866, we shall endeavor to comply with the letter and with the spirit of the above law.

CONDITION OF THE SCHOOLHOUSES.

We are happy to record several improvements in the school buildings ; while there is evidently room for several more.

The “ Stone Schoolhouse ” has been made on the whole as pleasant and convenient as its structure, situation, and surroundings will permit. In addition to the improvements of last year, new seats and desks have been placed in the upper room. These seats and desks are serviceable and durable, and can be removed to the new schoolhouse whenever it shall be built.

The playground on the southwest side of the building was leased again during the year.

We trust that we may live to see the day, when this building shall be set apart for a more legitimate purpose than that to which it is now devoted.

With regard to the Coddington Schoolhouse, we have only to say that the Selectmen, whom the joint boards of the School Committee and Selectmen constituted, in May, 1864, "a committee to procure a room for Coddington Primary School, No. 2, and report to the committee when they are ready," have not yet signified that they are ready.

In May last it became necessary to vacate the building used for Willard Primary School, No. 4, and an arrangement was effected with Messrs. Bass & Robertson, whereby the lower story of the house owned by them, and known as the "Old Schoolhouse in the West," and already partially occupied by Willard Primary School, No. 3, should be fitted up at their expense, for the reception of Primary, No. 4 ; and the whole building leased by the town, from the Monday following the May vacation to the close of the school year, at the rate of $175 per annum. The rooms are pleasant and fairly furnished.

The Quincy Schoolhouse has been farther improved in its upper room, which is now in excellent condition.

Improvements have been made in the Crane Schoolhouse, but it is far too small and badly ventilated for the number of pupils in attendance, and the addition of a very few more pupils will make it necessary to enlarge or reconstruct the edifice.

An arrangement has been effected with the trustees of the "Sailors Snug Harbor," whereby a considerable portion of land has been leased by them to the town, for a term of twenty years, on the payment by the town of the nominal rent of one dollar. A new well has been nearly completed.

The Schools have yet to be furnished with many articles of great importance to their well being ; showing that, however long the list of “Incidental Expenses,” we have left some needs still unprovided for.

The good influence of a comfortable, pleasant, and well furnished room upon the hearts and minds of the pupils is unquestionable. We should be glad to see every school edifice enriched not only with maps and charts, but also with pictures hung upon its walls. We assure our fellow-citizens that every dollar spent in fitting and adorning their schoolhouses, so as to make them of themselves attractive places to teachers and pupils, will be abundantly repaid to them in a higher culture, and an improved tone and bearing, on the part of their children.

Nearly all of these changes were brought about by circumstances not under our control. In those changes which have been voluntary on our part, we have sought to act for the best interests of the schools.

GRADING OF THE SCHOOLS.

We have made some progress towards a more perfect grading of the schools. Our experiments have been most satisfactory with respect to the Adams Schools. In nearly all these Schools it will be the practice henceforth to promote once a year, and then to promote each entire school below the grammar, excepting such pupils of it as are unfitted to advance. The Intermediate School, and Primary Schools Nos. 1 and 2, have severally but one class. The other schools have two classes each, which will finally be reduced to one.

No longer time is occupied by the pupil in completing the entire course than formerly, while the teacher is enabled to give her undivided attention to her whole school, to instruct more thoroughly each individual member of it, and to accomplish more work in a given amount of time.

In the Willard Schools, each school below the grammar has two classes each, and the promotions are made every six months. The teachers thought it impossible to make any farther reduction of their classes, and it was deemed unwise to force such change upon them against their will. It is believed, however, that they will soon bring about a more perfect grading of their own choice, from seeing the beauty of its working in other schools.

In the other parts of the town the schools are graded as well as circumstances will allow, except at the Point. The schools there suffer very much for want of a proper grading, nor can such grading be readily effected without either enlarging the "Point Schoolhouse," erecting a new building, or removing the "Neck Schoolhouse" from its position at the extreme corner of the town to a more suitable location. It is hoped that a vote of the town will enable us to make some one of these desirable improvements at an early day. Then we shall be enabled to create two grades of primary schools, and raise the intermediate and grammar schools respectively to the same level with corresponding schools in other parts of the town.

We heartily wish that it were possible for us to arrange a uniform course of study for our schools. At present, owing to their imperfect grading, we can do so only in part.

THE PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

This Board has repeatedly declared its belief in the importance of the Primary Schools. We are firmly persuaded that the success of the pupils in the upper departments depends in no small degree upon the kind and amount of instruction, and the method of training which they receive in the beginning. If they have not learned to be eager for knowledge when first taught, it will be more difficult to awaken that laudable desire at a later period. And let it be understood, we mean by knowledge, not knowledge of books merely, but knowledge of facts and of principles.

It has been the earnest endeavor of the Committee, not only during the past year, but for several years, to break up the old system of mere book learning, and to substitute more rational and useful methods of instruction. We have furnished, and are still furnishing maps, charts, and larger surfaces of blackboard. We have insisted upon every scholar's possession of a slate. We have endeavored to impress upon the teachers the desirableness of every kind of object-teaching. We have declared that we do not expect or wish the little pupils of a Primary School to sit still during the whole session, and have enjoined frequent intervals of rest and recreation. And while perfectly well aware that habits of order, discipline, and industry can hardly be inculcated at too early an age, we have not forgotten, but have always taught, the inadvisability — shall we not say impossibility — of requiring of the little child of five, six, or seven years, the same intense and continued application that we expect from older pupils; and have repeatedly stated it as our fixed conviction, that not the least important part of the Primary Teacher's work is the awakening of the child's dormant faculties, and the enkindling and encouraging in him of the principle of curiosity.

It was in former years too prevalent a custom to lay out for the little pupil, not work that he liked, but, almost of set purpose, work that he disliked; to take it for granted in the beginning, that the schoolroom was of necessity a disagreeable place, and all school tasks necessarily disagreeable tasks; and ever after, acting upon such a conception, to make the place and the tasks as distasteful as possible. Against such a method, a few traces of which still linger among us, we have made unceasing protest.

Nor have our efforts in this direction been altogether in vain. Among all our thirteen Primary Schools, there is not a single one with which we can declare ourselves really dissatisfied. In a few, indeed, notwithstanding many excellences, there still lingers some taint of the old treadmill system. Others there are,—and were it not for our unwillingness to make invidious distinctions, we should be glad to call them by name,—which we should have no fear to compare with any schools of the same grades anywhere.

At the last examination the schools were subjected to a severer test, we believe, than ever before. The examination was systematized, and made searching and thorough, and each school was tried by nearly the same standard as every other of the same grade.

We gave an hour and a half to the examination of each Primary School, devoting about an hour to Reading, Spelling, Arithmetic, Gymnastics, Singing, and examination of Slates, and the remaining half hour to such general questions as these: “What is a window?” “Of what is it made?” “Where does the wood come from?” “Mention some different kinds of wood,” “Who is the President of the United States?” “What is paper made of?” &c.

The reading was generally satisfactory. But there was a marked difference in this branch in the different schools. In some, the pupils read with perfect correctness, so far as pronunciation was concerned, but as if they had very little idea of what they were reading about. In others, the reading was natural and unforced, with an evident understanding of the subject matter. One school in particular we recall, with regard to which the Committee have at times felt considerable anxiety, but in which, at the examination, the pupils exhibited a most delightful degree of interest in the reading lessons, and understanding of their meaning. Nor was the school less worthy of praise in its other departments.

How often must it be repeated that a few pages well read and perfectly comprehended are better than a dozen books read in the listless and mechanical fashion which we so heartily desire to supplant !

The very important branch of spelling was excellent throughout the schools of this grade.

The pupils generally showed that they had used the slates to good purpose. We saw much good printing and writing, and here and there a pretty fair specimen of drawing.

A great deal of the singing was executed with spirit and life ; although now and then was apparent a lamentable deficiency in this branch. We commend again the " Exercise Songs." Let there be as many of them as practicable. The pupil acquires through them other advantages besides a knowledge of music.

The gymnastics in the Primary Schools as a whole are better than those in either of the other grades. We cannot help departing here from our usual rule of avoiding the personal mention of any school in the way of censure or praise, in commending the surprising accuracy and beauty of the gymnastics in the Willard Primaries Nos. 1 and 2.

With regard to the general questions, which we have considered one of the best tests to which we could subject a school, we can only say that on the whole the answers to them have fully equalled our expectations. And here and there we have been surprised and delighted by the eagerness manifested by the little boys and girls to tell us what they knew. We have seen almost every hand in a school instantly raised when a question was propounded on some simple subject, with which, it is true, every child ought to be acquainted, but which it has not always been the fashion to discuss in school, just because the subject was so simple, and had so evident a connection with the somewhat despised facts of every day life. We are quite as well pleased to have a boy tell us what the boots that his father works on are made of, or of what kind of wood the bench which he sits on is constructed, as to name the productions of Central Asia, or the kinds of trees that grow on Terra del Fuego.

We were gratified, with what a Primary School Teacher said to us lately, — that having on one occasion asked her pupils what a wheel is made of, and finding that they did not know, she refused to inform them, but told them they must ascertain for themselves. And so they went away and picked up the knowledge as they could, and in a day or two came back all fresh and eager with their answers. Will they ever forget what they thus learned?

With regard to Geography, we repeat that we do not care to have any geography studied in the Primary Schools excepting that which may be learned orally. Of such let there be plenty. We were glad to find less ignorance on the part of the pupils with regard to the geography of their own nation, town, and State, than formerly.

THE INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

There are four schools of this grade. One of them has but one class: the others have two classes each.

At the last examination we gave half a day to each of the Intermediate Schools. In examining in Reading we used the regular text-books, but in Geography, Arithmetic, and Spelling we gave out questions, examples, and words prepared by ourselves.

Each school appeared to have its strong point. This in one was reading, in another arithmetic, in a third geography. In certain of the schools the reading was by no means what we could desire. In one, however, it was almost perfect. And we would say here, with regard to the reading books, that if any selection occurs in the course of the books too difficult for the pupils' comprehension, we would rather have it altogether omitted, than read mechanically and without understanding.

The spelling was satisfactory. The written spelling, consisting of words and sentences given out by dictation, and written upon the slate, was generally well done.

The questions in mental arithmetic were generally correctly answered, while the examination in written arithmetic in some cases was all that could be desired. We are more than ever convinced of the advantages of our system adopted two years ago, of requiring from the intermediate pupils a full knowledge of the "Four Rules."

Considerable improvement has been made in the method of studying Geography in these schools. We were glad to find that some of the teachers have been thoughtful enough to adopt the course of making selections of the more important portions of the book, instead of giving the whole of it to be learned. We desire to call the attention, not only of the Grammar but also of the Intermediate teachers, to the method of teaching Geography suggested by one of the Grammar teachers in the Appendix to this Report.

We must say a word here of the evil practice of mere learning by rote, which obtains more generally perhaps in the study of geography than in any other branch. Few persons are aware of the amount of matter which may be, and is repeated by the child without any understanding of it. An amusing instance of this is given in an article in an English Journal, quoted in a late number of the Massachusetts Teacher.

"The best recorded illustration of sensational learning is given by the Rev. Mr. Brookfield, H. M.'s Inspector, in his official report for 1855-6. Mr. Brookfield called upon two children, aged about eleven years, 'who did their arithmetic and reading tolerably well'; to write down the answers of the church catechism to two questions. It must be observed that they had been accustomed to repeat the catechism during half an hour of each day, in day school and sunday school, for four or five years; and the following is what they wrote:—

"My duty toads God is to bleed in him to fering and to loaf withhold your arts withhold my mine withhold my sold and with my sernth to whirchp and to give thinks to put my old trast in him to call upon him to onner his old name and his world and to save him truly all the days of my life's end.'

“Again : ‘ They did promis and voal three things in my name first that I should pernounce of the devel and all his walks pumps and valities of this wicked wold and all the sinful larsts of the flesh.’

“ Mr. Brookfield remarks very justly that the error is not a mere matter of spelling, not a phonetic expression of ideas that are understood, but that it involves absolute non-apprehension of the meaning of the passages.”

Something of this method of “ sensational learning ” lingers still in our schools, less than formerly, — but still something. Children not only in intermediate, but in grammar schools, will give you without error the definition of a river, that it is “ a stream of water flowing through an open channel,” but cannot tell for the life of them what an “ open channel ” is. And at the very last examination, we found scholars who recited very glibly that “ a hemisphere is half a sphere or round body,” but when asked what they meant by “ sphere,” could not answer. It had never entered their heads that the words “ round body,” are set down as a definition of the word “ sphere.” We cannot help attaching some blame to teachers for such errors as these.

The Gymnastics are not so good in these Schools as in the Primaries.

In other respects, and on the whole, the Intermediate Schools have made commendable progress during the past year.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

We gave one whole day to the examination of each of the four larger Grammar Schools, and three quarters of a day to the smallest. Except in Reading and History, the examination was conducted wholly outside of the text-books. Questions were prepared in spelling, written and oral, in oral arithmetic; in the various departments of written arithmetic, in physiology; and geographical questions on the elements, and on the several countries of the world. And, notwithstanding marked failures here and there, we can fairly say that the schools passed this searching ordeal with great credit.

In reading, there is room for considerable improvement. While we heard much good reading, there was comparatively little of the force, liveliness, and spirit which distinguished many of the schools of lower grade. We gladly make exceptions to this statement, and declare that some of the grammar pupils read in a manner that could hardly be surpassed. But we must unhesitatingly affirm that in no one Grammar school was the average reading as good as was the average reading in more than one Primary school.

The oral spelling was almost perfect. The words had been selected at random, and the schools bore the test well.

The written spelling was not so good, but still very fair, — much better on the girls part than on the boys. Some of the dictated letters were perfect. We trust that the time will speedily arrive when not only the upper, but the lower classes in every Grammar school will be able to write a simple letter without errors.

The examination in oral arithmetic was fair, and that in written arithmetic the best passed for several years. Regarding this as one of the most important branches pursued in the schools, we prepared our questions and examples with care, and made a pretty thorough investigation of the attainments of the several classes; and the results have rather exceeded than fallen short of our expectations. Many of the operations in arithmetic become of immediate practical use in almost every walk of life, and it is a matter of imperative necessity that the main principles of this study be clearly understood by every graduate of a grammar school. Within the last few years has been effected a great change in the methods of instruction in this study. The wisest instructors now teach the principles first, and merely use the rule as a convenient way of expressing the application of the principle. And while farther advancement is by no means undesirable, we have many reasons to be proud of the position which the majority of our Grammar School pupils occupy in this branch.

In the study of Grammar, there has been manifest improvement. Some of the teachers have managed to shake themselves quite free from the trammels of text-books, and to aim at direct practical results. We found a general readiness to detect and correct ungrammatical words and phrases. There is altogether less "parsing," and committing of rules than there used to be. It is n't of very great consequence whether or not a pupil can give the rules for the form of the plural, if he can give the correct plural of every word that he has to write or speak. Habit will do more for him than any committing of rules. Hundreds of children who never looked into a "Grammar" will correct ungrammatical phrases as fast as one can utter them. All the book grammar that a pupil in these schools needs to know, he can learn within a few months.

Some of our teachers have announced their wise intention of requiring their pupils to keep a regular account of all the incorrect phrases that they hear uttered by their companions; not only in school, but outside. We commend this experiment not only to the Grammar, but to the Intermediate, and even to the upper Primary Schools.

There is improvement in Geography too. Our miscellaneous questions were generally readily answered, evincing no small amount of careful and intelligent study. And yet it is rather a pity that there are pupils in these schools who are without clear ideas of some of the elementary geographical definitions.

We found the pupils generally well acquainted with the portions of history which they had read.

The study of Physiology has been but lately introduced.

We intend that it shall be more thoroughly pursued hereafter.

The writing-books we found very neat. It is to be feared, however, that pupils are still allowed to hold their pens in awkward and constrained positions.

We are glad to be able to announce that all the Grammar Schools, excepting the Willard, are now supplied with musical instruments. The Washington and Quincy Schools have lately purchased, and now own, the one a piano, and the other a cabinet organ. The Adams School is part owner of a piano, and the Coddington School hires one.

The examination of the Grammar Schools and of the High School in Gymnastics was on the whole unsatisfactory. Pupils should go on improving in this as well as in other branches. As it is, they often rather fall back after leaving the lower schools. There is no necessity of maintaining, at this late day, the wonderful benefit of these exercises to every school. We must desire in future a more rigid adherence on the part of the High and Grammar School teachers to Chap. VII. Sect. 20, of Rules and Regulations.

We saw some good specimens of "Compositions." The least satisfactory were those written upon some abstract subject. In an exercise of this sort, the pupil should write what he knows, not what he does not know. We deprecate the custom of trying to manufacture fine sentiment, and high-sounding phrases upon some well-worn theme. We want nothing of this kind in our schools. Let the pupil tell, and tell often, in plain language, and that his own, what he has seen, or heard of, or read about.

We saw many specimens of map drawing. We cannot forbear making special mention of the maps drawn upon the board in the Crane, Quincy, and Washington Schools. In the latter room, moreover, were some exquisitely drawn snow crystals, and forest leaves; also a ship under full sail, — in almost all particulars accurately executed.

We have little complaint to make, at present, with respect to the order of these schools. Most of them are governed without much apparent effort on the part of the teachers. Let us only add that in our judgment the school entries and stairs ought to be as free from unnecessary noise as the schoolroom itself. We admired the orderly entrance of the pupils of one of the schools, marching regularly to their seats to the sound of the piano.

MIXED SCHOOL.

The one Mixed School in town must have a word of separate mention. Its teacher, with pupils ranging from five to fifteen years, teaching all the branches from a Primary to a Grammar School, has an arduous task; but the school is in fine condition, and few of its pupils need fear comparison with those of corresponding grades in other parts of the town.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

This school, notwithstanding its change of teachers, still pursues its quiet and regular work undisturbed. The class of candidates which presented itself last summer, was, on the whole, better prepared than any of its immediate predecessors; and the school never passed, we think, a more creditable examination than the last.

In the school are four classes; and the following is the course of studies:—

First Year—First Term: Latin, Algebra, History. Second term, Latin, Algebra, History.

Second Year—First Term: Latin, Book-keeping, History. Second term, Latin, Geometry, Physical Geography.

Third Year—First Term: Latin, French, Philosophy. Second term, Latin, French, Physiology.

Fourth Year—First Term: Latin, French, English Literature. Second Term, Latin, French, Botany.

English Grammar, Written Compositions, Declamations by the Boys, Reading, Spelling, and Constitution of the United States, throughout the course.

Greek — elective.

We were much pleased to see, at the examination, two numbers of a small paper prepared by some of the girls in the school. Such immediate and practical application of study is of immense benefit. Let it be encouraged by the teachers and by all the pupils.

A set of miscellaneous questions, prepared by the Principal, and answered by the pupils, met with our entire approval.

The Gymnastics in this school are defective. The singing is fair, — not quite what we have a right to expect from a school of this grade.

We hope that not long hence we shall be enabled to divide the school into two departments: an English and a classical.

MUSIC.

We have already alluded to the condition of the singing in the several schools. Some of our teachers are not singers, and so we cannot expect a uniform excellence in this branch. We incline to the opinion that it would be advantageous to the schools to employ a regular music teacher, who should visit and instruct the several departments at stated intervals. Such an arrangement would involve a very slight additional expense.

We would here call the attention of parents to the fact that two singing books, viz: the “Day School Bell,” and the “Golden Wreath,” are included in the list of text-books prescribed by the Committee; and that each pupil is expected to be supplied with a copy of whichever of these the Sub-Committee may direct.

TRUANCY AND ABSENTEEISM.

The evil of truancy has been greatly diminished since the passage of the truant laws two years ago ; and only two or three cases have been reported to us during the past year.

The schools continue to suffer very much, however, from irregularity of attendance. It is vain to multiply words upon this matter ; but we are persuaded that the more hearty co-operation of parents with the board would secure greater constancy and punctuality on the part of pupils, and thereby enhance the well being of the schools. We are well aware that certain parents are to some degree dependent upon the labor of their children ; but this cannot be predicated of any considerable portion of the children in the town ; and we fear that trifling causes are not unfrequently allowed to prevent a pupil's regular attendance upon his school.

We desire to impose no onerous or impracticable requirements. We have at heart only the well-being of the schools, and we would again kindly urge all parents to join with us in our efforts to secure greater regularity of attendance.

EXPENSES OF THE SCHOOLS.

Our Teachers are now paid at the following rates per annum : —

High School Principal,	$ 1,150
“ “ Assistant,	425
Adams, Coddington, Washington, and Willard Grammar School Principals,	900
Quincy Grammar School Teacher,	800
Grammar School Assistants,	300
Intermediate School Teachers,	325
Primary School Teachers, who have taught in Quincy at least one year,	300
Primary School Teachers who have taught in Quincy less than one year,	275
Mixed School Teacher,	325

The following table will exhibit the rates contemplated, to meet the requirements of the teachers; and also the entire amount needful for the ensuing year.

1 High School Principal, at $ 1,200,	$ 1,200 00
1 " " Assistant, at $ 450,	450 00
4 Grammar School Principals, at $ 1,000,	4,000 00
1 " " Teacher, at $ 900,	900 00
3 " " Assistants, at $ 325,	975 00
4 Intermediate School Teachers, at $ 350,	1,400 00
10 Primary School Teachers, at $ 325,	3,250 00
3 " " " at $ 300,	900 00
1 Mixed School Teacher, at $ 350,	350 00
Cost of fuel last year,	958 62
	$ 14,383 62

Whence it is to be inferred that an appropriation by the town of $ 14,400 will enable the Committee to meet all necessary expenses for teaching and fuel for the ensuing year.

CONCLUSION.

Summing up the results of our individual and general examinations during the year, we can fairly report evident progress on the part of the schools. They are, it is true, by no means what we wish them to be. People are only beginning to find out how to teach children; and it will be a long time before what is best in each, will be culled from the several systems of education, new and old, and formed into one perfect whole. But in the present stage of advancement in the science, we are not at all ashamed of the specimens of Public Schools which the town of Quincy has to offer.

We do verily believe that it is unnatural to force children to attend school. They ought to love to go, and the difficulty as a general rule lies not with them, but with the whole system of education. The time will come when education will be made so attractive that pupils will thoroughly enjoy the scenes and occupations of the schoolroom.

A marked spirit of harmony has prevailed at the meetings of the Board during the year. Whatever measures we have adopted have been adopted with scarcely ever a dissenting voice. And we believe we may fairly affirm that we have never hesitated to do whatever has seemed to us for the well-being of the schools, regardless of opposition, nor heeding the criticism of those who were unable from any cause to appreciate our motives, or understand the reasons for our action.

We do not claim that we are infallible, that we may not have made mistakes. We only fearlessly claim this: That it has been our steady aim to fulfil our humble but no less important duties in such a manner as would best enhance the interests of the Town we have had the honor to represent. If we have been able by our words, work, and influence, to instil into the minds of our fellow-citizens any portion of the spirit which breathes in the following noble words of America's foremost educator, Horace Mann, we may flatter ourselves that our year's labor has not been wholly in vain: —

“ The common school is the greatest discovery ever made by man. In two grand, characteristic attributes, it is supereminent over all others: first, in its universality, for it is capacious enough to receive and cherish in its parental bosom, every child that comes into the world; and, second, in the timeliness of the aid it proffers, its early, seasonable supplies of counsel and guidance making security antedate danger. Other social organizations are curative and remedial; this is a preventive and an antidote. They come to heal diseases and wounds; this to make the physical and moral frame invulnerable to them. Let the common school be expanded to its capabilities, let it be worked with the efficiency of which it is susceptible, and nine tenths of the crimes in the penal code would become obsolete ; the long catalogue of human ills would be abridged ; men would walk more safely by day ; every pillow would be more inviolable by night ; property, life, and character held by a stronger tenure ; all rational hopes respecting the future brightened."

Per order of the Board.

EXTRACTS FROM TEACHERS' REPORTS.

Believing that the experience of a practical instructor might furnish some useful hints and items of interest in addition to those which the study and observation of the Committee have suggested, the Chairman of the Board adopted the plan, at the close of the past year, of sending circulars to the several teachers, requesting them, besides making the numerical statements from which the General Table at the end of this Report is compiled, to answer the following questions : —

“ What is the general condition of your School?

“ What is the condition, and what are the needs of your schoolroom?

“ Add any suggestions that may occur to you on the subject of schools and teaching.”

From the replies, — which, though very satisfactory, were not, as a whole, so full as was to be desired, — we select the following statements and suggestions as of general application and interest : —

“ The teacher has endeavored to teach the sense as well as the sound of words, to cultivate the perceptive faculties, to teach the pupil to observe and think for himself. The children are interested and eager to learn, and are making satisfactory improvement.”

“The attendance has been remarkably good. One pupil has not been absent or tardy during the year.”

“Many of my pupils are of sufficient age and capacity to study and comprehend readily the subject presented. While there are others who require a more direct teaching, whose little minds have acquired but little tenacity, but need to be led step by step.

“Although I have but one class, I find a great diversity, not so much in present attainment as in intellectual capacity. In view of this, a portion of each day is spent in ‘general exercises,’ — oral and object-teaching, — thus bringing the school more entirely to a common standard.

“In regard to discipline, I must frankly confess that my favorite theory of governing entirely by ‘moral suasion,’ I have found to be quite inadequate in a few cases. During the first week of my experience here, I found more occasion for the use of the rod, than in the entire course of my previous teaching. I am happy, however, to report favorable results, and have a reasonable prospect of banishing this unpleasant aid to discipline entirely from the schoolroom.”

“The condition of my school is hopeful and encouraging in every respect. Finding many pupils addicted to profanity, deception, and untruthfulness, I thought it necessary to devote much time to moral instruction and training, and am happy to report very gratifying results.

“During the present term, several pupils were admitted previously noted for truancy. They are now constant and prompt in their attendance, — two only of the number having played truant at all, and those but one half day each. My pupils are generally obedient, respectful, affectionate, and much interested in their studies. They are enthusiastic and ambitious to equal or excel in moral attainment and scholarship any school of similar grade in town.

“Particular attention should be given to training in morals and manners, as well as sciences, especially in the primary and intermediate grades ; thus better fitting them for admission to higher schools.

“ I think promotion by attainment preferable to the ordinary slow method of advancement by classes.

“ In these times of exorbitant prices, allow me also to suggest the propriety of a considerable increase of salary.”

“ I would recommend some rule regulating the admission of scholars ; so that they shall not be allowed to enter the school at any and all times.”

“ The condition of my school, as regards their studies is far from satisfactory to me. The scholars have not the habit of fixing their attention upon their books, and so their progress is slow, considering their abilities. Most of my pupils are, I believe, truthful.

“ I wish very much to ignore the Geography altogether next term, — the book I mean, — and to teach my classes according to a plan which I have tried in ——— very successfully. The plan is hard to describe, it consists in dividing the subject into topics, such as climate, soil, people, &c. By this plan I think I can avoid the terrible waste of time which attends the use of the book.

“ I would respectfully suggest that a uniform course of study be pursued in all our schools of the same grade.”

“ The percentage of attendance of those who are kept at school the ‘ year round ’ is very good, with a very few exceptions. But there is a very large number who come and go, and go and come ; some of them, poor boys who are obliged to remain away to work, and some, indolent boys who come to school as long as work is easy, and the ‘ master pleasant.’

“ It seems to me, that, if boys and girls were advanced only as they are fitted for advancement, after some length of time, and after passing through some sad experiences, like those of ‘ falling back,’ the better class of these absentees, and those from the better families, would be brought to see the necessity of being at school every day, and of devoting themselves to study while there. This is the course that I have adopted in previous teaching, and I have never had cause to complain of irregularity in attendance after the first year. Such a law would be the more just, because it would affect only the absentees without excuse, and the penalty could by no equivocation be avoided.

“I would like a new text-book in Arithmetic. The present one is generally acknowledged to be ill adapted to our schools at the present time. What we want is a drill-book. I would recommend to your notice ‘Walton’s School Arithmetic.’”

GENERAL REGULATIONS OF THE SCHOOLS.

SECTION 1. All Teachers in the Public Schools are required to make themselves familiar with these Regulations; and the least violation of any one of them shall be considered a fair ground of complaint against any Teacher.

SECT. 2. The morning exercises of all the Schools shall commence with reading the Bible, and it is recommended that the reading be followed by prayer.

SECT. 3. The Teachers shall devote themselves earnestly and exclusively to the duties of the schoolroom during the school term and school hours established by the Committee, and no absence shall be allowable, except for sickness, without previous notice to the Sub-Committee, and permission obtained.

SECT. 4. When a Teacher is absent on account of sickness for more than a week, the bill shall not be allowed for the time of absence, except by a special vote of the Board; and no Substitute shall be employed for more than one day at a time without the approbation of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 5. Teachers shall have the privilege of taking one half day in each term to visit any school or schools in Town.

They shall also have the privilege of taking one day in the year to visit the High School.

SECT. 6. It shall be the duty of the Teachers to see that the fires are made in time to warm their respective schoolrooms before the hour appointed for opening their schools; and also to keep the schoolrooms, entries, and outhouses in a neat condition.

SECT. 7. No pupil or other persons shall cut, deface, defile, or otherwise injure the school buildings or furniture thereof, or the fences, trees, shrubbery, or any other property thereto belonging; and any pupil or other person suspected of being guilty of such an offence shall be reported forthwith, by the Teacher, to the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 8. Teachers shall aim at such discipline in their schools as would be exercised by a kind and judicious parent in his family; and shall avoid corporal punishment in all cases where good order can be preserved by milder measures. SECT. 10. No child who comes to school without proper attention having been given to the cleanliness of his person, and of his dress, or whose clothes have not been properly repaired, shall be permitted to remain in school, but shall be sent home to be prepared for school in a proper manner.

SECT. 11. The Teachers shall carefully observe and follow that requirement of the State Laws which enjoins it upon "all instructors of youth to exert their best endeavors to impress on the minds of children and youth committed to their care and instruction the principles of piety and justice, and a sacred regard to truth ; love of their country, humanity, and universal benevolence ; sobriety, industry, and frugality ; chastity, moderation, and temperance, and those other virtues which are the ornament of human society and the basis upon which a republican constitution is founded ; and it shall be the duty of such instructors to endeavor to lead their pupils, as their ages and capacities will admit, into a clear understanding of the tendency of the above-mentioned virtues to preserve and perfect a republican constitution and secure the blessings of liberty, as well as to promote their future happiness ; and also to point out to them the evil tendency of the opposite vices."

SECT. 12. It shall be the duty of the several Teachers to exercise, so far as practicable, a general inspection over their pupils while going to school and returning home.

SECT. 13. Any teacher may exclude from school for the time being any pupil who shall exhibit habitual disobedience to the rules of the school, or who shall be known to be guilty of habitual immoralities, or habitual rudeness or impropriety of manners ; and the Teacher shall immediately inform the parent or guardian of the child of such exclusion, and shall apply to the Sub-Committee for advice and direction. The Sub-Committee may prescribe any temporary exclusion which may be desirable, and such scholar shall be admitted to no other school without the vote of the Board, and the Sub-Committee shall report all such cases at the meeting of the Board next following the expulsion ; and no permanent expulsion shall be made except by the Board.

SECT. 14. Tardiness shall be subject to such penalty as in each case the teacher may think proper. Pupils absent from school must, on returning, bring an excuse for such absence ; and any pupil absent for more than two half days in any month for other causes than sickness or family bereavement, shall be reported to the Sub-Committee at the next monthly visitation, and no pupils so reported shall be allowed to remain in the school unless by the consent of the Sub-Committee. Every pupil, wishing on any day to be dismissed before the close of the session, must assign satisfactory reasons therefor, and obtain the consent of the Teacher. Teachers having charge of pupils who are habitually truant shall, with the approval of their respective Sub-Committees, report their names, residences, and the names of their parents or guardians, to the Truant Officers of the town.

SECT. 15. The teachers of all the schools shall be required to fill up with accuracy the blanks prepared for school returns, and to hand the same to their respective Sub-Committees, duly signed, at the close of the school year; and accompany them with such suggestions in writing as may seem to deserve the attention of the Committee, and to be for the welfare of their schools.

SECT. 16. Children not less than five years of age may be admitted into the Primary Department without an examination.

The teachers shall require the scholars to be in their seats, and shall commence and close the exercises of the schools punctually at the prescribed hours.

SECT. 24. There shall be a recess of fifteen minutes in length during each half day; and every pupil shall be allowed his full recess; although he may, for punishment, not be permitted to take it at the regular time with the school.

SECT. 25. In addition to the usual recesses, there shall be, in all the Primary Schools, two intermissions of study, of five minutes each, in each half day; the first intermission to take place midway between the opening of school and the recess; and the second intermission midway between the recess and the close of the session.

SECT. 26. The School Year shall begin on the first Monday in February, and end on the day next preceding the first Monday in February following. It shall consist of two terms; the First Term to begin on the first Monday in February, and the Second Term to begin on the first Monday after the close of the summer vacation.

SECT. 27. There shall be the following holidays and vacations: —

Every Saturday in the year; Washington's Birthday; Fast day; May day; the last week in May; the Fourth of July; the six weeks immediately following the third Monday in July; Thanksgiving week; Christmas day; New Year's day; and the week immediately preceding the first Monday in February; — and the Chairman of the Board is authorized to suspend the schools on such public occasions as he may think proper, not exceeding three days in the year. No other holidays shall be allowed except by special vote of the Board; and no school shall be suspended on any other occasion, except for special and important reasons relating to a particular school, and then only by express permission of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 28. No subscription or contribution, for any purpose whatever, shall be introduced into any Public School. No person whatever shall read to the pupils in any school, or post upon the walls of any school building or fences of the same, any advertisement. Nor shall any agent or other person be permitted to enter any school for the purpose of exhibiting either to teacher or pupil any new book or article of apparatus.

SECT. 26. The schoolhouses shall not be opened or used for any other purpose than the regular instruction of the public schools, except under the direction of the Sub-Committees respectively.

SECT. 38. No teacher shall make any purchase at the expense of the Town, without first obtaining the consent of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 31. The text-book used and the studies pursued in all the Public Schools shall be such and such only as may be authorized by the Board. Increase of Town debt,	$10,970 97

The undersigned, Auditors of Accounts for the Town of Quincy for the year ending Feb. 1, 1867, have attended to the duty assigned them, and respectfully submit the foregoing as the result of their labors.

The Town debt has been increased during the past year $10.-970.97, the expenses having been somewhat larger than was anticipated. At the April term of Court the Grand Jury indicted Hancock Street, causing it to be widened. Three new reservoirs have been built. A new road has been completed at the west district, and the “New Payne’s Hill Road” has been nearly completed, all requiring large expenditures. About the close of the year an old-fashioned snow storm blocked up our streets, requiring an expenditure of upwards of $1500 to break them out, an amount which has not been equaled since 1857.

The usual inspection of the Almshouse establishment has been made, and the personal property appraised. The management of the establishment has passed into the hands of Mr. A. B. Morse and wife, the former superintendent, Mr. Charles Spear, having been called to take charge of the Dorchester Town Farm, where, we have no doubt, his superior management of such institutions will be appreciated. The citizens of the town have occasion for much gratitude to the new superintendent and matron for the care bestowed on those under their charge; also for their management of matters connected with the farm.

We have examined the books of the Selectmen and Town Treasurer, and find them correct, and with proper vouchers for all payments.

Before closing, we would call the attention of the Town to an act of unparalleled meanness in Town affairs, which we think should be set right at the annual meeting. During the past year, as we are informed, the School Committee saw fit, in their official capacity, to allow the public schools two days' vacation. In the South district, by order of the Prudential Committee, the pay of the teachers was stopped, while in all of the others it was paid. We do not believe that the Town wishes or expects any of its officers to perform so paltry an act as to stop the pay of the teachers of one district, and pay the teachers of five other districts, for the ostensible purpose of saving the Town about twenty dollars; therefore we have caused an article to be placed in the warrant for the annual meeting, in order that the Town may have an opportunity to take what action they see fit in the matter.

We are under many obligations to the Selectmen, Town Treasurer, Town Clerk, and especially to the Superintendent of the Almshouse and wife, for valuable assistance rendered.

REPORT.

IN obedience to the requirements of the General Statutes of the Commonwealth, making it an official duty for us to report in detail the condition of the several public schools, together with "such statements and suggestions in relation to the schools as the Committee deem necessary and proper to promote the interest thereof;" we, the School Committee of the town of Quincy, submit the following Report of the condition of the schools of Quincy for the school-year 1866-7.

SCHOOL-HOUSES.

The condition of the Coddington School-house and its surroundings remains the same as at the time of the last Report; except that the outside of the building and the fences have been painted, which was deemed necessary as well for their preservation as for their improved appearance.

We are still obliged to occupy the semi-underground badly ventilated apartment by Coddington Primary School, No. 2, which has heretofore justly caused so much complaint both from parents and former Boards of School Committee.

We have also temporarily leased of Wyman Abercrombie, Esq., the room known as Mechanics' Hall, for the use of Primary School No. 3.

It will be seen by the foregoing statements, making no allowance for an increase of population, that two new school-rooms are needed at once in this district. We recommend some immediate action of the Town in this matter.

The Washington School-house still maintains its reputation as being the best in town, whether considered with reference to its location and surroundings, or in respect to its architectural beauty and convenience.

This house greatly needs painting, but we have not felt justified in incurring the expense this year, in view of the unusually high price of stock and labor.

In regard to the Neck School-house, occupied by Washington Primary, No. 1, we have still to regret its isolated position, which prevents the proper grading of the schools of the District.

The Crane School-house has been improved by painting, but yet it is not well furnished, and its interior arrangement and fixtures forcibly remind one of the less favored days of "Auld lang syne," when railroads and telegraphs were but visionary schemes. This building is quite too small and otherwise insufficient for the use of the District.

The Willard School-house has not been materially altered or improved, and with the exception of the basement room occupied by Primary, No. 2, answers well the purposes for which it is designed. This basement room is very low, and, from its very construction and position, being somewhat of the semi-underground style of architecture, unsuitable for the purposes for which it is used.

We shall be glad to see the use of this room discontinued as soon as better accommodations can be furnished for the school.

At the commencement of the School Year the Committee effected an arrangement for the further use of the building known as the "Old School-house," for the ensuing year, which building was at that time occupied by the Town for the use of Primaries, Nos. 3 and 4. Subsequently, by the vote of the Town, the Committee were instructed to re-establish the mixed Primary School in the West District north of "Bunton's Quarry." A building was furnished by the Prudential Committee for that purpose, and the school "re-established."

It will be seen that the mixed Primary and Primary No. 3 are in absolute need of school-rooms, and it is very desirable that a room be substituted for the one now used by Primary No. 2. Hence it would seem that some early action either by this District or by the Town is needed.

The Quincy School-house has not been essentially improved during the year, but we have caused a well to be dug on the premises near the highway, and put a force pump into the same, which proves an accommodation alike to the schools and to the traveling public.

With the exception of the addition of several new desks in the Adams' Grammar School-room, no substantial changes have been made in the school buildings in the South District during the year.

GRADING OF THE SCHOOLS.

Your Committee deem the grading of the schools as a matter of the utmost importance, and have in this respect generally continued the system adopted by the last Board of Committee, so far as the same has been found practicable, considering the location of the schools and other local causes.

We have still to regret that this system can not be more fully carried out in the Point District. On account of the isolated position of the Neck School-house, we are obliged to continue two schools of equal grade in the same District.

We hope ere long that this matter will be carefully considered by the Town, and some action taken that will remedy the evil. This may be accomplished by the removal of the Neck School-house to some point nearer the Washington School-house, or by the erection of a new building between these two.

We are fully satisfied with the practical workings of the system adopted last year in the West District, and at the commencement of the school-year, we found all these schools in good working order.

The Town at the annual meeting instructed the School Committee to "re-establish the school north of Bunton's Quarry." The Prudential Committee of the District furnished us with a building near "the Rail," and we re-established the school.

Previous to this time we had four primary schools thoroughly graded, each of which graduated a class every six months; but by this vote we were forced either to open a new school or materially change the plan of grading. We chose the latter alternative as the lesser evil, and the primary scholars of the eastern portion of the District, who had previously been distributed through four schools, were put into three, and those in the westerly part of the District were thrown together without regard to qualifications, and from this school graduations are made directly to the Intermediate School.

We very much regret the necessity of this change (if it is indeed necessary or practicable), and would call the attention of the Town, and more especially the patrons of the schools, to a careful examination of this matter.

The grading of the Adams Schools continues essentially the same as at the time of the last Report, and we feel confident that much more can be accomplished by this method than under the former system. We have not been entirely free from embarrassment in our adherence to this system, occasioned principally by the fluctuating character of these schools.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

A growing attention has of late been given to the Primary Schools of the Town, and we have earnestly endeavored to give "this movement in the right direction" our hearty and united co-operation. It is in this department that the impressible minds of infancy receive their first impressions and form their incipient habits of thought. Here the plastic mind of the infant is moulded into forms of moral and mental excellence. It is of peculiar importance that correct impressions be given, and unexceptionable examples set. We have endeavored to place in charge of our Primary Schools (and we think we have succeeded) teachers of sound judgment, established character and qualifications, and genial natures; blending at once firmness with gentleness, and kindness with decision, in order to render our school-rooms as pleasant and attractive as is compatible with earnest labor and steady, healthful toil.

We have fully satisfied ourselves that the old maxim, "Any teacher will do for a Primary School," deserves to be classed among the fallacies of former days.

We believe no Primary School is well supplied which has a second-rate teacher in charge.

A young child gains most of his early education from observation. He studies with his eyes and ears. Very few of the objects around him escape his notice. Hence it is of the first importance that the school-rooms of our youngest class of pupils be made as tasty as architectural skill can well make them. The idea which has prevailed in earlier days, and one not yet entirely banished to its appropriate shades, that almost any quiet and retired corner of the building is suitable for, and well answers the purpose of, a Primary School, is, in our opinion, one founded in the grossest error. But we believe it of still greater importance at that tender age, when they at best hold to the little thread of life with an uncertain, infant grasp, when bodily constitutions are easily shaken, and health impaired and lost, never to be regained, that particular attention be given to the ventilation of their school-rooms. And we urgently ask rooms that can be ventilated.

We believe it absolutely wrong to pack children, like sardines, into an air-tight box. We are also of the opinion that the pupils of our Primary Schools would be benefited by yet more exercise in the open air. .

We are pleased to see a disposition on the part of the primary teachers to readily comply with the wishes of the Committee in regard to general and oral instruction, teaching from the ever-shifting face of Nature's works, rather than attempting to follow the dull routine of the text-book, so much in advance of their ages and capacities.

From experience in our lower schools, we are fully satisfied that the method of instruction therein is not only correct in theory, but eminently practical. Our experiments in this direction have been crowned with unexpected success.

It has been to us a matter of surprise, at the several examinations, to see the electric effect upon the pupils of these schools when the books were laid aside, and general "object lessons" were given them. It is not unusual to see the greater part of the school spring voluntarily to their feet, in their eagerness to first give the answer. But to make this method thoroughly successful, the teachers need to carefully prepare for each exercise. We were pleased to find on more than one teacher's desk text-books for their assistance in this direction.

We are pleased to notice in these schools less of that "soulless primary-school tone" once so universal.

Considerable attention has been given to training in the elementary sounds, and the correction of faulty enunciation. We would urge a still greater effort in this direction.

It is in the Primary School (if anywhere) that the foundation of good reading is laid. The vocal organs require careful attention and training while they are pliant and impressible. We believe it to be much easier to form a proper, natural and flowing style of reading and speaking at this age than to correct a perverted, forced, and unnatural style in later years. Children at this early age are creatures of imitation, and copy to a great extent the peculiarities of the teacher. It is, then, of the utmost importance that the teacher look well to her own style of reading, lest she find her own faults rebounding upon herself, like the many-voiced echoes from the mountain-side.

Of the general condition of our several Primary Schools we can speak in terms of unusual praise. Several valuable acquisitions have been made to this corps of teachers, and the result of their labors has been entirely satisfactory to the Committee.

On account of the increase of scholars in the Center District, and the insufficient accommodations of the school-rooms, we were obliged to establish a new school in this district, and placed the same in charge of Miss Ida Edwards.

With this exception, and the change in the West District, in accordance with the instructions of the Town, all the Primary Schools remain the same as at the date of the last report.

We have been gratified to notice a marked improvement in the personal appearance of the schools, both as regards cleanliness and tidiness. This is a movement forward, and one we hail with much satisfaction.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

The Adams Intermediate, the largest school in town of its grade, was for the first eight weeks of the year in charge of Miss Mary A. Holbrook, a teacher approved by the Committee and evidently greatly beloved by the school, who was superseded by Mrs. Emily A. Hardwick, a teacher of long and successful experience, endeared to her school, and a favorite of the District.

The school has a list of seventy-three pupils, with an average attendance of fifty-eight, or seventy-nine per cent. It has nominally one class, divided for convenience of recitations into two or three divisions.

The Coddington Intermediate was for the first nine weeks of the year in charge of that kind and faithful teacher, Miss M. A. Prescott, but her place in the school-room became vacant from the same cause by which we have lost many an excellent teacher, viz., an advance in salary and other inducements, and although the Committee believe that a change of teachers, even for one equally as good, is almost impossible, without detriment to the school; still, in this case, the present incumbent, Miss M. A. Holbrook, seems to have adapted herself so readily to the position as to prevent any interruption in the progress of the school.

The school has a list of fifty-eight pupils, with an average attendance of forty-nine, or eighty-four per cent., has two classes, and is in good condition generally.

At the examinations in July and January some of the reading was very good, especially that of some of the girls, by which comparison we would not disparage others, but stimulate them to do likewise. The spelling, oral and written, was very good, and we can not too earnestly impress the teachers with the importance of written spelling, and with the fact that nearly all the spelling in after life will be done with the pen.

The answers to questions in geography and arithmetic were very satisfactory.

The Washington Intermediate has a list of sixty-three pupils with an average attendance of fifty-three, or eighty-four per cent., and from causes of which mention is made in another part of this report, it is in some respects hardly up to the grade of the other Intermediate schools of the town, partaking somewhat of the nature of the higher Primary and Intermediate, combined.

The school is under the care of Miss H. A. French, one who needs no word of commendation from the Committee, but is well worthy of our warmest approbation, and has our entire confidence.

At the examinations this school gave evidence of excellent care and training. The reading was good; some of it was excellent. We were forcibly reminded of an old maxim, "Read just as you would naturally speak on the same subject, under similar circumstances, so that if any one should hear without seeing you, he could not tell whether you were reading or speaking." The spelling was very good considering, as was the case with the other schools, that the words were selected by the Committee, and not from the spelling-books used in the schools.

The recitations in geography were fair, but arithmetic is evidently not one of the strong points of the school. The answers to questions in the history of the United States would do credit to some of our Grammar Schools.

The Willard Intermediate, one of the largest of its grade in town, has a list of sixty-seven pupils, with an average attendance of fifty-seven, or eighty-five per cent., and is in charge of one of our most faithful and efficient teachers, Miss Augusta C. Foster.

At the late examination sixty-three pupils were present, and considering the large number, and that a large proportion are boys of an age generally considered most difficult to manage; also considering the good deportment and order of the school, the Committee have good reasons for thinking that the discipline is of that higher order growing out of self-respect in the pupils and kind regard for the teacher. Some of the reading was very good; the spelling, oral and written, and the answers to questions in geography and mental arithmetic, were very satisfactory, and the exercise of the first class in written arithmetic in the four simple rules exhibited evidence of a clearness, promptness, and precision, not common in schools of this grade.

CRANE SCHOOL.

Of the condition of this school in the East District we speak with pleasure. During the past year, and in the early part of it, we were obliged to lose the services of Mrs. Smith, who was called to a school in Boston, and such were her many excellent qualifications, that we feared to supply her place would be a serious difficulty.

Fortunate, indeed, have we been in the selection of Miss M. Lizzie Cobb, who, to a quick apprehension, gentle deportment, pleasing manners, and judicious management, has commended herself to the Committee, endeared herself to her pupils, and succeeded in that most undesirable task of occupying acceptably the position vacated by a beloved and respected teacher.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

The Washington School during the past year has been under the charge of Mr. C. W. Carter as principal, and Miss Dora A. French as assistant, of both of whom, in their different spheres of duty, we can speak only in terms of commendation.

The good order and quiet attention of the pupils to their studies indicate that the teachers have in no wise neglected their high calling, and the neat and pleasant appearance of the school and the drawings on the black-board serve to show that although the required studies of the school-room have not been slighted, yet works of art and beauty have been cherished and encouraged.

Of the Willard School, of this grade, in the West District, the Committee can only say that the same good order, discipline, and thoroughness is manifested which has characterized it for some years past.

Mr. Dewing still retains the respect of parents and pupils, and his school is in excellent condition.

The promotions, soon to take place to this school, will give it nearly one hundred pupils, rendering the employment of an assistant a matter of necessity.

The Quincy School, in the North District, now under the charge of Mr. John Smithwick, the Committee may safely say is making a forward movement into line with other Grammar Schools.

The population extending over a wide area, the pupils being generally younger than in other Grammar Schools, and several changes of teachers having occurred within the past year, have not been favorable to its advancement.

The discipline of this school has much improved under the present teacher; and although the scholars do not exhibit that progress and thoroughness which is always desirable, we have full confidence that the present teacher will spare no efforts in advancing his school to a higher standard.

With the Adams School in the South District we are well pleased. By an examination of the report of the last year it will be seen that there were many changes of teachers—and even this year there has been one.

In the Summer vacation the late teacher retired, and Mr. J. O. Norris took charge of the school. In Miss Wilde he has an able assistant, and through their united exertions the school takes a prominent rank. The school has a large number of pupils, and we feel gratified in speaking of it as making rapid progress to complete success.

The Coddington Grammar School, with Mr. Southworth as principal and Miss Arnold as assistant, takes a prominent rank. The good order that marks the school, the diligence of the pupils, and the promptness of their recitations, speak loudly for the fidelity, energy, and ability of these teachers.

We do not think that the reading of our Grammar Schools is all that can be desired. Excellent specimens were given us in almost every one of these schools, and yet, taking the reading as a whole, there is ample room for improvement.

We would earnestly call the attention of the several teachers and scholars to renewed efforts in this direction. We have noticed and often remarked, that as we advance from the Primary Schools upward, the reading is not proportionally good.

The spelling of these schools was quite satisfactory. Lists of words prepared by the Committee were given to the several schools, and both in oral and written spelling they acquitted themselves well.

The writing has generally proved good, and the improvement in the same commendable.

The general attendance during the year has been quite praiseworthy, as will appear by the statistical table accompanying this report.

In all our Grammar Schools, in fact, in all our schools of every grade, the efforts of the teachers seem to have been directed to the moral, as well as the educational welfare of those committed to their charge, and we can assure the people of Quincy that few Towns have a better, a more efficient, and more interested corps of teachers than those who have the charge of their children and their schools.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The necessity, the importance, and the usefulness of this institution are day by day more apparent. Wealth, station, family connections, make many distinctions in society. There should be none in education. It should be distributed with an equal hand. Like the sun in the heavens, it should pour forth its bounteous radiance upon all. None are too high to be above its bounty, and none are too poor to be beneath its blessings.

Many think that the education obtained in our Grammar Schools (and too often in those of a lower grade) is sufficient to bear a man onward to that goal where a simple headstone marks the place where his ashes repose. Perhaps it is. Possibly "where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise," but such is not the belief of our year and our day.

Newton and Arkwright, Franklin and Fulton, stopped not at mediocrity in their onward career, and the whole wide world bend before them in wonder, in gratitude, and almost in adoration. Let us give to our children all the advantages within our power. It is folly to say that we have lived to manhood and age with a small amount of book learning, that we have had enough to eat and to drink, yet have been unacquainted with mathematics, social science and foreign tongues. The latter might be said of the beasts of the field, but it should be our endeavor to raise up our children to those higher and nobler walks of usefulness and knowledge which an all-wise Providence unquestionably designed for all those created after his own image.

This school during the past year has equaled our best anticipations. The fidelity of Mr. Travis and Miss Chapin is manifest in the good order of the school, in the promptness of the recitations, in the marked progress made in the varied branches of education, and in the regularity of attendance, averaging for the year ninety-seven and one-half per cent., a rate rarely if ever excelled in any public school.

The Committee have endeavored to do all things needful for the comfort, convenience, and advancement of the school. The employment of a teacher to give lessons in music twice a week has been of great advantage, and afforded much pleasure to the pupils.

The course of studies has not been materially changed. That of the Latin language is still required, but by application to the Committee by parent or guardian of the pupil it can be dispensed with. A familiarity with the classics is of inestimable utility in every walk of life. It may not be palpable to all where the advantage is felt, but few who have had that course of educational training will ever regret it.

The Committee are aware, however, that there is a feeling in the community that the studies pursued in the High School are not as practical as they should be; that they ought to be more closely confined to Grammar, Mathematics, Book-keeping, and other matters fitting the pupils for the ordinary business of life.

The Committee, therefore, recommend an additional department, in which the common school branches shall be perfected, and the higher English studies pursued, and in view of that matter ask for an additional appropriation.

Very few of those who are entrusted to our care will prosecute their studies in the higher seats of learning; therefore it becomes us to whom their welfare is entrusted to make our Town schools, as far as possible, a fountain from which all that knowledge flows, needful in the business relations of life.

GYMNASTICS.

We are pleased to report an improvement in Physical Exercises during the year, more especially in the schools of higher grades. We are still more fully convinced of the value of gymnastics as practiced in our schools, than we were at the commencement of the year. Tired and cramped by forced and long continued positions at their desks, these exercises afford just the muscular relaxation necessary for the relief of the pupil.

A strong sympathy existing between the mind and body, both become invigorated, and the scholar goes to the duties of the session with a renewed zest. We believe that more actual work will be performed by that school where the labors of the day are interspersed with gymnastic exercises of reasonable length, than where physical drill is entirely neglected.

One of our most successful Principals assures us that he finds much less difficulty in enforcing ready obedience to the school regulations since he adopted and enforced these exercises. He asserts that the scholar thereby acquires a habit of prompt obedience, that he can secure as well in no other way.

The few objections which have heretofore existed on the part of some parents and scholars to this exercise, have in our opinion nearly subsided, and in our best regulated and disciplined schools the scholars seem to enter into them with eagerness, and with as laudable a desire to excel therein as in the intellectual exercises. We desire no better test of the inherent life and activity of a school than we can get from witnessing a general exercise in gymnastics. But the beauty of this exercise is to have it well done. Far better a few changes with perfect uniformity of action, than studied combinations of discordant movements. Their great success in the principal schools of the State has been pleasing and satisfactory in proportion to their harmony, activity, and precision, especially in the exercise of marching, which partakes somewhat of the nature of military movements.

We regret that owing somewhat to local causes, these exercises have not been practiced with more zeal and earnestness in a few of the schools.

But we feel assured that the causes of this delinquency will no longer continue.

Those Primary Schools of which especial mention was made in the last report, fully sustain their former reputation in this respect.

We would also recommend the combination of vocal with the physical exercises in our schools.

MUSIC.

While we think that the use of this exercise should always be made subsidiary to the leading idea of intellectual development, we nevertheless wish to express our hearty concurrence with the opinions advanced in former reports, in favor of the regular and systematic practice of music in our schools.

It may seem extravagant to many, when we speak of music as a means of moral culture; and yet we believe that its tendency is to refine and elevate the moral nature. Man is a many-sided being, and requires cultivation in all directions. To think of the intellect only, and to forget the heart; to train the mind in logic, and lose sight of sentiment and feeling, — without which a man is but half a man, — this were a grievous error. We venture the assertion that a musical people can not be thoroughly bad in character, but must of necessity be quickened to an appreciation of the beautiful, both in art and nature, and to a ready sympathy with the joys and sorrows of their fellow-creatures.

Furthermore, it is a source of rational pleasure open to all, and purchasable, almost without price, — as all of the really best of God's blessings usually are, — and it is the right of the people to have their powers of enjoyment in this respect enlarged and gratified.

Much might also be said of the practice of music as an aid to good reading, and as facilitating the acquisition of a free and proper use of the vocal organs, and of a habit of concerted and symphathetic action with others ; a habit worth acquisition in a democratic community.

The brief space allowed in this report forbids a statement even of the arguments in favor of this study ; but so well are we assured of its importance, that we do not hesitate to recommend the employment of a teacher, who shall visit the several schools at stated times, and give instruction in this special department. And to this end we include in our appropriation list a sum of $400, to be applied to this purpose.

And in this connection we desire to express our gratification at the considerable attainments already made by our several schools. In some instances the singing was of decided excellence.

• PRUDENTIAL COMMITTEES.

The vote of the Town at the last annual meeting, authorizing the several school districts to choose Prudential Committees, has occasioned to some extent a divided and necessarily conflicting jurisdiction. But two of the Districts, the South and the West, have availed themselves of that questionable privilege. We are pleased, however, to bear testimony with reference to Mr. Lary, Prudential Committee of the West District, not only that we have met from him no opposition, but on the contrary have received his cordial co-operation in promoting the welfare and comfort of the teachers and pupils. He has given all the information and assistance to the Committee in the discharge of their duties, as contemplated by the statutes of the Commonwealth.

APPROPRIATION.

It will be seen by reference to the statistical table of the " Expenses of Schools " accompanying this Report, and made a part hereof, that an appropriation of $16,400.00 will be required for the ensuing year, for the purposes herein contemplated by your Committee.

CONCLUSION.

Your Committee would take this occasion, to return their thanks to the parents and friends of the pupils, for their generous and hearty co-operation with them during the past year, thereby rendering their arduous duties more pleasant to the Committee and profitable to the schools than they otherwise might have been. We are also grateful for the increased interest in the welfare of the schools, as manifested by the unusual number of visitations during the year. Yet we fear that too many parents little realize the importance of such visitations. Their effect upon the schools is almost magical. In what department of business would you employ assistance and then leave the workman, however trusty, without ever once examining the nature or quality of his work. Who of you would be satisfied with a meager annual report of such workman's progress, without once ascertaining from personal observation whether such report was correct or otherwise. No thrifty business man would ever be guilty of such neglect, even in the ordinary business of life. How much more important is it, then, when the welfare of your own sons and daughters is involved, when interests that can not be measured by a pecuniary standard are staked upon such labors, that you should give a thorough personal examination to the work of those who are shaping the minds and characters of those as dear to you as your own lives. You generously appropriate all needed sums of money to the maintenance and support of your public schools, and even amid the severe pressure of heavy taxation, you have never once forgotten your duty to your common schools, or given grudgingly. In this you have done well.

Will you not give to the cause of popular education the further assistance of your occasional presence, and thereby stimulate your schools to increased activity, and encourage the teachers in their faithful devotion to their laborious calling.

EXTRACTS FROM THE "RULES AND REGULATIONS" OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

CHAPTER VII.

GENERAL REGULATIONS OF THE SCHOOLS.—DUTIES OF TEACHERS.

SECTION 1. All Teachers in the Public schools are required to make themselves familiar with these Regulations; and the least violation of any one of them shall be considered a fair ground of complaint against any Teacher.

SECT. 2. The morning exercises of all the schools shall commence with reading the Bible, and it is recommended that the reading be followed by prayer.

SECT. 3. The Teachers shall devote themselves earnestly and exclusively to the duties of the school-room during the school term and school hours established by the Committee, and no absence shall be allowable, except for sickness, without previous notice to the Sub-Committee, and permission obtained.

SECT. 4. When a Teacher is absent on account of sickness for more than a week, the bill shall not be allowed for the time of absence, except by a special vote of the Board; and no Substitute shall be employed for more than one day at a time without the approbation of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 5. Teachers shall have the privilege of taking two days in each term to visit any school or schools.

SECT. 6. It shall be the duty of the Teachers to see that the fires are made in time to warm their respective school-rooms before the hour appointed for opening their schools; and also that the school-rooms, entries, and out-houses are kept in a neat condition.

SECT. 7. Teachers shall aim at such discipline in their schools as would be exercised by a kind and judicious parent in his family ; and shall avoid corporal punishment in all cases where good order can be preserved by milder measures. And it shall be the duty of the several Teachers to keep a record of all instances of inflicting corporal punishment, which they shall exhibit to their respective Sub-Committees at each monthly visitation, when said record shall be erased.

SECT. 8. It shall be the duty of all the Teachers to give vigilant attention to the ventilation and temperature of their respective school-rooms. A regular system of ventilation shall be practiced, in winter as well as in summer ; and the temperature of the rooms shall be kept as nearly as possible at 66° Fahrenheit.

SECT. 9. The Teachers shall carefully observe and follow that requirement of the State Laws which enjoins it upon "all instructors of youth to exert their best endeavors to impress on the minds of children and youth committed to their care and instruction the principles of piety and justice, and a sacred regard to truth ; love of their country, humanity, and universal benevolence ; sobriety, industry, and frugality ; chastity, moderation, and temperance, and those other virtues which are the ornament of human society and the basis upon which a republican constitution is founded ; and it shall be the duty of such instructors to endeavor to lead their pupils, as their ages and capacities will admit, into a clear understanding of the tendency of the above-mentioned virtues to preserve and perfect a republican constitution and secure the blessings of liberty, as well as to promote their future happiness ; and also to point out to them the evil tendency of the opposite vices."

SECT. 10. It shall be the duty of the several Teachers to exercise, so far as practicable, a general inspection over their pupils while going to school and returning home, and the Principals of the several Grammar Schools shall in addition to their present powers have jurisdiction over all the scholars belonging to their several buildings, so far as the preservation of order and good conduct about the school-house premises, outside of the school-rooms, is concerned.

SECT. 11. Any Teacher may exclude from school for the time being any pupil who shall exhibit habitual disobedience to the rules of the school, or who shall be known to be guilty of habitual immoralities, or habitual rudeness, or impropriety of manners; and the Teacher shall immediately inform the parent or guardian of the child of such exclusion, and shall apply to the Sub-Committee for advice and direction. The Sub-Committee may prescribe any temporary exclusion which may be desirable, and such scholar shall be admitted to no other school without the vote of the Board, and the Sub-Committee shall report all such cases at the meeting of the Board next following the expulsion; and no permanent expulsion shall be made except by the Board.

SECT. 12. The Teachers of all the schools shall be required to fill up with accuracy the blanks prepared for school returns, and to hand the same to their respective Sub-Committees, duly signed, at the close of each term; and accompany them with such suggestions in writing as may seem to deserve the attention of the Committee, and to be for the welfare of their schools.

SECT. 13. No Principal shall on any account leave his school in charge of his Assistant, without special permission of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 14. The doors of the several school-houses and school-rooms shall be opened, and the Teachers shall be present for the reception of the scholars, at least ten minutes before the time fixed for the schools to begin. The teachers shall require the scholars to be in their seats, and shall commence and close the exercises of the schools punctually at the prescribed hours.

SECT. 15. No Teacher shall make any purchase at the expense of the Town, without first obtaining the consent of the Sub-Committee.

DUTIES OF PUPILS.

SECT. 16. No pupil or other person shall cut, deface, defile, or otherwise injure the school-buildings, or furniture thereof, or the fences, trees, shrubbery, or any other property thereto belonging; and any pupil or other person suspected of being guilty of such an offense shall be reported forthwith, by the Teacher, to the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 17. No child who comes to school without proper attention having been given to the cleanliness of his person, and of his dress, or whose clothes have not been properly repaired, shall be permitted to remain in school, but shall be sent home to be prepared for school in a proper manner.

SECT. 18. Tardiness shall be subject to such penalty as in each case the Teacher may think proper. Pupils absent from school must, on returning, bring an excuse for such absence; and any pupil absent for more than two half days in any month for other causes than sickness or family bereavement, shall be reported to the Sub-Committee at the next monthly visitation, and no pupils so reported shall be allowed to remain in the school unless by the consent of the Sub-Committee. Every pupil, wishing on any day to be dismissed before the close of the session, must assign satisfactory reasons therefor, and obtain the consent of the Teacher. Teachers having charge of pupils who are habitually truant, shall, with the approval of their respective Sub-Committees, report their names, residences, and the names of their parents or guardians, to the Truant Officers of the town.

SECT. 19. Children not less than five years of age may be admitted into the Primary Department without an examination.

SECT. 20. No pupil shall be admitted into any school without first exhibiting to the Teacher satisfactory evidence of vaccination; but such evidence shall not be required of pupils who go from one Public School in the Town to another.

SECT. 21. Every scholar in the Primary Schools shall be provided with a slate, and shall employ the time not otherwise occupied, in drawing, printing, or writing.

SECT. 22. The School Year shall begin on the first Monday in February, and end on the day next preceding the first Monday in February following. It shall consist of two terms; the First Term to begin on the first Monday in February, and the Second Term to begin on the first Monday after the close of the summer vacation.

SECT. 23. The several schools shall commence at 9 o'clock A. M. and 2 P. M. from April to September, and at 9 o'clock A. M. and 1½ P. M. from September to April; provided, however, that other hours may be substituted by the respective Sub-Committees when the convenience of pupils and parents may render it expedient, subject to the approval of the Board. These hours shall not be altered without permission of the Sub-Committees.

SECT. 24. There shall be a recess of fifteen minutes in length during each half day ; and every pupil shall be allowed his full recess ; although he may, for punishment, not be permitted to take it at the regular time with the school, and in addition to the usual recesses, there shall be, in the Primary Schools of the lowest grade, two intermissions of study, of five minutes each, in each half day ; the first intermission to take place midway between the opening of school and the recess ; and the second intermission midway between the recess and the close of the session.

VACATIONS AND HOLIDAYS.

SECT. 25. There shall be the following holidays and vacations : —

Every Saturday ; Washington's Birthday ; Fast day ; May day ; the week immediately preceding the first Monday in June ; the six weeks immediately preceding the first Monday in September ; Thanksgiving week ; Christmas day ; New Year's day ; and the week immediately preceding the first Monday in February ; — and the Chairman of the Board is authorized to suspend the schools on such public occasions as he may think proper, not exceeding three days in the year. No other holidays shall be allowed, except by special vote of the Board ; and no school shall be suspended on any other occasion, except for special and important reasons relating to a particular school, and then only by express permission of the Sub-Committee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SECT. 26. No subscription or contribution, for any purpose whatever, shall be introduced into any Public School. No person shall read to the pupils in any school, or post upon the walls of any school building, or fences of the same, any advertisement. Nor shall any agent or other person be permitted to enter any school for the purpose of exhibiting either to Teacher or pupil any new book or article of apparatus.

SECT. 27. The school-houses shall not be opened or used for any other purpose than the regular instruction of the public schools, except under the direction of the Sub-Committees respectively.

SECT. 28. The text-books used and the studies pursued in all the Public Schools shall be such and such only as may be authorized by the Board. The several Teachers shall be at liberty to avail themselves of such books as they may deem useful for the purpose of illustration and example ; but the pupils shall not be required to furnish themselves with any but the prescribed text-books. It shall be the duty of the several Teachers to keep a list of all the books supplied to the pupils by the Town, and take charge of all such books when such pupils shall leave the school, and to furnish the books again upon the order of the Committee to any other pupils needing them.

SECT. 29. Written Compositions shall be required of all the pupils in the High and Grammar Schools.

SECT. 30. Declamations shall be required of all the boys in the High and Grammar Schools.

AUDITOR'S REPORT.

The undersigned, Auditors of accounts for the town of Quincy, for the year ending February 1st, 1868, have examined the books of the Town Treasurer and Selectmen, and certify that they appear to be correct, and with proper vouchers for all payments. And the Treasurer states that the balance of cash, as shown by the preceding accounts, is in his hands and in bank, subject to his order.

CHAS. H. PORTER,
EBENEZER ADAMS,
ENSIGN S. FELLOWS.

QUINCY, Feb. 10th, 1868.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

---

The undersigned, Selectmen of Quincy, herewith submit the seventy-sixth Annual Report of the receipts and expenditures of said town, and respectfully offer such explanations and suggestions as to them seem proper.

APPROPRIATIONS.

The Town, at the annual meeting in March last, made the following appropriations, viz. : Schools, teaching and fuel, $16,018. For all other expenses, $29,600 ; total amount $45,618. Subsequent to voting the appropriations, the Town voted and authorized a committee to contract for a soldiers' monument, and also voted to light street lamps, making no appropriations therefor.

POOR IN ALMSHOUSE.

The expense of maintaining our poor in the Almshouse has been somewhat less than that of the previous year.

The establishment has continued under the management of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Morse, and we have occasion for much gratitude to them for their continued interest in those under their care. The present number of inmates is eight ; admitted during the year, six ; discharged two ; died two. The number of aged and female travelling paupers taken in for a night, sixty-six. Early in the spring the large number of traveling paupers applying for assistance induced us to make a change in the manner of providing for them ; accordingly, under our direction, the lock-up was thoroughly cleansed, whitewashed, and furnished with comfortable bedding, for the accommodation of that class of persons, except females and aged men, who are sent to the Almshouse. The number lodged at the lock-up is 169.

POOR OUT OF ALMSHOUSE.

Notwithstanding the severity of the present winter, the expenditures under this head are less than that of the previous year. The number of persons supported in the Lunatic Hospital during the year is five. The amount of expenditures for these unfortunates we cannot control, as they cannot be provided for at our Almshouse. In April last, the city of Boston notified us that the price of board of the inmates of South Boston Hospital would be raised to seven dollars per week. We visited the State Hospital at Taunton, and were convinced by a careful inspection of the institution, that the inmates were equally if not better provided for than at the former place, and at one-half the expense; accordingly the two inmates chargeable to this Town were removed to Taunton. We have assisted quite a number of our poor, believing that a little timely assistance will often prevent parties from becoming a public charge.

HIGHWAYS.

We have expended a much larger sum than was expended the previous year, for repairs on highways; but no more, in our opinion, than economy and the best interests of the town required. Although so much work has been done on the highways, and that work scattered through every district, the calls of our citizens have been many for still further repairs.

By order of the County Commissioners, Hancock Street has been materially widened from Cottage Avenue to Canal Street, and $557.25 has been paid upon the contract for building the new Payne's-hill road, for neither of which were appropriations made.

Early in the season it was discovered that the bridge crossing the railroad on Beale Street was dangerous, and a further examination proved it worthless, causing an expenditure of $335.85 to rebuild. Sea Street has been straightened at its junction with Coddington Street, by taking of land of Mr. Seth Spear, and we would recommend that the Town authorize our successors to convey a small strip of land west of the pound to Mr. Spear in exchange for that taken. The County Commissioners having decided to straighten a portion of Granite Street, an appropriation will be required at the annual meeting. The severe snow-storms in February and March of last year caused an expenditure of $516.85, and the still more severe ones of the present winter have thus far cost $954.00, making a total expense for removing snow of $1,570.84, for which no appropriation was made.

CEMETERIES.

The Town, at its annual meeting, instructed the Selectmen to appoint a Superintendent of Mt. Wollaston Cemetery. In accordance with said instructions, one of our board, Mr. E. W. Underwood, reluctantly accepted the position, and also the charge of the old cemetery, which had been sadly neglected for a few years.

The many of our citizens who visited the cemeteries during the past summer and autumn, can judge for themselves how faithfully he performed his duties.

The Town has made appropriations for Mt. Wollaston Cemetery at several times, from April 3, 1854, to March 5, 1861, amounting to $5,500. The Treasurer has received for the sale of lots from 1856 to date, $2,106.25, making a total of $7,606.25, which amount, by votes of the Town, is to be expended in ornamenting said cemetery. The total amount of expenditures to date have been $6,664.63, leaving a balance unexpended of $941.62. We would recommend that a receiving tomb be built at Mt. Wollaston Cemetery during the coming summer, and would suggest the economy of using the material composing the tomb now in use, in its construction.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Fire Department maintains its usual efficiency, and the apparatus is in good condition. Engines Nos. 1 and 2 have been painted during the year. In the early part of the year, incendiarism was rife; but the offer of large rewards, and the vigilance of our police authorities and citizens generally, although not successful in ferreting out the perpetrators, put a check to the operations of the incendiary.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Neponset and Hingham bridges have become an annual expense to the town. The income on the amount paid the town ($5,000), not being sufficient to defray the expense of keeping the Neponset bridge in repair, already the bridge is in debt to the Town, $1,139.43.

A number of the south-shore towns having refused to pay the portion assigned them for the support of Hingham and Quincy bridges, the towns of Weymouth, Hingham, and Quincy are compelled to bear the whole expense for the present. Suits have been commenced against the delinquent towns for their share of the expense; the cases will probably be settled soon, when a portion of the amount expended will be refunded.

Agreeable to votes of the town, street lamps have been lighted where established, at an expense of $668.13. The amount of $1,600 has been paid the contractors for a soldiers' monument by order of the committee.

The Treasurer has been obliged by law to pay $794.50 on account of the Militia pay-rolls of the McClellan Guards, which sum is to be refunded by the State.

The amount of uncollected taxes for 1867 is but $1,327.20, one thousand dollars having been paid by the collector, since the Treasurer's accounts were settled.

TOWN LINES.

During the past year we have perambulated the boundary lines between this town and Braintree, Randolph, and Milton, examined the bounds and renewed the marks. Stone Monuments have been erected in all places (where they did not exist), wherever a highway crosses said lines, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 84 of the Acts of 1861.

GUIDE-BOARDS.

No new guide-boards have been erected during the year, but those heretofore erected remain in the same condition as last year.

REPORT.

---

IN compliance with the laws of this State, we, the School Committee of the Town of Quincy, submit the following Report of the condition of our Public Schools for the school year 1867-8, with such comments and suggestions as we deem necessary, that the voters of the town may meet the questions of their Common Schools with the promptness and intelligence that a matter of such vital importance requires.

SCHOOL-HOUSES.

We have made some change in the High School House during the year to meet the requirements of the additional department, of which we shall have occasion to speak more at length in another portion of this Report.

We found that great inconvenience would result from a removal of the Adams Primary No. 1, which had occupied a portion of this building, as no suitable room could be readily procured therefor; therefore, choosing the lesser evil, we have caused the former recitation room on the lower floor, together with an ante-room heretofore used by said Primary, to be thrown together, and a partition to be built through the centre, making two recitation rooms of nearly equal size, so arranged as to give ample light to both rooms, and free and easy access to each without passing through the other.

These have been neatly finished, with ample blackboard accommodations, and suitably furnished, and though not as large as we might have desired considering the present and prospective size of this school, yet they are made to answer our present wants; though the whole building is none too large for the use of the High School alone.

We would here make the suggestion that accommodations for Adams Primary No. 1 be furnished elsewhere at the earliest opportunity, as two schools of such unequal ages and grade cannot be continued in the same building without serious inconvenience and detriment to the High School.

We have also found it necessary to provide additional seats and desks in the main school-room and to substitute new and improved recitation seats in lieu of the cumbersome and inconvenient settees heretofore used.

We have also attended to the necessary slating of the roof, and have furnished better facilities for heating the rooms.

In all our interior alterations we have endeavored to combine comfort, taste, and convenience.

CODDINGTON SCHOOL-HOUSE.

No material changes have been made in this house during the year.

The walls of the lower school-rooms and halls, which have greatly needed covering, have been newly papered, which gives them a much more tidy, cheerful, and homelike appearance.

We have to regret that we have been unable to procure a suitable room in the district for the use of Primary No. 2; therefore we are still obliged to occupy the basement room of this house. The room formerly used by Primary No. 3 has been abandoned, as the same was needed by the Town for an Armory. An exchange was effected by the Committee, and this last-named school has been removed to the hall over the store of Wyman Abercrombie, Esq., which we now rent at the same price heretofore paid,—the room being much better for the purposes of a school-room, than the one vacated.

ADAMS SCHOOL-HOUSES.

The Prudential Committee of the South District has taken charge of the school buildings, in accordance with the wish of the district, and we have noticed no change in the same since the last Report.

WILLARD SCHOOL-HOUSES.

The Prudential Committee of the West district has retained the house at "the Rail" for the use of Willard Mixed Primary; and the lower room of the Bass and Robertson building, better known, perhaps, as the "Old School-house," for Primary No. 3.

New desks and seats have been added to the Willard Grammar School room to accommodate the greatly increased and increasing numbers of the school, which are still manifestly insufficient, and a new recitation room has been fitted and furnished for the use of the assistant teacher. The other rooms remain essentially the same as at the time of the last Report.

We would suggest to the Prudential Committee that an early attention be paid to the grading of the yard of the Willard School house proper.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL-HOUSES.

The insufficiency of the old furnace in the Grammar School building in respect to heating power, and more especially to leaking of the gas therefrom so badly as to endanger the health of the children, has necessitated its removal, and the substitution of a new one of much larger size, and better adapted to the requirements of the building.

From our experience with the new furnace, we feel justified in the belief that the improvement is well worth the cost, and that the scholars may in the future expect comfortable school-rooms.

The painting of the building has become absolutely necessary, and must not, we think, be delayed beyond the ensuing summer.

QUINCY SCHOOL-HOUSE.

During the past year several necessary repairs have been made on this building, and quite a number of new desks placed in the Grammar Schoolroom, which have increased the ordinary incidental expenses. Even now, the exterior of the school-house requires painting for the better preservation and appearance of the building.

CRANE SCHOOL-HOUSE.

No expenses have been incurred on this building during the year, as it was put in good condition by the last Board of Committee.

GRADING OF THE SCHOOLS.

Although your Committee feel that there are yet manifest defects in the present grading of our schools, arising out of the location of some of our school buildings, and the widely scattered population of our more rural districts, yet we have not deemed it expedient to change the grading heretofore established by your former Committee, but have strictly adhered thereto.

We would suggest to the voters of the West District the necessity of such arrangements as will enable them to complete the system of grading in their schools, as adopted two years ago and which gave entire satisfaction to the Committee. We fully believe that the superior advantages of a purely graded school will far more than compensate those members who are subjected to additional travel to reach the same.

And we hope that, whenever the Town shall feel it expedient to furnish this district with the additional school accommodations so much needed, their especial attention will be given to this matter. The Committee also think that the interest of the schools in the Point District absolutely requires that the measures pursued so successfully in other parts of the town should be adopted there, and to this end we would recommend that the incoming Board should give their early attention to the establishment of another school ranking between the Intermediate and Primary Departments.

If the Neck School-house be abandoned, this would not require any additional expense for teachers, and it is thought that arrangements can be made for hiring a room which will be sufficient, at least, for present wants.

Perhaps the removal and enlargement of the Neck School-house may be advisable.

No change has been made in the grading of the Adams Schools, and we feel satisfied that we can adopt no system better in all respects than the present, though we are aware that there is much complaint on the part of the patrons of those schools in being obliged to send their children from one extreme of the district to another; yet, with the school-houses located as at present, we feel unable to remedy this defect.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

We have now fourteen Primary Schools, of various grades, in town; most of them under the charge of tried and faithful teachers, and we are pleased to report them as in generally good condition.

The discipline of almost all these schools has been, throughout the year, uniformly good, and the progress in study all that can reasonably be expected.

It is seldom that we find the same number of schools conducted with more earnestness and fidelity than ours have been, under the present corps of teachers.

It is truly a pleasure and satisfaction to bear our united testimony to the successful results of their arduous labors.

In some of these schools object lessons have been given and practised to a considerable extent, and have been, without exception, productive of good fruits.

We have an increasing confidence in this method of instruction particularly in schools of lower grades, and they have proved scarcely less profitable and successful in those more advanced. We find, in some of our Primary Schools, general and mental exercises that would do honor to any Intermediate Schools.

We also notice an improvement in reading in these schools, more attention having been paid to this most important branch of study than heretofore.

We consider as a whole, that our Primary schools are in better general condition than we have known them for several years.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

We have four Intermediate schools, all under the care of teachers of experience and acknowledged ability, and so well known to the citizens of the Town as scarcely to need individual mention.

These schools number 233 members, and annually graduate about 100 scholars.

The Adams Intermediate still remains under the control of Mrs. E. A. Hardwick, who, by her large experience and thorough devotion to her work, has gained the full confidence of the parents and pupils, as well as of the Committee.

The Coddington Intermediate is still fortunate in retaining the services of Miss M. A. Holbrook, under whose efficient management it is steadily advancing in all that goes to make up an excellent school.

The Washington Intermediate under Miss H. A. French, has, we think, made marked improvement. We have no more faithful and trusty teacher in our employ than Miss French, who, by years of patient and unceasing labor, has well earned the rank she now occupies, as one of the most successful of Quincy teachers.

The Willard Intermediate has prospered well under the judicious and firm management of Miss A. C. Foster, who, during her connection with this school has done worthy service, and as she leaves the school, she goes forth to new duties, with the best wishes of those who know how to appreciate a good teacher.

CRANE SCHOOL.

The Crane School is the only ungraded one we have in Town, which, from its isolated location cannot be otherwise than mixed.

It has been throughout the year in charge of Miss M. Lizzie Cobb, a teacher in whom your committee have much confidence.

The school is very small and suffers much in being made up of all ages and qualifications.

We noticed a commendable improvement in the reading of this school, since the commencement of the year.

Miss Cobb, by her faithful attention to her duties, has gained the universal confidence and esteem of the East District, as evinced in various ways.

Owing to the remoteness of this school from the other villages of the Town, the general committee have been unable to visit it often during term time ; but the reports of the sub-committee have been uniformly favorable.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

The Adams Grammar School commenced the year under favorable auspices, with Mr. J. O. Norris, as Principal, and Miss S. V. Wilde, as Assistant ; but the Principal left the school soon after the commencement of the year, on account of insufficient salary (the prudential committee of the District refusing to pay the amount appropriated by the Town), and after some delay Mr. J. H. Carvill, of Maine, was selected for the vacancy, and Miss Mary S. Travis was transferred from the Adams Primary No. 1, as his Assistant. As might be expected from the substitution of two new teachers in a school of the size and character of this, notwithstanding the arduous labors of the Principal and Assistant, the school made little progress for several weeks ; but it gradually came into line, and from that time forward has shown marked improvement, and at the closing examination acquitted itself well ; reflecting much credit upon both teachers and scholars. The discipline of this school has been satisfactory to the committee.

The Coddington Grammar School has sustained the high reputation previously acquired, and under its excellent teachers, Mr. Southworth and Miss Arnold, has taken a rank second to none of its grade in Town. In the height of its prosperity and in the full flush of victory, it was doomed to disappointment by the loss of Mr. Southworth, who was called to the Dwight School of Boston. Miss Arnold, assisted by Miss Abbie I. Hails, conducted the school for some weeks, with commendable success. After which we procured the services of Mr. H. B. Brown, as Principal, and under his charge it retains its former advanced position.

The Washington Grammar School, under the charge of Mr. C. W. Carter and Miss Dora A. French, has been conducted with much success, and to the satisfaction of the Board. We expected much of this school, and it has not disappointed our expectations. Under a succession of good teachers, this school has taken a favorable rank, and through the faithful and untiring energy of its instructors, has acquitted itself nobly. We regret being obliged to note the resignation of Mr. Carter, who has abandoned teaching for mercantile pursuits. The faithful and conscientious devotion of this gentleman to his duties as a teacher, and the personal interest which he has invariably shown in the advancement and welfare of the pupils under his charge, has told most beneficially upon the character of the school. In this change the common schools lose one of their most earnest and devoted teachers and advocates.

The Willard Grammar School, under its well-known Principal, has been doing all that could be reasonably expected during the year. This school has grown to be one of the largest in Town. Its spacious room has become insufficient to accomodate the school. Owing to its great increase in numbers, it became necessary to furnish an Assistant, and Mr. J. F. Eaton—the prudential committee—promptly procured the services of Miss S. V. Wilde, late of the Adams Grammar School. By the united efforts of Mr. Dewing and Miss Wilde, the school, with zeal and earnestness, has advanced itself to an enviable position among the grammar schools of Quincy.

The Quincy Grammar School commenced the year with Mr. John Smithwick as teacher, who continued until the end of the summer term, when he tendered his resignation.

He was succeeded by Mr. Lewis E. Hobbs, who had formerly been connected with this school in the same capacity. Under the efficient management of Mr. Hobbs, the discipline of the school has been satisfactory to the committee, and noticeable improvement was manifest at the closing examination. This school has greatly increased in numbers during the year, until the school-room is barely sufficient for their accomodation. If this section of the Town shall continue to increase in numbers as during the last year, the time is not far distant when we shall be obliged to ask for more extensive accommodations. Perhaps the increased attendance is in part attributable to the popularity of the teacher.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The High School has completed another year of successful labor, and has won good opinions from the Committee, and all who have had occasion to witness its progress. The same Principal has remained in charge, and with the aid of his competent assistants has kept the school up to its former standard. The good discipline which has heretofore characterized the school, and the same readiness and accuracy which has marked the recitations have been observable at the several visitations during the year, as well as at the closing examinations. Essential changes have been made in this school to meet the wants of the public. We have added a new department, in which the common and higher English studies are pursued, thereby affording facilities for scholars who do not desire to pursue the classics. This department is designed to supply what has long been needed in this school, a course in which our scholars, by a thorough, systematic, and practical training can be fully qualified for the several callings they desire and intend to follow in active life.

This change necessitated the employment of another assistant, and we placed Miss Lucinda P. Cole in this department. Having, at the end of the first term, received the resignation of Miss Cora A. Chapin, who has long and faithfully served this school as Assistant teacher, we were fortunate in procuring the services of Miss Annette E. Long, as Classical Assistant.

We have established three courses of study, viz., English, English and Classical, and Classical. The first and second are completed in three years, at which time graduates take their diploma. In the Classical course, graduates are entitled to a diploma after three years' study, but they can remain for four years, and graduate as an advanced class. Scholars, on entering the school, have their choice, as to which course they will take, but having once elected, they are bound by their choice, except by special permission of the Committee, and for good cause shown. The studies pursued in the several courses, will be found in detail in another part of this report. From what we have thus far seen of the fruits of the new department, we are satisfied that it will prove a decided success, and render the High School of far more practical value, than at any time heretofore. We are equally assured that the plan is meeting with very general favor from the parents, scholars, and friends of the school, and is removing very much of the opposition which attended the early years of the High School, and we no longer hear the complaint, that we are making a useless expenditure of money in sustaining the same. We have availed ourselves of a portion of the appropriation made by the Town for teaching music, and have employed Miss Annie L. Arnold and Mr. Edward P. Hayward, to give semi-weekly lessons in this school, in the rudiments of music, whose labors have been attended with good success.

The Committee are pleased to make favorable mention of the following members of the advanced first class of the High School, Misses Emily A. Dinegan, Vina H. Bunton, Marion L. Jones and Ada E. Locke, who, having completed a four years' course in this school, with honor to themselves, and credit to the school, have expressed a desire to take their diplomas at the present time, rather than at the time of annual graduation, and the same have been awarded them by the Committee.

WRITING.

Considerable attention has been given to writing in our Grammar Schools, and the same has been attended with good success. The books of most of the schools have been characterized by neatness, and a noted improvement has been made in this too-much-neglected branch of study. We especially noted as worthy of commendation the writing of the Crane School. We think the penmanship of the High School indicated less culture in this respect than we could desire.

SPELLING.

We discover quite a general accuracy in the spelling of our schools of lower grade. An increasing attention seems to have been given to this essential branch of education during the year. The spelling of the Grammar Schools we found quite up to its former standard, and we believe a little in advance of former years.

GYMNASTICS.

More than ordinary attention has been given to the practice of Gymnastics in our Grammar Schools, and with far more than their usual success. Considerable emulation has been excited in this direction, and the results have been quite gratifying to the Committee. We are pleased to note that the decided opposition to these physical exercises, seems to have given place to approbation, or at least to silence. We think this practice, carried to the extreme, might work serious injury to our schools, but as used with us, we deem the practice of gymnastics an excellent relaxation for both mind and body, and a valuable assistant to a prompt and thorough discipline in the school-room. We regret that these physical exercises have been partially, or wholly neglected, in a few of our schools, as appeared at their closing examinations. The lower schools have formerly led the upper in this particular, and are now doing all that can be expected of them, considering the ages of the scholars. In the combination of mental exercises and gymnastics, we think the lower fully equal the higher grades of schools.

MUSIC.

The election of Prudential Committees, taking the choice of Music Teachers out of our hands, in two of the largest schools of the town, and some of the regular teachers being competent to give instruction in this department, we have not thought it expedient to use the amount appropriated for this purpose, excepting so far as the same has been expended for special music teachers in the High School. The success which has attended this partial experiment warrants us in recommending an appropriation for the ensuing year, to be devoted to this branch of education.

APPROPRIATION.

It will be seen by the statistical table of "Expenses of Schools," annexed to this report, and made a part hereof, that assuming the State School Fund, and the income of the Coddington Fund, to be the same for the coming year, as for the last, we shall need an appropriation, by the Town, of $15,600 for expenses of teaching and fuel, for the ensuing year.

VISITATIONS.

We are pleased to notice an increased number of visits from parents and friends of the schools during the last year, which argues well for their growing interest in the matters of education.

At several of the closing examinations we were favored with a full attendance of the patrons of the several schools.

The importance and influence of such visitations cannot be over-rated and we would renew the suggestions of last year upon this important topic, and urge upon the consideration of the citizens of the town, an increased effort in this direction.

GENERAL REMARKS.

We much regret the repeated attempts which are made to lessen the appropriation for educational purposes ; and yet from the promptness and decision with which the Town has ever met the question, we have gained an increased confidence in the sound judgment and honest purpose of the people.

Poor indeed is that financial policy which would fill our schools with third-rate teachers, because they can be had for the asking.

Every workman is worthy of his hire, and school teachers like other mortals must live. A town like ours cannot afford to sustain a Teachers' Institute, for the training of instructors for more profitable situations abroad, and in the present state of financial embarrassment we cannot afford to keep poor teachers. They are a luxury beyond our means.

Retrenchment in town expenses is desirable, and none will advocate it more strongly than your Committee. But let retrenchment commence in proper departments, and do not hazard interests so momentous as the cause of our Common Schools upon the experiment.

The responsibility is yours, voters of Quincy, to guard with utmost care the historic reputation of our ancient town, and you can never do it as safely and well as through the widening channels of popular education that flow from your public schools.

Your Committee in conclusion would take this opportunity of returning their thanks to the citizens of the town, for the uniform courtesy shown them on all occasions during their terms of service, and more especially during the last year.

A uniform action between the public and its servants and representatives is of vital importance to the welfare of the cause of education, and there is no position in the State in which sectional jealousies and party animosities produce more disastrous fruits than in the petty quarrels in the management of her common schools.

But during the last year our efforts at reform have met with your generous approval, and we hope that in the exercise of our best judgment our success has been commensurate with our intent.

EXTRACTS FROM THE "RULES AND REGULATIONS" OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

CHAPTER VII.

GENERAL REGULATIONS OF THE SCHOOLS.—DUTIES OF TEACHERS.

SECTION 1. All Teachers in the Public schools are required to make themselves familiar with these Regulations; and the least violation of any one of them shall be considered a fair ground of complaint against any Teacher.

SECT. 2. The morning exercises of all the schools shall commence with reading the Bible, and it is recommended that the reading be followed by prayer.

SECT. 3. The Teachers shall devote themselves earnestly and exclusively to the duties of the school-room during the school term and school hours established by the Committee, and no absence shall be allowable, except for sickness, without previous notice to the Sub-Committee, and permission obtained.

SECT. 4. When a Teacher is absent on account of sickness for more than a week, the bill shall not be allowed for the time of absence, except by a special vote of the Board; and no Substitute shall be employed for more than one day at a time without the approbation of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 5. Teachers shall have the privilege of taking two days in each term to visit any school or schools.

SECT. 6. It shall be the duty of the Teachers to see that the fires are made in time to warm their respective school-rooms before the hour appointed for opening their schools; and also that the school-rooms, entries, and out-houses are kept in a neat condition.

SECT. 7. Teachers shall aim at such discipline in their schools as would be exercised by a kind and judicious parent in his family; and shall avoid corporal punishment in all cases where good order can be preserved by milder measures. And it shall be the duty of the several Teachers to keep a record of all instances of inflicting corporal punishment, which they shall exhibit to their respective Sub-Committees at each monthly visitation, when said record shall be erased.

SECT. 8. It shall be the duty of all the Teachers to give vigilant attention to the ventilation and temperature of their respective school-rooms. A regular system of ventilation shall be practised, in winter as well as in summer; and the temperature of the rooms shall be kept as nearly as possible at 66° Fahrenheit.

SECT. 9. The Teachers shall carefully observe and follow that requirement of the State Laws which enjoins it upon "all instructors of youth to exert their best endeavors to impress on the minds of children and youth committed to their care and instruction the principles of piety and justice, and a sacred regard to truth; love of their country, humanity, and universal benevolence; sobriety, industry, and frugality; chastity, moderation, and temperance, and those other virtues which are the ornament of human society and the basis upon which a republican constitution is founded; and it shall be the duty of such instructors to endeavor to lead their pupils, as their ages and capacities will admit, into a clear understanding of the tendency of the above-mentioned virtues to preserve and perfect a republican constitution and secure the blessings of liberty, as well as to promote their future happiness; and also to point out to them the evil tendency of the opposite vices."

SECT. 10. It shall be the duty of the several Teachers to exercise, so far as practicable, a general inspection over their pupils while going to school and returning home, and the Principals of the several Grammar Schools shall in addition to their present powers have jurisdiction over all the scholars belonging to their several buildings, so far as the preservation of order and good conduct about the school-house premises, outside of the school-rooms, is concerned.

SECT. 11. Any Teacher may exclude from school for the time being any pupil who shall exhibit habitual disobedience to the rules of the school, or who shall be known to be guilty of habitual immoralities, or habitual rudeness, or impropriety of manners; and the Teacher shall immediately inform the parent or guardian of the child of such exclusion, and shall apply to the Sub-Committee for advice and direction. The Sub-Committee may prescribe any temporary exclusion which may be desirable, and such scholar shall be admitted to no other school without the vote of the Board, and the Sub-Committee shall report all such cases at the meeting of the Board next following the expulsion; and no permanent expulsion shall be made except by the Board.

SECT. 12. The Teachers of all the schools shall be required to fill up with accuracy the blanks prepared for school returns, and to hand the same to their respective Sub-Committees, duly signed, at the close of each term; and accompany them with such suggestions in writing as may seem to deserve the attention of the Committee, and to be for the welfare of their schools.

SECT. 13. No Principal shall on any account leave his school in charge of his Assistant, without special permission of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 14. The doors of the several school-houses and school-rooms shall be opened, and the Teachers shall be present for the reception of the scholars, at least ten minutes before the time fixed for the schools to begin. The teachers shall require the scholars to be in their seats, and shall commence and close the exercises of the schools punctually at the prescribed hours.

SECT. 15. No Teacher shall make any purchase at the expense of the Town, without first obtaining the consent of the Sub-Committee.

DUTIES OF PUPILS.

SECT. 16. No pupil or other person shall cut, deface, defile, or otherwise injure the school-buildings, or furniture thereof, or the fences, trees, shruberry, or any other property thereto belonging; and any pupil or other person suspected of being guilty of such an offense shall be reported forthwith, by the Teacher, to the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 17. No child who comes to school without proper attention having been given to the cleanliness of his person, and of his dress, or whose clothes have not been properly repaired, shall be permitted to remain in school, but shall be sent home to be prepared for school in a proper manner.

SECT. 18. Tardiness shall be subject to such penalty as in each case the Teacher may think proper. Pupils absent from school must, on returning, bring an excuse for such absence ; and any pupil absent for more than two half days in any month for other causes than sickness or family bereavement, shall be reported to the Sub-Committee at the next monthly visitation, and no pupils so reported shall be allowed to remain in the school unless by the consent of the Sub-Committee. Every pupil, wishing on any day to be dismissed before the close of the session, must assign satisfactory reasons therefor, and obtain the consent of the Teacher. Teachers having charge of pupils who are habitually truant, shall, with the approval of their respective Sub-Committees, report their names, residences, and the names of their parents or guardians, to the Truant Officers of the town.

SECT. 19. Children not less than five years of age may be admitted into the Primary Department without an examination.

SECT. 20. No pupil shall be admitted into any school without first exhibiting to the Teacher satisfactory evidence of vaccination ; but such evidence shall not be required of pupils who go from one Public School in the Town to another.

SECT. 21. Every scholar in the Primary Schools shall be provided with a slate, and shall employ the time not otherwise occupied, in drawing, printing, or writing.

SECT. 22. The School year shall begin on the first Monday in February, and end on the day next preceding the first Monday in February following. It shall consist of two terms ; the First Term to begin on the first Monday in February, and the Second Term to begin on the first Monday after the close of the summer vacation.

SECT. 23. The several schools shall commence at 9 o'clock A. M. and 2 P. M. from April to September, and at 9 o'clock A. M. and 1½ P. M. from September to April ; provided, however, that other hours may be substituted by the respective Sub-Committees when the convenience of pupils and parents may render it expedient, subject to the approval of the Board. These hours shall not be altered without permission of the Sub-Committees.

SECT. 24. There shall be a recess of fifteen minutes in length during each half day ; and every pupil shall be allowed his full recess ; although he may, for punishment, not be permitted to take it at the regular time with the school, and in addition to the usual recesses, there shall be, in the Primary Schools of the lowest grade, two intermissions of study, of five minutes each, in each half day; the first intermission to take place midway between the opening of school and the recess; and the second intermission midway between the recess and the close of the session.

VACATIONS AND HOLIDAYS.

SECT. 25. There shall be the following holidays and vacations:—

Every Saturday; Washington's Birthday; Fast Day; May day; the week immediately preceding the first Monday in June; the 4th of July; the six weeks immediately preceding the first Monday in September; Thanksgiving week; Christmas day; New Year's day; and the week immediately preceding the first Monday in February;—and the Chairman of the Board is authorized to suspend the schools on such public occasions as he may think proper, not exceeding three days in the year. No other holidays shall be allowed, except by special vote of the Board; and no school shall be suspended on any other occasion, except for special and important reasons relating to a particular school, and then only by express permission of the Sub-Committee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SECT. 26. No subscription or contribution, for any purpose whatever, shall be introduced into any Public School. No person shall read to the pupils in any school, or post upon the walls of any school building, or fences of the same, any advertisement. Nor shall any agent or other person be permitted to enter any school for the purpose of exhibiting either to Teacher or pupil any new book or article of apparatus.

SECT. 27. The school-houses shall not be opened or used for any other purpose than the regular instruction of the public schools, except under the direction of the Sub-Committees respectively.

SECT. 28. The text-books used and the studies pursued in all the Public Schools shall be such and such only as may be authorized by the Board. The several Teachers shall be at liberty to avail themselves of such books as they may deem useful for the purpose of illustration and example ; but the pupils shall not be required to furnish themselves with any but the prescribed text books. It shall be the duty of the several Teachers to keep a list of all the books supplied to the pupils by the Town, and take charge of all such books when such pupils shall leave the school, and to furnish the books again upon the order of the Committee to any other pupils needing them.

SECT. 29. Written Compositions shall be required of all the pupils in the High and Grammar Schools.

SECT. 30. Declamations shall be required of all the boys in the High and Grammar Schools.

SECT. 31. Singing and Gymnastics shall be taught and practiced daily in all the schools.

SECT. 2. The Principal of each Grammar School or Mixed School shall notify those members of his own first class to whom he can give a certificate of good moral character and presumed literary qualifications, to appear at the High School-room on the day appointed, when they shall present their certificates to the Chairman of the Board. No books, manuals, private explanations, or communication by one pupil to another will be allowed.

SECT. 3. Candidates shall be examined in all the studies pursued in the Grammar Schools of the Town, and a thorough knowledge of such studies shall be indispensable to admission.

SECT. 4. Special applicants may be admitted if they are found qualified in the studies required for admission, and also in the studies of the classes they propose to join.

SECT. 5. There shall be one daily session of this School, commening at 9 o'clock and ending at 2 o'clock, from September to April, and beginning at 8 o'clock and ending at 1 o'clock from April to September.

SECT. 6. The time allowed each day for recess shall be thirty minutes, the recess to be given in such portions as in the judgment of the Principal shall be best for the pupils.

SECT. 7. Any pupils who through neglect or idleness shall render, in the course of three months, less than seventy-five per cent. of perfect lessons upon the whole number of lessons required, shall be reported to the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 8. Every pupil who shall have completed a three years' course of study in this school shall receive a Diploma.

SECT. 9. All the Regulations of Chapter VII.—excepting Sections 19, 21, 23, 24—shall apply to the High School.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

The undersigned, Auditors of Accounts for the Town of Quincy, for the year ending February 1, 1869, hereby report that they have examined the Books and Accounts kept by the Selectmen and Town Treasurer, from which the preceding statements have been compiled, and find them correctly kept, with vouchers for all payments. Also, that the balance due the town by the Treasurer is on deposit, subject to his draft, on presentation of town orders as drawn by the Selectmen.

While there was no direct appropriation for a reduction of the town debt, and while there have been unlooked for and unavoidable expenses, for which no appropriation was made, and while other officials, as the General School Committee, and, in some districts, the Prudential Committee, — over whose action the Selectmen have no direction or control, — have expended such portion of the town appropriation as was by them deemed expedient and necessary, it will be observed that the Board of Selectmen, who are also Overseers of the Poor and Surveyors of Highways, having given to all the various needs of the town such attention and expenditure of money, as in their judgment was required, have yet kept within the amount of money appropriated, and also made a small reduction of the debt.

The official transactions of the Town Treasurer the past year (which are condensed in the foregoing statement) have been much larger in amount than the average, covering the sum of $186,557.82. This has been caused by his arrangements, looking to loaning money for the town at a reduced rate of interest, and in a more permanent form. Having the opportunity in his hands, in common with other town treasurers, to make a permanent loan from the State, by vote of the town, $20,000 were obtained, for which four notes were given, severally for five, ten, fifteen, and twenty years, and, with this amount and other money he has procured on a permanent loan, he has paid off sundry amounts of indebtedness—some of which were drawing a larger rate of interest, and some of which were called in by parties loaning the same. The loans of the town, somewhat reduced, are believed to be in a more compact and permanent form than a year since, at a rate of interest in no case exceeding six per cent., and a part at five per cent.

The Auditors feel that they are doing but an act of justice, in calling the attention of the town to the fact of the prompt collection and payment, by the collector, Geo. H. Locke, Esq., of the amount of the tax committed to him, and with less than the usual abatements. His promptness has kept the treasury in funds, diminished the amount of interest on money borrowed “in anticipation of the collection of taxes,” and entirely removes from the “Town Report” the list of “delinquent tax-payers.” This notable efficiency and peculiar fitness for this responsible, and not always agreeable or desirable position, the town will do well, in our judgment, to be very sure to secure another year, at a more remunerative rate to him. And in this connection the Auditors suggest that the present custom of putting up the tax for bids, the same to be given to the lowest bidder, should be discontinued, and, in place thereof, the town instruct the Selectmen to appoint and contract with some person, to be designated by vote of the town, at a rate not exceeding a given sum.

The death of Mr. A. K. P. Dearborn, and the severe illness of Mr. Nathaniel H. Eaton, occasioned vacancies in the Board of Auditors, and will account for the reduced number of signers of this Report.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

The seventy-seventh Annual Report of the receipts and expenditures of the town of Quincy, and the second of our official duties, is herewith respectfully submitted.

APPROPRIATIONS.

The town, at the annual meeting in March last, made the following liberal appropriations, viz.: Schools, teaching, and fuel, $16,000. For all other expenses, $34,000; total amount $50,000. In a town so large as this there is continually arising wants and much needed improvements, which are unlooked for at the commencement of the year. We have endeavored to keep within the appropriations allowed and still keep pace with the times.

POOR IN ALMSHOUSE.

The same Superintendent and Matron have had the charge of the establishment as last year, and we have occasion for much gratitude to them for the care bestowed on those under their charge, the number of which has largely increased during the past year. The number of inmates remaining in the house at the commencement of the year was 8; admitted during the year, 10; discharged, 5. The present number is 13. The number of aged and female traveling paupers taken in for a night is 56.

POOR OUT OF ALMSHOUSE.

The expenditures in this department have been largely increased the past year, partly by the severity of the weather in February and March last, and more so by the operation of the act of the Legislature of 1865, relating to the settlement of soldiers and their families, and an alteration by the Legislature of last year in the laws relating to the settlement of paupers. We have very frequently been pressingly appealed to for assistance by parties who have been overtaken by sickness, accident, or death in their families, when it would be cruel to deny them, and more cruel to send whole families to the State Almshouse. In such cases, when we felt assured that a little assistance would be a great charity to them, and would but slightly increase our expenses for poor out of Almshouse, we have rendered aid. Notwithstanding all the care we could take to avoid imposition we felt that in one or two cases we have been imposed upon. The number of persons supported in lunatic hospitals during the year is seven, one of whom has died.

HIGHWAYS.

We have expended a larger sum on the highways than we intended at the beginning of the year, owing to the removing of the rails of the Quincy Railroad, which left the streets through which it passed in a poor and in some instances a dangerous condition; the building of a new town way at Quincy Point, and the severe snow storms of Feb., March, and April last, which caused an expenditure of $1,664 48, an amount unequalled since 1857.

All of our main thoroughfares are in the best condition, with the exception of Quincy Avenue, which will require important repairs during the coming spring. Granite Street, by order of the County Commissioners, is to be materially widened and straightened from its junction with Hancock Street, to the residence of Lewis Bass, Jr., said alterations to be completed in August next.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The fire department maintains its usual efficiency, and the apparatus is all in the best condition. Engines Nos. 3 and 4 have been repainted and thoroughly repaired.

CEMETERIES.

The cemeteries have continued under the same management as last year. A decided improvement has been made in the appearance of both. In the old cemetery the trees have been properly trimmed, and cleared of the underbrush which had been growing for years, serving the purpose of a bar-room screen, and a receptacle for empty bottles. The paths have been recut and gravelled. The arrest of and imposing of a fine on one person found intoxicated on the grounds has served as a warning to others, and the past season this sacred place has been the weekly resort of many of our mothers and sisters, who, from fear of meeting with some offensive object, have previously been deterred from visiting it as much as they desired. In Mount Wollaston Cemetery the improvements are of a more marked character. All the ornamental plats have been made up and filled with shrubs and plants of a hardy nature, one hundred and sixty young and thrifty trees have been set out, and many of the avenues and paths have been graded. In accordance with a vote of the town, a receiving tomb has been constructed which is an ornament to the cemetery, and is of sufficient capacity to supply the wants of the town for many years to come. This cemetery is more and more an object of care and affection to our people and must so continue; already seven hundred and eight burials have been made along its walks, and the number is yearly increasing.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The number of street lamps lighted at the expense of the town is 34, at an expense of $1,026 27.

No new guide-boards have as yet been erected, but a sufficient number is now in process of completion to replace those which have become so weather-beaten as to be illegible.

The preceding account shows the statement of the tax of 1867 as it existed on the 1st instant. Since the accounts were audited, Mr. Bass has settled the whole account with the treasurer. Those of our readers who have for so many years taken pleasure in reading the long list of delinquent tax-payers will be sadly disappointed by the present report. But what is their loss is the town's gain. The whole amount of the tax of 1868 has been paid, and with an unusually small amount of abatements. While referring to this matter, we cannot refrain from expressing our conviction, that it is policy for the town to abolish the "old foggy" system of putting up the collection of taxes at auction, and we would recommend that our successors be authorized to select and contract with some responsible person to collect the tax at a reasonable price.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

DEDICATED JUNE 25, 1868.

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

The design for the monument was made by our late lamented townsman, Mr. Chester Mitchell, of which the following is a minute description, viz. : —

“It is thirty-four feet and three inches high and weighs thirty-five tons. It rests on a rubble foundation nine and one-half feet square and six feet in depth, and contains about forty-five tons of stone. The bottom base is eight feet square and sixteen inches thick, and weighs eight tons; the second base is six and one-half feet square and eighteen inches thick, and weighs five tons. On the front side, on a raised band, are the figures 1868. The third base is five and one-half feet square and sixteen inches thick, with a heavy moulding; this stone weighs three and one-third tons. Resting on this is the die, four and one-half feet square and six and one-fourth feet high; it has a heavy circular overhanging moulding, with tablets of bronze inserted in panels on each face, with inscriptions in raised letters; the weight of stone is nine tons; this die supports a smaller die three and one-third feet square and three and one-half feet high, and weighing two and one-half tons; it has graceful overhanging mouldings, and on the front side in large raised polished letters are the words, “In honor of our Patriot Soldiers.” On the opposite side is the familiar shield overlaying two crossed muskets. On the right-hand side is an anchor cut in bold relief. On the left-hand side are represented two cannons and two naked swords. Most appropriate designs are happily blended in position, representing both army and navy. Above this is the shaft, clean and smooth, with the exception of the front, on which is a large raised shield, with raised letters on the same, of U. S. This is fourteen and one-half feet in height, two and one-half feet square at the base, and tapering to the top to twenty-two inches, and weighing six tons. Next comes the base of the capital, forming by its lower band the necking of the shaft. This is two and one-half feet square and fourteen inches thick, and weighs a quarter of a ton. The ornamentation of this stone is three large raised stars on each of its sides; this is surmounted by the capital, two and five-sixths feet square at the base, and four and one-half feet high, and weighing one and a quarter tons; it is pyramidical in shape, with slightly concave sides, capped with triangular sides, ornamented with large stars and a ball. The whole is a chaste, symmetrical, and beautiful monument, and is alike an honor to the town, and a fitting memorial to the Patriots who sacrificed life that our Country might live.

REPORT.

---

WE, the School Committee of the town of Quincy, in accordance with a time-honored custom, and in obedience to the laws of this Commonwealth, respectfully submit the following Report of the condition of the Public Schools of said town, for the year 1868-9, including such items of interest, suggestions, and criticisms, as we deem proper and necessary for a correct understanding by the citizens of the town, of their duties and responsibilities in the cause of popular education.

SCHOOL-HOUSES.

We have made no change in the High School-house during the year, worthy of note, as the same was put into good condition last year, so far as the inside improvements and repairs are concerned. Considerable expenditure upon the outside of the building will be necessary for the ensuing year, for the preservation of the house. One of the lower rooms of this building is still occupied by Adams Primary School No. 2. We earnestly recommend that the yard be ornamented with shade trees.

CODDINGTON SCHOOL-HOUSES.

The repairs of these buildings have been unimportant. We still continue to occupy the hall over the store of Wyman Abercrombie, Esq., for Primary No. 3, and find it better adapted for school purposes than any other available building, though the location and surroundings offer slight objections.

Primary No. 2, for want of a more suitable room, still remains in the basement of the main building.

ADAMS SCHOOL-HOUSES.

These buildings have been under the charge of the Prudential Committee during the year, and have undergone some slight alterations. Material changes have been made by him in the location of the several schools. The room formerly occupied by the Intermediate School has been taken for a portion of the Grammar School, the upper room being manifestly inadequate for the accommodation of this school, and the Intermediate has been removed to the upper room of the Stone School-house, vacated by Primary No. 2, and the last-named school transferred to the room in the High School-house, heretofore used by Primary No. 1. In the Grammar School-room new and commodious recitation seats have taken the place of inconvenient and cumbersome settees, affording much more available space in the room, and leaving the aisles free from obstruction.

WILLARD SCHOOL-HOUSES.

All of these houses have continued under the charge of the Prudential Committee of the West District, and we have noticed no material change in the same during the year. The lower room of the "Old School-house" is still used by Primary No. 3, and the Mixed Primary occupies the same room as formerly, at the "Rail."

Primary No. 2, we regret to say, continues in the basement apartment under the main building. We hope the day is not far distant when more suitable rooms will be furnished for three of the Primary Schools of this district, and when they will be so located that the grading heretofore attempted, can be fully carried out.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL-HOUSES.

The Washington School-house proper has been newly and thoroughly painted on the outside, since our last Report. New curtains have been substituted through most of the rooms, in lieu of the old ones worn out in the service, and, by means of additional desks, provision has been made for the increase in the number of scholars belonging to the Grammar School.

QUINCY SCHOOL-HOUSE.

The Prudential Committee of the North District has made various repairs on this building during his term of office. It has been newly painted, inside as well as outside; a new pump placed in the well, and new desks added to the Grammar School-room. The rapidly increasing population of this district renders additional school accommodations imperatively necessary. The present rooms are clearly too small to seat the present members of the school, to say nothing of the probable immediate increase. It is evident that a new school must be soon established in this district, and we know of no room that can be procured therefor.

Under all the circumstances we feel justified in recommending to the town the erection of a new school-house, with accommodations to meet the future wants of the district, this being, in our judgment, the most beneficial and economical manner of dealing with the necessities of the case.

CRANE SCHOOL-HOUSE.

No changes have been made on this building during the year.

GRADING OF THE SCHOOLS.

In the matter of grading our schools we labor under the same difficulties as heretofore, from causes set forth in detail in former Reports, and obvious to any one familiar with the location of our school-buildings. Whenever a change has been suggested in grading, which renders additional travel necessary, it has almost universally been followed by a decided opposition on the part of parents interested.

Therefore we have delayed some alterations which in our judgment would in the main be advantageous, notwithstanding weighty objections, rather than to press upon the residents of any portion of the town a grading that would be manifestly distasteful to them. Few changes have been made during the year, and then only in those sections where the fluctuating nature of the population has rendered it necessary.

We still regret the defect in grading in the Willard Primaries, arising from the isolated location of one of those schools. The removal of the Mixed Primary from the "Rail," and consolidation with the other schools, is the only remedy known to us. About the middle of the year, and after the annual promotions, we found the Adams Grammar School-room far too small to even seat its pupils, — the school at that time numbering one hundred and twenty-eight members. We also found the classes so large that the time allowed each member was unreasonably short. After much consideration it was deemed advisable (though not without objections) to make an additional promotion from the Intermediate School, and add another assistant to the Grammar Department. This change necessitated the use of the Intermediate room for such department of the Grammar, and the fourth class of the school was transferred to this room, under the charge of their former assistant, still being members of the Grammar Department, and under the control of its principal.

The manifest want of sufficient school-rooms presented a formidable obstacle. The Prudential Committee was notified to furnish sufficient accommodations for the several schools, and he placed the Intermediate in the upper room of the "Stone School-house," and transferred the Primary No. 2 to the High School-house. After very careful deliberation, we concluded, as a choice of evils, to discontinue Primary No. 1, and that school was therefore divided between Primary No. 2 and the Intermediate Schools.

The evils arising from a want of proper grading still continue in the Point District; but an attempt on the part of the Committee to effect a union of the two Primary Schools, and a re-division of the scholars according to their relative advancement, met with such decided opposition on the part of the citizens of the "Neck" village, that we have not thought it best to press the matter in that form.

A change is loudly called for in the Quincy Schools, and your committee are unanimously of the opinion, considering the size of the Grammar and Primary Schools, and the rapidly increasing population of the North District, that an Intermediate Department is a present and permanent necessity; and we recommend the establishment of an Intermediate School as soon as sufficient school-rooms can be furnished.

Your Committee contemplate the consolidation of Coddington Primaries No. 2 and 3, owing to the diminished number of pupils in those schools.

We found after the summer promotions, that, owing to the limited numbers of the High School, we could dispense with the labors of one assistant, and during the remainder of the year the principal and one assistant have carried on the school.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

Continued attention has been given to the subject of our Primary Schools, of which we have thirteen at present. We are more fully convinced that too much care and attention cannot be given to the selection of teachers for this important position. It is here that children, with no habits of thought and study, with all the variations of talent, temperament, and disposition, fresh from every shade of home-culture and influence, from domestic restraint, freedom or license, some wild, wayward, and restless, some giddy and reckless, and others staid and mature beyond their years, with little or no knowledge of what is right or wrong save such as they have learned from the narrow circle of their village homes, or from the dangerous influences of the street, are thrown together under the charge of one teacher, and that teacher is expected to bring order and system out of those chaotic and discordant elements, stimulating where persuasion is necessary, checking where restraint is required, and forcing where force only will avail.

Is it a matter of wonder that among the number annually employed in this most difficult position, some should fail to reach that standard requisite to complete success? We consider it rather a matter of surprise that so few entirely fail, and so many are even tolerably successful.

It can but be conceded that this grade of schools, forming the basis of popular education, where habits of thought and study are, or should be, formed by the young; habits that for good or evil will cling to them through life (and, if for evil, will blemish all their after course), should receive our most earnest care and consideration; especially in schools graded like ours, where each has its specific portion of work to perform, and if not accomplished there, then never done, and where, if poorly done, it will remain defective, almost beyond the hope of correction. Can a Committee, realizing the weighty responsibility that rests upon them, as legal guardians of these schools, and responsible for their success or failure, both to the present and the future, be justly censured if they shall require their candidates to bring energy, ability, and experience to their work, when such qualities are obtainable? New applicants often say, "I should not dare to try anything but a Primary School." They had better say, "I dare try anything but a Primary School."

In everything but pure muscular force, the Primary Department requires the rarest combination of qualities that go to make up a model teacher. Gentleness blended with firmness, and tempered with judgment, energy and enthusiasm, combined with, and regulated by, moderation and prudence, — these and all the cardinal virtues are needful for this position. Feeling that in the discharge of our several duties, personal preferences and local considerations should be made subservient to the public good, we have endeavored to act accordingly, and if in any case we have given offence this is our only excuse.

With two or three exceptions we feel that our several Primary teachers have been reasonably successful, and have merited the approbation of the Board. Most of them have been with us for years, during which time they have labored with an earnestness of purpose highly commendable; making from time to time such improvements as their increasing experience dictated, and always willing and zealous to profit by the hints and suggestions of the Committee. We very much regret that two or three of these schools are sadly deficient in discipline, and in several qualities necessary to entire success. We would emphatically urge upon our Primary teachers an increased attention to the elementary sounds of the letters, to a correction of faulty enunciation, and to the several elements indispensable to an accomplished vocal culture, as we are firmly convinced that many of the present defects in the reading of our Grammar Schools have their origin in a want of due attention to these essentials in the Primary Departments. We shall earnestly look forward to a radical improvement in this respect.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

We have at present but four Intermediate Schools in town, all of which are doing their allotted work to the satisfaction of the Committee. We speak of them more in detail under their several heads.

The Adams Intermediate continues under the charge of Mrs. Emily A. Hardwick, whose reputation as a teacher is well and favorably known through the town, and its general standing is still good; but, owing to substantial changes in the composition of this school, made toward the close of the term, and mentioned elsewhere, the closing examination in some respects was not quite up to the standard of former ones. We feel satisfied that the work of another term will restore the school to its accustomed position.

The Coddington Intermediate, under the efficient control of Miss Mary A. Holbrook, a teacher of long and successful experience in the various schools of the town, is entitled to its usual meed of praise. The resignation of the teacher at the close of the year is deeply regretted by all who have the interest of this school at heart. As she leaves her public duties, she has the best wishes and sincere congratulations of the Committee.

The Washington Intermediate has been fortunate in retaining the services of its former teacher, Miss H. A. French, another year. With the devotion and fidelity which she brings into the discharge of her duties, united with the hearty co-operation and confidence of the parents, success with her has become a certainty.

Miss Carrie L. Rideoute, who succeeded Miss A. C. Foster in the charge of the Willard Intermediate, has manifested an energy and interest in the fulfilment of the trust reposed in her which have told most beneficially upon the character of her school, and ranked her among our good teachers. We regretted to notice some poor reading in a portion of one of her classes, caused by frequent and continued absence from the school-room.

CRANE SCHOOL.

The Crane School yet labors under the misfortune of being entirely ungraded, and from its location can but remain so. In October, we received the resignation of Miss M. Lizzie Cobb, who was called to a more profitable situation elsewhere, and Miss L. E. Walker was elected to fill the vacancy. The order of the school at the last examination was not what we could have wished, and the advancement in the higher classes, especially in Arithmetic, did not wholly meet our expectations.

This may be attributed in part to the natural interruption of the school caused by a change of teachers in the midst of the term.

Miss Walker has the confidence of the parents and friends of the pupils, and, as we are satisfied of her ability and purpose to advance their interests, we shall look for the good results of her influence and labor upon the future of the school.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

All our Grammar Schools, five in number, we believe to be in good hands, and manifesting decided progress, under teachers of experience and acknowledged ability. A more detailed report of each of these schools is given below.

ADAMS GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

The Adams Grammar has shown decided improvement during the past year. Under the charge of Mr. Dewing and his assistants, Miss Carrie L. P. Torry and Miss Annie L. Thayer, it has become established upon a sound and healthy basis. This is the largest school in town, the register now showing a list of one hundred and forty-seven. The size of the school has necessitated the employment of an additional assistant, as has been elsewhere noted, and the last examination satisfied us that the persevering labor of the teachers has not been without its due reward.

CODDINGTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

Mr. H. B. Brown and Miss Annie L. Arnold have had the Coddington Grammar School under their care during the year, and under their supervision it still holds the position of one of the leading schools in the town.

Both of these teachers have devoted themselves with zeal and fidelity to the performance of their duty, and, aided by the co-operation of the pupils, have succeeded in accomplishing satisfactory results. At the last examination, one of the Grammar classes failed to reach the standard of excellence fixed by the school in this and other studies; but, with this exception, the several recitations deserve and receive our approbation.

In this school the study of Geography has been pursued somewhat outside of the text-book, in connection with kindred topics, illustrating and giving practical interest to what, in many cases, proves to be a mere recital of barren names; and the readiness of the answers to various miscellaneous questions tends to confirm our opinion as to the advantages of this method of instruction.

WASHINGTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

The Washington Grammar School has continued through the year under the charge of Mr. B. T. Hillman, with Miss Dora A. French as assistant.

The same good order which has heretofore characterized the school has been noticeable throughout the term and at both examinations. We believe that much good and thorough work has been done during the year by both teachers and scholars. We think that few teachers have labored with more earnestness, honesty, and fidelity than these. The exercises at the closing examination were quite satisfactory, though seriously marred by an indistinctness and want of voice in recitation, and in that energy needful to complete success. We think the declamations at our last visit worthy of special mention.

WILLARD GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

The Willard Grammar School with Mr. Granville S.

Webster as principal, and Miss S. V. Wilde as assistant, is holding a favorable rank among the most successful of our Grammar Schools. With excellent order, and energy and thoroughness highly praiseworthy, we can but expect much of this school while it continues under its present guidance. The school is very large, numbering one hundred and fifteen during the first term, and one hundred and thirteen in the second term, rendering the labors of the teachers extremely arduous.

QUINCY GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

The Quincy Grammar School has, since our last Report, increased in numbers and advanced in scholarship and general position. It is unfavorably situated for competition with some of our other Grammar Schools, by reason of the want of proper grading in the schools below and its consequent mixed character, and also for the reason that the whole charge of it devolves upon one teacher.

The increase in population in this district will soon necessitate enlarged school accommodations, with which we shall look for a removal of the evils above alluded to, and in consequence thereof a still further advancement in the grade of this school. Mr. Lewis F. Hobbs has continued his instructions through the year with marked success, and we feel it due to him to say that we think the last examination one of the most satisfactory which we have ever attended in this school.

HIGH SCHOOL.

We are pleased to report the High School as in a satisfactory condition, though we regret to notice its decrease in numbers. We hope that our Grammar Schools will see that vacancies are filled at the next fall term.

Mr. H. A. Keith has succeeded the former principal, and we are pleased to see a High School scholar holding the post of principal with credit to himself and profit to the school. Miss Annette E. Long continues to discharge responsibly and well the duties of assistant, while the place left vacant by the resignation of Miss L. P. Cole has, on account of the small number of scholars, been left unfilled, the principal and Miss Long dividing the responsibility before imposed on the assistant in the English Department. We believe that in this school may be found opportunities for training and development, which shall fit those disposed to make them available, either for business or college life, and that as a means of cultivation and enlargement of the minds of our rising generation, this institution is exerting and is destined to exert an influence for good in our town, of inestimable value. Here the pursuit of learning shall become a pleasure, and students shall begin to see the unity and harmonious completeness of studies which perhaps, before, have seemed abstract, disjointed, and uninteresting.

READING.

Among the many essentials of a finished education, if not of the fine arts, none are greater than good reading ; and this we believe to be true whether considered as an accomplishment merely, or as a literary aid to true scholarship. By good reading we mean not only the intellectual understanding and rendering of given sentences, expressed in words ; for every word may be correctly pronounced, every idea of the writer understood and given, every point of punctuation receive its due attention, and yet the reading be far, very far from satisfactory, yes, positively bad. One of the prime essentials, after a clear and distinct enunciation, and a faultless pronunciation, is expression, and this is where, in our opinion, the greatest failures occur in our schools.

We do not expect all scholars to make finished elocutionists, but we think they should acquire sufficient dramatic conception and execution to adapt the voice somewhat to the character of the piece to be read. And yet, too many of the scholars in our Grammar and High Schools, even if they give sufficient attention to the piece selected for reading, to gain a tolerably thorough understanding of the subject-matter, render it in a style wholly unbecoming the nature of the piece. It is not uncommon to hear a schoolboy shout to the full capacity of his lungs : —

“How sweet the moonlight sleeps upon this bank!” —

while the next in the class, in a voice, inaudible across the school-room, attempts to imitate the cry of the terrified Turkish sentry, when on being surprised by the foe he shouts along the lines : —

“To arms! They come! The Greek! The Greek!”

Another renders the beautiful and touching lines of the soldier, dying at Algiers, to his sister in her far-off home : —

“Tell my sister not to weep for me and sob with drooping head,
When the troops come marching home again with glad and gallant tread,” with the same stress, power, and energy as this direful warning of the Seer : —

“Ha! laugh'st thou, Lochiel, my vision to scorn, Proud bird of the mountain, thy plume shall be torn!”

We have seen our pupils, ranking well in general scholarship and literary culture, carry Sheridan so ungracefully over his historic ride, that never did his panic-stricken soldiers rejoice more sincerely to see their favorite commander before them, than did we when the reader landed him safely in Winchester. We make these random suggestions with no intent at personality, but with a desire to awaken in the pupils of our more advanced schools a renewed and careful attention to this too much neglected branch of study. But it should be remembered that no piece can be well read, with which the reader is not familiar, for otherwise much of the attention must be directed to the mastery of the words merely, leaving him little or no chance to attend to other matters equally important to success in this department of study.

HISTORY.

Taken together the recitations in History were the least to our satisfaction of any which we heard. Probably this was owing in some measure to the manner in which the questions were proposed by the Committee, differing from that to which the pupils had been accustomed; but we do not think that this will explain it entirely. It seems to us that there are certain leading points upon which the scholars should be thoroughly at home, so that the mere mention of them would bring the whole subject matter readily and freely to mind, not in all its details, but in its outline features. The word Puritan, for instance, should suggest to the scholar at once, who the Puritans were, why they left England, where they went, why they came to America, and how, where they landed, and when, etc., etc. Not mere words committed to memory, but facts laid up in store for use when wanted. We are inclined to the opinion that the text-book used by us, though an excellent one in many respects, is not elementary enough in its construction to accomplish the best work in schools constituted like ours. We would recommend the plan adopted, we believe, by one of our teachers, of selecting the most material facts, and by special questions prepared so as to call attention thereto, or in some other way, fixing them in the mind as central points, to which the learners may afterwards add minor details, as time and opportunity may admit.

So far as we can judge, the Willard and Coddington Grammar Schools, especially the former, seem to have made the most substantial progress in this study.

GRAMMAR.

We think the study of Grammar in our schools has been too much neglected. At the next examination we hope to see more progress made in this useful branch of education in our Grammar Schools, so that our pupils on entering the High School may be able to take up its higher studies without embarrassment or obstruction. Then the High School will be in this respect what it was intended it should be, a High School, not a Grammar School.

Many of our pupils, who have been as far as Percentage in Written Arithmetic, cannot be said really to have much knowledge of Grammar. Whether it be the fault of the text-book, or some other cause, an unfavorable prejudice in the minds of many is created against the study. The study of language is by many esteemed of little importance, save to those engaged in professional pursuits. This is a mistaken feeling, which a moment's thought will dispel. Certainly nothing is more fundamental and absolutely essential to education, than a knowledge of the power and use of language. A practical knowledge of English Grammar is indispensable to every person who makes pretensions to a moderate share of education.

In every study, as well as in our reading and conversation, we have to deal with words. It is not enough that a person can speak and write with comparative correctness; he needs also a knowledge of the powers and relations of words, and the correct use of language. Grammar does much for the pupil in the way of mental discipline, if he applies his mind to it. This study reaches the most profound depths of intellectual philosophy, requiring deep penetration and keen powers of discrimination to develop, understand, and make critical application of it. Hence the importance of an earnest attention to the study of Grammar.

We think that teachers should introduce much oral instruction in their grammatical exercises; by so doing they will make deep and lasting impressions of the elements of this science on the mind of the pupil. They should not begin, as some teachers do, with the dry rules and definitions of grammar, drilling the class on them week after week, and term after term. We would have the pupils taught Grammar as one "learns the carpenter's trade, using the tools first, or as one learns to sing by sounding as well as naming, the notes." In this manner the pupil would learn the use of language properly, by the application of rules rather than by their mere verbal repetition.

Let Grammar be taught in this practical way, in its actual relations to our spoken and written language, and not as a system of senseless and barren technicalities, making this useful study repulsive, dry, and hard to the scholar, causing him in many cases to baptize his grammar in tears, and to become as Shakspeare describes him: —

"The whining schoolboy, with his satchel
And shining morning face, creeping like snail, Unwillingly to school."

WRITING.

We believe that Penmanship, in the several schools, has not received its due share of attention, though we find some excellent specimens.

We desire that special attention may be given to writing the ensuing year.

SPELLING.

The Spelling appears to be fully up to the standard of former years, and in several of the classes, at the closing examinations, it was quite gratifying.

MUSIC.

Reasons, more specially mentioned in our last Report, still continuing in force, we have not found it desirable to make use of any part of the amount appropriated for instruction in music; but we have relied, as heretofore, upon such assistance as the several teachers have been able to render in their respective schools. We are still of the opinion that the practice of music exerts a beneficial effect upon the minds of scholars, serving as a relief from more severe studies, and throwing a cheerful, refining, and harmonizing influence over the school; and we would urge upon the teachers to give as much attention to this subject as they can do, consistently with the discharge of other duties. But, for reasons alluded to, we do not deem it necessary to ask for any appropriation for this purpose. We had reason to expect good singing in the Coddington Grammar School-room, and were not disappointed. The singing, in many of the other schools, was very creditable, and we are glad to commend Miss Rideoute's instruction in the Willard Intermediate, in the reading of written music. A duet, sung by two young misses in the Adams Grammar School, was listened to by us with positive pleasure. We believe there is much musical talent, latent in our school children, which only waits development. It ought to be made available. We regret to think that, through inattention to this pleasing accomplishment, the pupils in the High School are doing themselves injustice.

GYMNASTICS.

The usual attention has been given to the physical exercises during the year; though, in some of the overcrowded schools, they have been partially dispensed with.

Considering the amount of travel to which the pupils of some of the higher schools are subject, together with the fact that they suffer little for want of exercise, — finding free gymnastics in their several homes, as well as in the workshops and the fields, when not engaged in the school-room, — we do not regard the omission of vital importance, in these upper schools, though we would not omit them in the schools of lower grades.

APPROPRIATION.

It is shown by the statistical table of "Estimated Expenses of Schools," hereto appended and made a part of this Report, computing the State School Fund, and the income of the Coddington Fund on the basis of last year, that we shall need an appropriation by the town of $16,125 to meet the current expenses for teaching and fuel for the ensuing school year.

GENERAL REMARKS.

While, with two or three exceptions, we wish to commend the present condition of our schools, and are of the opinion that it will compare favorably with that of former years; still we cannot but think that our scholars, as a whole, do not make that advancement which should be expected from the time and care devoted to them.

It would seem that an aggregate life, between the ages of five and thirteen years, spent in our schools, should reach higher and broader results than those attained by our pupils in general. To read and write fairly, to "cipher" as far as Square Root, some outline knowledge of Grammar, a few fragmentary historical ideas relating to the United States, some general acquaintance with Geography, — this, substantially, makes up the sum total of result with the majority of scholars.

Why are these things so? Is this all that should be expected in the way of profit on the investment made? Is our ideal too high? Perhaps so; but to us it seems otherwise. What are the causes of this failure, if it be one? We are not practical educationists, but, to a great extent, theorists only ; and therefore we submit with hesitancy and diffidence one or two suggestions which have occurred to us as perhaps worth examination.

We do not wish to be considered as finding fault with our teachers. We believe them to be a corps of capable, conscientious persons, laudably proud of their high profession, and devoted and willing to labor hard and long for the attainment of the highest good of those under their charge.

Is the defect in the methods of instruction, or in the system itself? It does not seem to us that our scholars study very hard, — perhaps not hard enough. We do not believe in over pressure, but under pressure is also faulty. There seems to be a lack of a spirit of emulation and generous rivalry. We believe that a stimulus to exertion on the part of the pupils might be found in the cultivation of this spirit. Do they not travel too much in ruts, the rate of progress of the better, being restrained and impeded by the deficiencies of the poorer members of the class? The former feel that they can maintain their position without effort, and they make but little. All that is expected of them is to keep up with their class. Can they not be induced to do more, to study lessons in advance, until they can fit themselves to join a higher class, without waiting for the year to roll round, and roll them into a place which they should have occupied much earlier? It seems as if there should be several, in each school of seventy-five scholars, who would literally run away from the others. Might it not be well, frequently, to form and reform classes, according to individual and collective ability, without reference to months or years? Could not some way be devised in order to lessen the number of recitations, which, as now arranged, fill up the whole of the teacher's time, with, perhaps, but a question or two to each scholar, so that, in certain studies, — Grammar, or History, in the Grammar Schools, for instance, — the instruction could be given to the whole school at once. Instead of having so many studies on the same day, might it not be well to lessen the number, and devote a large part of the time to some special study? perhaps even to the extent of devoting a week's time principally to Arithmetic, then the like time to Geography, and so on, with reading, writing, and spelling, and some review of previous studies, for the sake of variety.

These ideas will not, of course, be understood as being elaborated, but only hinted at.

Absence from school is well known to be a serious evil, and an absolute injury to the constant members of the class. The remedy lies largely and principally with the parents.

Any method of teaching by which the topic taught can be made interesting and practical, rather than abstract, should receive consideration at the hands of our teachers. This means "object teaching," and the making a few central ideas the child's own, around which it shall be a pleasure to him to cluster associated thoughts. Greater freedom from textbooks on the part of some of the teachers is, perhaps, desirable. Thoughts and not words, substance instead of form, the real thing itself and not its name, are what we would have so incorporated into the mind of the child that it actually becomes a part of it by adoption.

We cannot conclude this Report without a renewal of our grateful acknowledgments to you, citizens of Quincy, for your manifold expressions of confidence, as evinced in private acts, as well as in the hearty public responses with which you have ever answered our calls for aid, when made in the name and in behalf of your common schools.

As it has ever been, so shall it continue to be, our aim carefully to avoid anything that may be construed into an abuse of that confidence. Therefore, following the judicious precedents of former years, we present for your consideration a detailed schedule of the estimated expenses of the schools for the ensuing year, based mainly upon our present prices, in such a manner that no one can misunderstand the purpose for which the expenditure is to be applied. From the freedom and readiness with which the town has ever made its needful appropriations, we cannot distrust your good judgment and generous intent upon a subject so vitally connected with your best and dearest interests as is the welfare and education of the rising generation, committed to your custody and care.

If in this Report we shall seem to indulge in more than our wonted spirit of criticism, let it not be construed into an expression of dissatisfaction with teachers or scholars, but as dictated by an earnest desire to awaken such a renewed interest, that we can point with an increasing pride to the public schools of Quincy as occupying no inferior position among those of this good old Commonwealth.

CHAPTER VII.

GENERAL REGULATIONS OF THE SCHOOLS.—DUTIES OF TEACHERS.

SECTION 1. All Teachers in the Public schools are required to make themselves familiar with these Regulations; and the least violation of any one of them shall be considered a fair ground of complaint against any Teacher.

SECT. 2. The morning exercises of all the schools shall commence with reading the Bible, and it is recommended that the reading be followed by prayer.

SECT. 3. The Teachers shall devote themselves earnestly and exclusively to the duties of the school-room during the school term and school hours established by the Committee, and no absence shall be allowable, except for sickness, without previous notice to the Sub-Committee, and permission obtained.

SECT. 4. When a Teacher is absent on account of sickness for more than a week, the bill shall not be allowed for the time of absence, except by a special vote of the Board; and no Substitute shall be employed for more than one day at a time without the approbation of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 5. Teachers shall have the privilege of taking two days in each term to visit any school or schools.

SECT. 6. It shall be the duty of the Teachers to see that the fires are made in time to warm their respective school-rooms before the hour appointed for opening their schools; and also that the school-rooms, entries, and out-houses are kept in a neat condition.

SECT. 7. Teachers shall aim at such discipline in their schools as would be exercised by a kind and judicious parent in his family ; and shall avoid corporal punishment in all cases where good order can be preserved by milder measures. And it shall be the duty of the several Teachers to keep a record of all instances of inflicting corporal punishment, which they shall exhibit to their respective Sub-Committees at each monthly visitation, when said record shall be erased.

SECT. 8. It shall be the duty of all the Teachers to give vigilant attention to the ventilation and temperature of their respective school-rooms. A regular system of ventilation shall be practised, in winter as well as in summer ; and the temperature of the rooms shall be kept as nearly as possible at 66° Fahrenheit.

SECT. 9. The Teachers shall carefully observe and follow that requirement of the State Laws which enjoins it upon "all instructors of youth to exert their best endeavors to impress on the minds of children and youth committed to their care and instruction, the principles of piety and justice, and a sacred regard to truth ; love of their country, humanity, and universal benevolence ; sobriety, industry, and frugality ; chastity, moderation, and temperance, and those other virtues which are the ornament of human society and the basis upon which a republican constitution is founded ; and it shall be the duty of such instructors to endeavor to lead their pupils, as their ages and capacities will admit, into a clear understanding of the tendency of the above-mentioned virtues to preserve and perfect a republican constitution, and secure the blessings of liberty, as well as to promote their future happiness ; and also to point out to them the evil tendency of the opposite vices."

SECT. 10. It shall be the duty of the several Teachers to exercise, so far as practicable, a general inspection over their pupils while going to school and returning home ; and the Principals of the several Grammar Schools shall, in addition to their present powers, have jurisdiction over all the scholars belonging to their several buildings, so far as the preservation of order and good conduct about the school-house premises, outside of the school-rooms, is concerned.

SECT. 11. Any Teacher may exclude from school for the time being any pupil who shall exhibit habitual disobedience to the rules of the school, or who shall be known to be guilty of habitual immoralities, or habitual rudeness, or impropriety of manners; and the Teacher shall immediately inform the parent or guardian of the child of such exclusion, and shall apply to the Sub-Committee for advice and direction. The Sub-Committee may prescribe any temporary exclusion which may be desirable, and such scholar shall be admitted to no other school without the vote of the Board, and the Sub-Committee shall report all such cases at the meeting of the Board next following the expulsion; and no permanent expulsion shall be made except by the Board.

SECT. 12. The Teachers of all the schools shall be required to fill up with accuracy the blanks prepared for school returns, and to hand the same to their respective Sub-Committees, duly signed, at the close of each term; and accompany them with such suggestions in writing as may seem to deserve the attention of the Committee, and to be for the welfare of their schools.

SECT. 13. No Principal shall on any account leave his school in charge of his Assistant, without special permission of the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 14. The doors of the several school-houses and school-rooms shall be opened, and the Teachers shall be present for the reception of the scholars, at least ten minutes before the time fixed for the schools to begin. The Teachers shall require the scholars to be in their seats, and shall commence and close the exercises of the schools punctually at the prescribed hours.

SECT. 15. No Teacher shall make any purchase at the expense of the Town, without first obtaining the consent of the Sub-Committee.

DUTIES OF PUPILS.

SECT. 16. No pupil or other person shall cut, deface, defile, or otherwise injure the school-buildings, or furniture thereof, or the fences, trees, shrubbery, or any other property thereto belonging; and any pupil or other person suspected of being guilty of such an offence shall be reported forthwith by the Teacher to the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 17. No child who comes to school without proper attention having been given to the cleanliness of his person and of his dress, or whose clothes have not been properly repaired, shall be permitted to remain in school, but shall be sent home to be prepared for school in a proper manner.

SECT. 18. Tardiness shall be subject to such penalty as in each case the Teacher may think proper. Pupils absent from school must, on returning, bring an excuse for such absence; and any pupil absent for more than two half days in any month for other causes than sickness or family bereavement, shall be reported to the Sub-Committee at the next monthly visitation, and no pupils so reported shall be allowed to remain in the school unless by the consent of the Sub-Committee. Every pupil, wishing on any day to be dismissed before the close of the session, must assign satisfactory reasons therefor, and obtain the consent of the Teacher. Teachers having charge of pupils who are habitually truant, shall, with the approval of their respective Sub-Committees, report their names, residences, and the names of their parents or guardians, to the Truant Officers of the town.

SECT. 19. Children not less than five years of age may be admitted into the Primary Department without an examination.

SECT. 21. Every scholar in the Primary Schools shall be provided with a slate, and shall employ the time not otherwise occupied, in drawing, printing, or writing.

SECT. 22. The School year shall begin on the first Monday in February, and end on the day next preceding the first Monday in February following. It shall consist of two terms; the First Term to begin on the first Monday in February, and the Second Term to begin on the first Monday after the close of the summer vacation.

SECT. 23. The several schools shall commence at 9 o'clock A. M. and 2 P. M. from April to September; and at 9 o'clock A. M. and 1½ P. M. from September to April; provided, however, that other hours may be substituted by the respective Sub-Committees when the convenience of pupils and parents may render it expedient, subject to the approval of the Board. These hours shall not be altered without permission of the Sub-Committees.

SECT. 24. There shall be a recess of fifteen minutes in length during each half day; and every pupil shall be allowed his full recess; although he may, for punishment, not be permitted to take it at the regular time with the school, and in addition to the usual recesses, there shall be, in the Primary Schools of the lowest grade, two intermissions of study, of five minutes each, in each half day; the first intermission to take place midway between the opening of school and the recess; and the second intermission midway between the recess and the close of the session.

VACATIONS AND HOLIDAYS.

SECT. 25. There shall be the following holidays and vacations:—

Every Saturday; Washington's Birthday; Fast day; May day; the week immediately preceding the first Monday in June; the 4th of July; the six weeks immediately preceding the first Monday in September; Thanksgiving week; Christmas day; New Year's day; and the week immediately preceding the first Monday in February;—and the Chairman of the Board is authorized to suspend the schools on such public occasions as he may think proper, not exceeding three days in the year. No other holidays shall be allowed, except by special vote of the Board; and no school shall be suspended on any other occasion, except for special and important reasons relating to a particular school, and then only by express permission of the Sub-Committee.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SECT. 26. No subscription or contribution, for any purpose whatever, shall be introduced into any Public School. No person shall read to the pupils in any school, or post upon the walls of any school building, or fences of the same, any advertisement. Nor shall any agent or other person be permitted to enter any school for the purpose of exhibiting either to Teacher or pupil any new book or article of apparatus.

SECT. 27. The school-houses shall not be opened or used for any other purpose than the regular instruction of the public schools, except under the direction of the Sub-Committees respectively.

SECT. 28. The text-books used and the studies pursued in all the Public Schools shall be such and such only as may be authorized by the Board. The several Teachers shall be at liberty to avail themselves of such books as they may deem useful for the purpose of illustration and example; but the pupils shall not be required to furnish themselves with any but the prescribed text-books. It shall be the duty of the several Teachers to keep a list of all the books supplied to the pupils by the Town, and take charge of all such books when such pupils shall leave the school, and to furnish the books again upon the order of the Committee to any other pupils needing them.

SECT. 29. Written Compositions shall be required of all the pupils in the High and Grammar Schools.

SECT. 30. Declamations shall be required of all the boys in the High and Grammar Schools.

SECT. 31. Singing and Gymastics shall be taught and practised daily in all the schools.

SECT. 2. The Principal of each Grammar School or Mixed School shall notify those members of his own first class to whom he can give a certificate of good moral character and presumed literary qualifications, to appear at the High School room on the day appointed, when they shall present their certificates to the Chairman of the Board. No books, manuals, private explanations, or communication by one pupil to another will be allowed.

SECT. 3. Candidates shall be examined in all the studies pursued in the Grammar Schools of the Town, and a thorough knowledge of such studies shall be indispensable to admission.

SECT. 4. Special applicants may be admitted if they are found qualified in the studies required for admission, and also in the studies of the classes they propose to join.

SECT. 5. There shall be one daily session of this School, commencing at 9 o'clock and ending at 2 o'clock, from September to April, and beginning at 8 o'clock and ending at 1 o'clock from April to September.

SECT. 6. The time allowed each day for recess shall be thirty minutes, the recess to be given in such portions as in the judgment of the Principal shall be best for the pupils.

SECT. 7. Any pupils who through neglect or idleness shall render, in the course of three months, less than seventy-five per cent. of perfect lessons upon the whole number of lessons required, shall be reported to the Sub-Committee.

SECT. 8. Every pupil who shall have completed a three-years' course of study in this school shall receive a Diploma.

REPORT.

WE, the School Committee of the Town of Quincy, herein submit our Annual Report of the progress and condition of our Public Schools for the year 1869-70.

We do not deem it our duty nor this the time or place to deal in strictly personal criticisms as to the methods of instruction adopted by our several teachers, or their capacities to govern their respective schools. We think that duty should be discharged in a more private manner, in perfect freedom and candor, as becomes the official connection between Teachers and Committee and that it only becomes us to offer such a detailed report as shall give the voters of the town a good and fair understanding of the general condition of the schools under our charge, and the manner in which their appropriations have been expended, in order that they may thereby be enabled to act promptly and understandingly upon all questions relating to the schools of the town.

SCHOOL-HOUSES.

Upon the matter of school-houses we have little to report, as the town at a special meeting placed their custody in other hands, and we willingly relinquished the onerous duty to the Selectmen, under whose supervision they have remained during the remainder and greater part of the year. We shall only find occasion to speak of them incidentally in cases where the matter directly affects the progress of the schools and the cause of education generally.

GRADING OF THE SCHOOLS.

Very slight changes have been made in the grading of the schools since the last report, though we are fully aware that manifest defects still exist, which we earnestly desire to reform, whenever the same can be accomplished without incurring still greater inconveniences.

Foremost among these is the serious want of a system in the grading of the Washington Schools. As at present graded, we have two Primary Departments, — one at the Point, and one at the Neck, — pursuing nearly the same course of study, both graduating into the Intermediate School, and neither of them having a class corresponding with the First Primary Departments in other portions of the town. As a necessary consequence, the Intermediate School occupies but little advance from the First Primaries of the town; and the first class of this school is pushed into the Grammar Department with one year of study less than that of the other schools of the same nominal grade, by reason whereof the latter depart-labors under a serious disadvantage throughout the entire year. Two plans commend themselves to the Committee to remedy this defect, one of which has been set forth in detail in our reports for several years, but thus far has failed to meet with the approbation of the people of that locality. We refer to the removal of the Neck School-house to some easily accessible point, or the erection of a new school-house at such point. This being done, these Primary Departments may be properly graded, and the members of these schools equalized. The other plan contemplates the establishment of a new school within the Point limits.

Thus far, the Committee have hesitated to form such new school, the number of scholars, at some seasons, scarcely seeming to warrant it.

But since the recent act of the Legislature, authorizing towns to convey pupils, at the public charge, from one section of the town to another, the pupils of the Crane School may be so conveyed to the Point at a comparatively small expense, and thus one school be discontinued, except, perhaps, in the most inclement seasons, and, at the same time, give the members of the Crane and Washington Schools the benefits of graded departments. We throw out these suggestions for the especial consideration of the two sections directly interested, hoping that they will have an opportunity to act in the matter at their next annual meeting.

We are still of opinion that the people of North Quincy have a right to demand an additional department, or, at least, further assistance in the Quincy Grammar School; but, with the present insufficient accommodations, the Committee have been unable to act in the premises.

Our suggestions in that respect in the last Report having been practically passed unheeded, the Committee to whom the matter of building was referred having as yet failed to report, and no other accommodations having been furnished us by those having the matter in charge, at the commencement of the year, your Committee consolidated Primaries No. 2 and 3. Immediately on the abolition of the district system, finding the Washington Primary No. 2 and Coddington Primary No. 2 were so crowded as to render due advancement an impossibility, we established a new line between the Centre and Point, for Primary School purposes only, in lieu of the old district lines; and, taking nearly equal numbers from each school, re-established the school in Abercrombie's Hall, which we have continued through the year.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

Our Primary Schools, of which we have the same number as last year, are, almost without exception, in a satisfactory condition, far the larger part of them being in charge of the same efficient teachers as heretofore. In every case where changes have been made we have been fortunate in our selections. They are marked by almost uniform good order and energy, and in no instance during the year have we felt the necessity of a change in such new appointments. We have seldom closed a school year with more entire satisfaction with our Primary Schools than the present, even though we have added several teachers of inexperience.

Our regular teachers, retained from former years, have profited by such experience, and, amid manifold discouragements, have applied themselves with unabated enthusiasm to their several duties; and their labors have been rewarded with increasing success.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

Our four Intermediate Schools have generally given full satisfaction, and have assured the Committee of the zeal and fidelity of their teachers. Much good work has been done during the year, and, as a whole, their advancement has been satisfactory.

ADAMS INTERMEDIATE.

This school commenced the year under its former teacher, Miss Emily A. Hardwick, and continued until after the March meeting, when the teacher voluntarily closed her connection with her school, and it came under the control of Miss Emily A. Dinegan, of this town, who graduated with honor from our High School.

Commencing under difficulties, and with little experience, the teacher found the first few weeks little more than a severe struggle for its control. Her untiring energy was not without its due reward, and the latter and larger part of the year it has shown a gradual advancement, both in study and discipline; and the closing examination furnished a record worthy of the ability of the teacher.

CODDINGTON INTERMEDIATE.

This school has continued under its former teacher, Miss Sarah L. Barnes, throughout the entire year. Good order and thorough instruction have been noticeable at every visitation ; and the closing examination convinced us that both teacher and scholars have been alive to their work.

WASHINGTON INTERMEDIATE.

The beneficial effects of a uniform course of instruction and discipline is exemplified in this school. Laboring as it does under defects of grading noticeable more in detail elsewhere, with the ages of the scholars averaging less than that of any other Intermediate School in town, it fully holds its relative rank, and shows a steady advance from each semi-annual examination. Miss H. A. French, its long-trying and devoted instructor, combines the rare qualities of gentleness, patience, and firmness, so necessary to entire success.

WILLARD INTERMEDIATE.

Near the commencement of the school-year, the Prudential Committee deemed it advisable to transfer Miss Carrie L. Rideout, the former successful teacher of this school, to the Grammar Department ; and Miss Martha J. Veazie was employed to the vacancy thereby occasioned. By close application to her work, and a laudable determination to succeed, she overcame all obstacles, and gave us the assurance that, though several years absent from the school-room, she has not forgotten the requisites of success.

CRANE SCHOOL.

The Crane School (still ungraded) continued under the supervision of Miss Walker until the summer vacation. The Committee were not confident that all had been done which they could reasonably desire or expect ; though many allowances should be made in favor of a teacher in this school, its number of classes being nearly equal to its number of scholars. The Committee were fortunate in securing the services of Miss L. Jennie Butler, of Danvers, who, though inexperienced, entered upon her work with a tact, will, and energy that assured us of her certain success. But in a few weeks she felt it her duty to resign, much to our regret. After several ineffectual attempts to procure a teacher that we felt would meet with the approbation of the parents of this section, the Committee decided to place a substitute there for a short time; and Miss Abbie C. Burge, of Hollis, N. H., was placed in charge of the school, and has been continued through the remainder of the school-year.

The order of the school since it came under her charge has been entirely satisfactory, and the earnestness of purpose manifested by the teacher has been highly commendable. We cannot close our report of this school without making the suggestion, that, in the opinion of your Committee, its members (at this time numbering but eighteen) would be greatly benefited by being placed in the nearest graded schools, where their energies will be quickened by laudable emulation, and their habits of thought and study improved by close contact with other minds. These scholars may now legally be conveyed at the expense of the town, without any cost to the parents; and the town can probably make a contract for such transportation at less expense than will be required to continue this school. We hope, if this matter comes before the town at its annual meeting, the residents of this section will give it their careful consideration, and so act as to benefit the scholars belonging to this school.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

But few material changes have taken place in our Grammar Schools during the year, the same efficient corps of teachers having been continued, with a few exceptions. We shall speak of these schools more particularly hereafter.

ADAMS GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

This school, under its experienced principal, Mr. Seth Dewing, Jr., so well known to the citizens of the town, and its former faithful assistant, Miss Carrie L. P. Torrey, has received, during the year, a valuable accession in its new assistant, Miss Carrie P. Barnes of Hingham. One of the greatest impediments to the complete success of this school is the extreme irregularity of attendance. But, notwithstanding this, we feel that it has made a good degree of improvement, and in discipline and thorough scholarship has maintained a good rank among the schools of the town.

Unfortunately, the principal was detained from his duties by illness during the last weeks of the term, and at the closing examination, which threw an additional burden upon Miss Torrey, who, for nearly two weeks, labored with her own classes and those of the principal, and carried them through the examination.

CODDINGTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

If united and persistent labor are sure harbingers of success, the Coddington Grammar School, under its former teachers, Mr. H. B. Brown and Miss Annie L. Arnold, ought not to fail. This school, in the opinion of your Committee, wholly sustains its former reputation, and that of its teachers. Its closing examination was one of its best. The drawing exercises exhibited considerable genius.

WASHINGTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

Under the supervision of Mr. B. T. Hillman, assisted by Miss Dora A. French, the Washington Grammar School is making commendable progress. Considering the ages of the pupils and the want of desirable grading in the lower departments (of which we have spoken elsewhere), we feel that this school is doing a good and faithful work. The exercises at the closing examination were praiseworthy, and convinced us that its instruction is highly practical. We desire to see a greater confidence in their own ability and opinion on the part of many of these pupils. More decision and self-reliance would give an improved character to this school.

Its artistic reputation is well sustained.

WILLARD GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

The Willard Grammar School commenced the year with its successful principal, Mr. Granville S. Webster, assisted by Miss Carrie L. Rideoute, formerly of the Intermediate Department, and by their combined efforts the school took an advanced position, and won for itself and its teachers an enviable reputation. In those studies that go to make up a substantial education, the Willard School has few, if any, superiors. At the close of the summer vacation, we received with regret the resignation of the principal, who was called to a more lucrative position elsewhere; and the Committee secured the services of Mr. David A. Caldwell, of Boston, a teacher of unquestioned ability, keen perceptions, and excellent judgment, under whose supervision the school fully sustains its well-earned reputation.

QUINCY GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

This school labors under great disadvantages, when compared with the other Grammar Schools of the town. Partaking of the nature of an Intermediate and Grammar School combined, with no assistant, though the classes are numerous, with accommodations inadequate to the wants of the school, yet a decided improvement is manifest in many of the classes. An enthusiasm has of late been infused, attributable in no small degree to the energy of the teacher, Mr. Lewis F. Hobbs, who has diligently and earnestly labored to raise its rank during his long connection with the school. The exercises of the semi-annual examinations were quite satisfactory. We think the study of grammar should receive increased attention. We regret the low rate of attendance.

HIGH SCHOOL.

This school commenced the year under favorable auspices, with Mr. H. A. Keith, as principal, and Miss Annette E. Long, assistant, both having been formerly connected with the school. Nothing occurred to interrupt its rapid progress until the end of the summer term, when Miss Long tendered her resignation, having been called to a more remunerative position. By this resignation the classes under her charge suffered a heavy loss. Miss Long retired with the confidence and esteem of her pupils, and all who have the good of the school at heart. After some necessary delay the Committee employed Miss Louise J. Davis, of Haverhill, for the vacant position, and she is still retained. We believe that the instruction of this school is of a superior order, and are convinced that it is of a more practical nature than in some former years.

We would not be understood as reflecting upon the ability of its former instructors, but as expressing our firm belief that the change in the course of study is attended with good results. We still question whether further attention to the higher English studies may not be desirable.

READING.

This subject, upon which are found occasion to comment somewhat severely in our last Report, is still deserving of our further attention. We are aware that many of our teachers have applied themselves with renewed energy to this subject during the year, and with gratifying results, while in some of our schools we find little encouragement in this direction. We have noted an undue hesitancy on the part of many, and even among the older pupils of our higher departments. This we attribute to the want of sufficient practice in reading, more attention being given to reciting occasioned by continued drilling on a few selections, until the same are committed to memory. While we believe that elocutionary effect can only be given, and ease and freedom of expression acquired, by perpetual practice upon pieces thoroughly studied and even learned, yet we feel confident that one of the most important elements of successful reading is a familiarity with, and ready mastery of, words and sentences in all their many and varied combinations. Nothing becomes more absurd than a futile attempt to give dramatic effect to a selection over which the reader hobbles with unsteady and uncertain gait. It can but be noticed, even by the casual observer, that as our classes advance in literary attainments, they seem to lose much of the interest in reading and naturalness and power of expression that they possessed when in the preparatory departments. What is the cause of this falling off? Is it for want of attention to the subject, because regarded as relatively of minor importance? May it not be occasioned by the almost incoherent manner in which pupils are allowed to recite rules, definitions, and explanations, with little regard to rhetorical pauses or grammatical construction?

Can instruction in this branch be systematized? We venture to say that it can be, and suggest that it should be taught with reference to the three following objects: First, "The ability to utter written language with fluency and correctness; second, the acquisition of knowledge and mental discipline; third, the power of expressing thoughts and emotion by inflection, emphasis, and the tones of the voice." These should be pursued in the order here named. The first, which may well be termed the mechanical department of reading, is the foundation of the second, the second of the third.

The full, clear, and perfect enunciation of the sound in every syllable of a word, and the ability thus to utter with fluency the successive syllables in a sentence, constitute the true foundation of all good reading. This ability thus to utter should be perfected as far as possible in our Primary Schools, for if defective there, the defect can never afterwards be wholly cured. If properly attended to in the Primary Department comparatively little attention to this mechanical utterance will be required in the rest of the course, although it should never be lost sight of till the full course be completed.

The second object has reference to the acquisition of knowledge and to mental discipline. These should be the prominent features of this exercise throughout the whole Intermediate and at least the first half of the Grammar School course. Here the pupils should be required to understand thoroughly what they read, be able not only to define perfectly all the words in the lesson, but also to comprehend and explain the full meaning of the author, the very thoughts and sentiments expressed; yea, more,—if any moral or scientific principle be expressed, they should be taught thoroughly to comprehend and explain that principle.

Hence the necessity of furnishing them with such exercises and such only as they are able fully to comprehend.

The third requisite has reference to the highest department of reading, and but comparatively little attention should be paid to it till at least one half the Grammar-School course has been completed.

SPELLING.

We feel constrained to say that this branch of instruction has been too much neglected in all our schools—in some to a lamentable extent. “As spelling is not the chief end of man,” as this exercise is not productive of any great intellectual discipline, we do not require, nor even expect the pupils will be able to spell all the hard words in our language, but for the sake of decency, they should be able to spell with accuracy all the words most commonly used. As a general rule, those who are defectively taught in the first department of reading are apt to be poor spellers, while those who are thoroughly taught in that department are usually good spellers.

Instruction in this department, as soon as the pupil has obtained a full, clear, and perfect knowledge of the sounds of syllables and is able to write, should be confined almost exclusively to written exercises, for it is in writing that defective spelling mostly appears. Spelling should be particularly attended to in written abstracts of lessons, dictation exercises, and composition.

These combine intellectual discipline with an accurate knowledge of the orthography of our language.

PENMANSHIP.

This branch of instruction has been, in general, too much neglected, although in some schools we have seen very commendable progress, and some very excellent specimens of penmanship. We are aware that the art of writing does not contribute largely to intellectual development; but then, as it is so frequently called into requisition in after life, every pupil should possess the ability to write a neat, legible, and rapid hand.

ARITHMETIC.

The examinations in this branch of study, have almost without exception been very satisfactory in all the schools. There have, perhaps, been less failures in this than in almost any other branch of study. Perhaps the greatest defect in this branch is a want of a thorough, accurate, and ready knowledge of the tables of numbers. We hope, however, to see this remedied. Some of the schools have made the tables a matter of continued study until almost every member can recite them at random with ease and accuracy. We hope this good example will be well followed.

GEOGRAPHY.

The progress in this branch of study has been very commendable. The examinations have, on the whole, proved highly satisfactory. Some specimens of map-drawing were very excellent. The instruction in this branch has been more of an oral nature, and less confined to text-books. This we believe to be progress in the right direction. Let us have still more of it in the future. Text-books are indeed convenient and perhaps useful auxiliaries in the study of geography as well as in other branches, but text-teachers are far preferable. Pupils in this branch should be taught more by topics, more of the earth in its physical character and natural features, as affecting climate, soil, productions, commerce; as affecting the character, habits, and pursuits of the people; as affecting the progress and development of the different nations in the arts of civilization and refinement; more of it as the planet on which we live, and less of the mere abstract names of countries, cities, mountains, rivers, bays, and islands, etc.

GRAMMAR.

This study has until quite recently been regarded as the dullest and of the least importance of any in the common-school course, and we have no doubt that as formerly taught through the dry and technical medium of abstract rules and definitions, this conclusion was a natural consequence. The mass of matter required to be committed to memory was meaningless to the average of young minds, and became a mere act of memory when unaccompanied by practical illustrations. In teaching the rudiments of grammar we have strongly favored oral instruction, with copious illustrations from the common sentences of every-day life, requiring the pupil to make gradual increasing and continued application of principles and rules, making that practical which before was merely abstract. We find no difficulty in making a recitation in grammar as interesting as any study of the Grammar-School course. Although in some instances classes have fallen below the standard to which they should have attained, yet on the whole the examinations in this study have proved quite satisfactory. We here venture to suggest that more attention be given to the principles which lie at the foundation of the structure of our language, and less to mere abstract rules. Principles are the foundation of language, as well as of every science, art, profession, trade; rules are but the varied application of those principles. Principles are comparatively few, while rules may be exceedingly numerous: one principle may be the foundation of a thousand rules. Whoever thoroughly understands the principle, at once becomes master of all these rules without being obliged to commit to and retain in memory all their empty forms. Let the principles be first thoroughly taught, and the varied application of those principles will naturally suggest the rules. If grammar be the science of language, as well as the art of writing and speaking it correctly, let it be so taught.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

We have already adverted to the evil effects of removing children from school at too early an age, — some, even before entering the Grammar Department. Let us be fairly understood in this matter. We impugn the motives of none for so doing; nor do we charge any lack of what, in their judgment, constitutes a due parental regard for the welfare of their children. All do not appreciate the advantages or the benefits of education alike. But we do insist that it is the duty of every parent and guardian to give this subject his careful, candid, and deliberate consideration. Whatever may be the motives of some — and we leave it to them to determine — we are aware that many are compelled by circumstances of necessity to remove their children from school at a much earlier age than they otherwise would do. Their daily labor, as soon as they are able to work, is needed for their support. This is indeed a great misfortune. Many of these children are possessed of good natural abilities, and are, perhaps, as ambitious to learn as those in more favored circumstances. Shall these children, at so early an age, be thrown upon the community, thus unprovided and uncared for? Shall we not make some further suitable provision for their continued education and improvement, and thus, as far as possible, shield them from bad surrounding influences? Confined, as many of them are, during the day, to hard physical labor, they must and will have some recreation, some change. They are social beings. Their evenings are unemployed. They must and will have their social evening gatherings. Where shall these gatherings be? If not in places suitably provided for their continued education and improvement, why, then, either in the public streets, in places of amusement, or, it may be, in places of a still more questionable character.

Besides the children above referred to, there are many adults whose early education (from circumstances perhaps beyond their control) was too much neglected. These now feel the necessity of at least a thorough review, if not still further advancement in those branches of instruction which are of a practical business nature. We are of opinion, therefore, that evening schools should be established, and made available in all parts of the town, to adults and others, above the age of twelve years. These schools, if suitably established and properly conducted, must and will be productive of great and permanent benefit to all parties concerned. The branches pursued therein should be purely of a practical business nature, and these should be practically taught.

As many of our teachers can doubtless be induced to conduct these schools for a moderate compensation beyond their stated salaries, the expense of thus keeping them will be comparatively small. In our judgment the sum of six hundred dollars is all that will be required. We are aware that this will be an experiment; but the same experiment has been tried in many of the cities and towns, not only of this Commonwealth, but also of other states; and has, in every instance, we believe, proved an entire success; and we see no good reason why it may not prove equally successful here. We therefore respectfully recommend an appropriation of the sum of $600 to be set apart, and expended for the above purpose.

ABSENTEEISM.

Among the many impediments to the success of our common schools, none is greater than irregularity of attendance, and of this we have much to complain. We are aware that in many cases this is unavoidable, the circumstances of parents rendering them to some extent dependent on the services of their children for at least a portion of the year. While we deeply regret that this state of facts so largely exists in a flourishing town like ours, we can but feel that if parents would give this matter the attention its importance merits, and, practising a healthy and rigid self-denial, see that their children are in the school-room when not absolutely needed, our school rolls and classes would show a decided advance. This is a duty that parents and guardians owe not only to their children and wards, but to the classes of their several schools. While these things are permitted to exist, it is next to impossible to perfect and carry out, for any considerable length of time, either a perfect gradation of schools, or a proper classification and apportionment of studies.

In no respect are parents more unreasonable than to suppose that their children can continue to occupy a fair and creditable standing in their classes and their schools, when absent for a considerable portion of the time.

It is absolute injustice to allow such scholars to clog the progress of our classes, and no less injustice to the pupil to allow him to plod on with a class he is poorly fitted to follow, even with unequal steps. Looking at the matter in the light its magnitude deserves, your Committee have generally instructed their teachers that such scholars must remain in the classes for which they are fitted, and that those scholars who voluntarily absent themselves from school, even with the consent of parents, must be content to occupy the place they make for themselves.

In view of the increase of this evil in our schools, and having an earnest desire to check its further growth, we desire that the town, at the annual March meeting, may avail themselves of all the judicious provisions of the Statutes of the State concerning truant children and absentees from school, and we hope that all the true friends of our common schools will see that such necessary by-laws are passed, and suitable officers chosen to carry the same into effect.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

Your Committee have deemed it inexpedient to publish the Rules and Regulations of the Board, as no material changes have been made in the same since their publication in the last Report.

DISTURBANCE OF SCHOOLS.

Considerable complaint has been made by our teachers regarding the disturbance of their schools by those having no connection with the same, and also by the untimely visitation of parents who come with complaints of real or fancied wrongs done to their children, and vent their indignation, in the ears of the scholars, in language neither elegant nor complimentary to the teacher. This cannot be tolerated. Nothing is more detrimental to a teacher's influence and authority. If a scholar has been wronged, or the parents think themselves aggrieved, we would have them talk the matter over coolly and calmly with the teacher, in private, and if they are not met with a proper feeling on the part of such teacher, the Committee are always ready to investigate such matters, from whatever source complaints may come. But intrusions of the character alluded to, do no good, but much harm, and if persisted in, we shall feel it to be an official duty to pass such offenders over to the custody of the authorities.

FINANCIAL.

Most of the teachers have recently petitioned the Board for a increase of their several salaries. We have deemed it inexpedienn to act upon such petitions, so near the annual meeting, but feel it our duty to refer the matter to the town for its direct action. Appended to this Report, and made a part hereof, you will find the table of "Estimated Expenses of Schools," by which it will appear that, estimating salaries on the basis of last year (exclusive of appropriation for Evening Schools), we shall need $15,875.00 for the ensuing year. If the town shall indicate by its action, its willingness to pay its teachers, or any class of them, increased wages, then, as a necessary consequence, we shall require a correspondingly increased appropriation.

GENERAL REMARKS.

While we are able to report the general progress in our schools for the past year as fully equal to that of any former year, we feel constrained to say, that they have not yet attained that standard of perfection of which they are capable, and which, in our judgment, they ought to attain. We do not mean by this to imply any incompetency or dereliction from duty on the part of our teachers; or any general lack of interest on the part of parents in the education of their children. We believe that we are favored with a corps of competent and faithful teachers, who are thoroughly devoted to their work; that the parents in general feel a deep interest in the education of their children; and that with such a corps of teachers thus devoted, with parents thus interested, the children themselves will be emulous to excel. But yet from some cause, or perhaps combination of causes, we fall below that educational standard which we ought to establish and maintain. We have endeavored by careful investigation to ascertain those causes, and, as far as possible, to provide a remedy for them. As the result of that investigation, we find that our present comparatively imperfect standard is attributable to various causes, some of which it is at present, perhaps, impossible wholly to remove; others may, and should be, removed at once. Among the more prominent of these causes, we beg leave to mention the following:—

First: The locations and distances of many of the pupils in reference to the schools they are required to attend. Second: The want of suitable and sufficient accommodations to perfect the system of gradations in our several schools. Third: The irregularity and inconstancy of attendance of many of the pupils during the school terms. Fourth: the want of proper classification and apportionment of the work assigned, and to be performed in each grade of school: and of the specific order in which that work should be accomplished. Fifth: the disposition and practice on the part of some, at least, of the teachers in the lower departments, to encroach upon what more appropriately belongs to the next higher department. And (may we be permitted to add), Sixth: Too little freedom from text-books, on the part of teachers. The first two of these causes it is of course, impossible, at present, at least, wholly to remove. For the continued existence of the remaining causes, we are all more or less responsible, and these should be removed at once. But how removed? Parents, remove the third cause, and we guarantee we will use our best endeavors to remedy the remaining ones.

We have during the past year discussed frequently the subject of classification of studies with reference to a complete programme and specific apportionment of the work to be performed in each term by all the various departments of our schools. In this matter we have called to our aid, and obtained the opinions of nearly all the teachers in town, and we are happy to say that most, if not all of them, have cheerfully responded to the call, and, as far as possible, have co-operated with us in the undertaking. In the discussion of this subject we were, of necessity, led to form a comparison of the relative attainments of the different schools of the same nominal grade throughout the town; and to our surprise we found no two alike! Although, for this reason, we have not yet been able to perfect the programme above referred to, the discussion of the subject with the several teachers has been attended with this happy result ; we found, in our recent examination, that like classes had approximated nearer each other in their attainments than heretofore, and that by this discussion a very laudable emulation had been awakened among the teachers themselves.

The discussion of this subject also developed the fact that this disparity of attainments is mainly attributable to the first three causes above named.

Now, parents, if you are not prepared to remedy the first two, you can, at least, remove the third ; the removal of which, together with the continued co-operation of all the teachers, will soon enable us to attain a very near approximation, at least, to the desired end. We beg leave, in this connection, to make mention of another great, and we fear, growing evil, in our midst ; and that is, the removal of your children from school at too early an age, before they have completed the prescribed course, and in many instances before that course is half completed. This is more frequently the case with boys than girls. This, in connection with the repeated absences above noted, is decidedly wrong. At least, it should never be permitted, except under circumstances of the greatest necessity. To remove your sons from school at the age of ten, twelve, or even fourteen years, to engage in the active pursuits of life, is one of the greatest injuries you can inflict upon them. Their habits are not yet formed. Remember that while they are yet children, they will be educated somewhere and somehow ; if not in the school-room, then in the public streets. The one fits them for honorable manhood ; the other tends to make them indifferent, if not decidedly bad citizens.

In conclusion, we would urge upon our citizens a yet more earnest personal attention to the cause of common schools. Be not content with cheerfully voting the appropriations needful for their maintenance and support, and then leaving the responsibility with teachers and committee. You have an individual duty to perform other than those herein before suggested. Give to your schools a rigid personal inspection, and you will find that as your interest increases, that of your children will grow correspondingly stronger and deeper, and your schools will move steadily onward and upward, with a fairer and nobler record.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

The undersigned, Auditors of Accounts for the Town of Quincy, for the year ending Feb. 1, 1870, hereby report that they have examined the Books and Accounts kept by the Selectmen and Town Treasurer, from which the preceding statements have been compiled, and find them correctly kept, with vouchers for all payments. Also, that the balance due the town by the Treasurer is on deposit, subject to his orders.

In view of the collection of taxes we cannot refrain from expressing our highest satisfaction for the prompt manner in which Mr. George H. Locke has performed the duties in his official capacity.

The number of inmates admitted to the Almshouse during the year is 13; discharged, 13. The number remaining in house Feb. 1, 1870, 12; the average number during the year,  $11\frac{3}{4}$ .

The Auditors looking at the fact that the town is heavily in debt; that the National and State taxes are very oppressive, and that the town has poured out her money like water in her appropriations for town expenses; that in comparison with the expenses of the town even not more than five or six years since, the increase of expenses is out of all proportion to the growth of the town; that the National and State governments are introducing more economy in all their branches, and that now is a favorable time for us to commence a like movement, — your Auditors feel it is their duty as well as their privilege, to recommend that the town now enter on a system of strict economy in all departments, by reducing the appropriation to the lowest figure in each department, consistent with their efficiency, by the strictest economy of the disbursing officers of the town.

REPORT.

THE School Committee of the Town of Quincy submit the following

REPORT.

It is becoming more manifest every year that some additional provision should be made for the accommodation of the pupils, and especially the younger portion of them. In early youth education commences; and a careful attention to whatever relates to the health, the convenience, and the well-being of the little ones is of the utmost importance.

There are outlying schools in the West District which it would be well to concentrate; but these schools are for the present pretty well accommodated. There are, however, two schools, one in the West, the other in the Centre, where the education of the children commences down cellar,—which certainly is not a fit place for babies! Now what is wanted and what we earnestly recommend is a new school-room in each district.

“Wollaston Heights” is being rapidly built up; and liberal provision should be made for the immediate wants of that section.

The North District school-house absolutely requires enlargement; and we urge the town to make an appropriation for that purpose.

We design sketching rapidly the most essential features of each subdivision, from the lowest grade of Primaries to the finished graduates of the High School, pronouncing on their several qualities.

THE PRIMARY SCHOOLS

need and have received constant attention, and we take pleasure in saying that they are all in excellent condition; some perhaps better than others, but none with which we are not well satisfied. As a class, we do not believe that the State can show any superior. The teachers are faithful, earnest and trustworthy. They are doing their whole duty and ought to be better paid.

Deducting from their present salaries the sums paid for board they can realize but a trifling pittance; and when we remember that those little ones we hold so dear are so largely confided to their trust and care, we ought to be more liberal in compensating them for their services.

Having noticed in the highest grade of some of our Primary Schools the successful introduction of Penmanship, we would suggest the propriety of making Writing a part of the instruction required therein.

THE INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS

and their teachers merit our highest commendations. They are all good. With these we include the Crane School, at Germantown, which we have found in a progressive and praiseworthy condition. From its isolated position we have been unable to give it that full attention which we otherwise would have bestowed. Our former remarks, as to inadequate compensation, apply to the teachers of this grade, as also to the assistants of our Grammar Schools. These intelligent and educated young ladies are entitled to better remuneration, and they ought to receive it.

Other towns, having the interest of their children at heart, and paying higher salaries, frequently have taken and still are taking away those teachers we can ill afford to spare.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

With a single exception, our Grammar Schools are in a very commendable condition, fully sustaining their former well-earned reputation. Good order, promptness, and a desire to learn seem to be the characteristics of the pupils; and we feel that all the teachers have used their best endeavors in the performance of their duties; for which they have our hearty thanks.

We regret to say that the Washington Grammar School has not fully met our expectations. While the Principal labored with diligence and earnestness in his endeavors to advance the pupils in their educational career, a combination of circumstances and adverse causes prevented him from maintaining that control which is so indispensable to the success of a school. The Assistants have all faithfully and successfully performed their duties.

THE HIGH SCHOOL

meets our highest expectations. Since its establishment, we can safely say that it has never been in better condition. Good order, earnest attention, and determination to excel, on the part of the young ladies and gentlemen, have given it a rank not easily attainable.

The unremitting exertion of the teachers, met by a corresponding effort of the pupils, has kept this school in a very desirable condition.

We were pleased to see that the number of young men in attendance has much increased, showing that the advantages to be derived from this school are becoming more and more understood and appreciated.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

To determine the number and location of Evening Schools, your Committee called a meeting of all, desiring to attend the same, at the Town House, and located one in the Adams and one in the Willard school-house.

We employed two male and two female teachers in each school. First sessions held Oct. 31.

Paid for teaching, oil, lamps, and other incidental expenses, out of the special appropriation for these schools.

Thirty-five sessions of each school were held.

The studies pursued were Reading, Writing, Spelling, Arithmetic, Geography, and Book-keeping. Evening sessions have not affected attendance of day schools.

The teaching was made thoroughly practical. The deportment of the members has been uniformly good, and their progress satisfactory.

We believe these schools a decided success, far above our expectations. We hope they may be continued and extended to other sections of the town, and that more females will attend. We ask an appropriation of $1,000 for this purpose for the ensuing year.

SCHOOL-HOUSES.

It has become apparent to the Committee that the division of power and jurisdiction, caused by the severance of the care of the school-houses from the supervision of the schools themselves, is neither wise nor economical, and tends to a multiplication of that fruitful class of items, which to care for, or attend to, belongs to no one in particular.

In conclusion, we desire to have our schools keep their high position, and to retain our excellent corps of teachers; and, as some of our best teachers have left us, and as more will probably leave, on account of inadequate compensation, we recommend the town to appropriate the sum of $17,550 for teaching and fuel, as asked for by your Committee. Liberality in this regard is the part of wisdom; and your Committee feel that the granting of the above sum will operate to the advantage of the town.

Your Committee deem it inexpedient to publish either the "Rules and Regulations of the Board," or the "Prescribed Course of Studies," as no material changes have been made in them since their last publication.

The Town Treasurer holds upwards of $800, received for dog-licenses, which by statute shall be expended for the support of public libraries or schools. The town should appropriate the same to one or both of the above objects.

For the Committee,

WILLIAM S. MORTON, Chairman.

ASA WELLINGTON, Secretary.

SUPERVISORS
OF THE
Adams Temple and School Fund,
TO THE INHABITANTS OF QUINCY.

REPORT.

---

TO THE SELECTMEN OF THE TOWN OF QUINCY: —

It is now but one year less than half a century since John Adams, three years before his decease, executed successively three deeds of trust, conveying to the town of Quincy certain tracts of land situated in that town, for purposes therein fully expressed. At the same time he constituted a board of five persons, inhabitants of the town, whom he especially named, to act as supervisors in regard to the accomplishment of those purposes, with authority to fill up the vacancies that might occur, by new elections made from among the citizens of the town. From the date of the acceptance by the town of the terms of those deeds of trust, the board of supervisors, thus named, has labored steadily in the duty devolved upon it of seeing that the conditions prescribed by the donor should be faithfully fulfilled, and the time seems now to have arrived when it is proper that it should submit, through you, a brief and clear statement of the results that have been reached, in the form of a report, for the consideration of the citizens of the town.

In order to a complete understanding of the nature of this trust, copies of the three deeds, upon which it rests, are appended in a paper marked as No. 1, following this report.

From an examination of the substance of these deeds, it would appear that the objects contemplated by the donor were, First, to contribute to raise a fund for the completing and furnishing of a stone temple, for the public worship of God, and the public instruction in religion and morality, for the use of the Congregational Society in said town.

Secondly, after the completion of said temple, to apply the proceeds of rents and profits arising from the granted lands, to the support of a school for the teaching of the Greek and Latin languages, and any other languages, arts, and sciences, which might be recommended by a board designated in the deed.

These two conditions are found in the first of the deeds, dated the twenty-eighth of June, 1822.

Thirdly, after the attainment of the objects above mentioned, a stone school-house is to be erected over the spot which was the site of the house built by the Reverend John Hancock, being in one of the lots conveyed to the town by the donor.

Fourthly, that, as soon as the funds should be sufficient, a school-master should be procured, with certain qualifications particularly described therein.

These two conditions are found in the second of the deeds, dated the twenty-fifth of July, 1822.

Fifthly, that the library, made a part of the donation to the town, shall be deposited in an apartment of the building erected for a Greek and Latin school, and kept under certain regulations therein prescribed.

Sixthly, a modification of the first and second conditions, so far as to express a wish that the building of the academy and establishment of a classical master should be made to precede all other objects; but this is not made in any way a condition.

These two objects are found stated in the third of the deeds, dated the tenth of August, 1822.

Such being the purposes intended to be accomplished, the persons designated in the deeds as supervisors, shortly after the acceptance by the town of the trust thus created, assembled together and organized themselves in a form proper to transact any business which might properly come before them. This meeting was held on the twenty-second of July, 1822, and from that time a record has been regularly kept of all their proceedings, in proper form.

But it being found that it would be, on many accounts, more convenient for the transaction of business to have the advantage of an act of incorporation, application was made, under the authority of the town, to the General Court of the Commonwealth, for such an act in behalf of the supervisors, and it was accordingly granted. This act bears date the third February, 1827. Its object was confined strictly to the facilitation of the execution of the specific objects to be attained through the deeds of trust. It gave no additional powers whatsoever. A copy of this act will be found with the deeds, marked No. 1, attached to this report.

The only sources of income to the trust thus established have come from the sales of wood standing on the lands, or the rents derived from the use of the quarries, or from the use of the pastures, and latterly from leases of lots for a term of years, on ground rents. It has been the duty of the supervisors to see to the proper execution of the papers in conjunction with the Selectmen, and to the care and investment of the accruing funds in the hands of the Town Treasurer.

On the fifth of May, 1827, in accordance with a vote of the town, and in fulfilment of the first condition specified in the deed of trust of the twenty-eighth of June, a contribution was made to the completion and furnishing of a stone temple, as designated in the deed, of all the funds which had been received by the Town Treasurer, on account of this trust, clear of all expenses, amounting to $2,402 63. Thus the first condition prescribed in the deed was entirely fulfilled.

From that date the funds annually received from all sources have been collected and invested according to the directions specified in the deeds, so far as was found practicable, under the direction of the supervisors, deducting only the necessary charges incident to the care of the property; and reports of the state of the property have been regularly made from time to time and recorded in the books of the corporation. An abstract of the same has been made, showing the progress of accumulation from time to time, and is attached to this report, — paper No. 2.

It is at once apparent, from an examination of the deeds as a whole, that the chief purpose of the donor was the erection of a stone building and the establishment in it of a classical school of high grade, as well as of the library which he had given to the town. Although he appears in his first deed to have contemplated the establishment of the school first of all, it is plain, from the terms in his latest conveyance, that he had changed his mind, and wished the academy to be built first.

In accordance with this construction of his wishes, this object has been steadily kept in mind by the supervisors. It appears from the records that at least four times, commencing on the twenty-seventh Oct., 1832, again in 1846, again in 1850, and a fourth time in 1860, measures had been taken to obtain plans for the construction of a suitable edifice. In each instance a plan was actually obtained without incurring any charge to the fund, but either from the inadequacy of the fund at the time, or from objections of other kinds, no actual progress was made. It was not until the twenty-fourth of June, 1869, that the report of the increase of the fund seemed to be sufficient to warrant the fulfilment of the chief condition of the donor. Measures were then taken to procure plans and estimates of the cost of a suitable building. It was found that all the objects contemplated in the deed of trust could be attained at a cost very considerably within the means provided ; hence it was deemed proper to proceed to the execution of the work. The academy was completed according to the terms of the contract on the first day of January, 1871, at a cost of $28,867 99, and is now ready for use.

The conditions attached to this part of the trust by the donor were first, that the building should be of stone ; second, that it should be placed in the lot of land given by him, known as the Hancock lot, and upon the site of the house built by the Rev. John Hancock, the traces of which have remained clearly perceptible down to this day ; third, that the interior should be fitted for the accommodation of the proposed academy ; and at the same time, fourth, a room should be provided and set apart, in which the library given by the donor should be placed, there permanently to remain. All these conditions have been fully complied with. The library has been actually removed, and it occupies the place for which it is intended. Nothing appears to have been left unaccomplished which depends upon the attention of the supervisors.

The establishment of a school, by the selection of a teacher competent to instruct in the branches of knowledge designated in the deeds of trust, constitutes the single remaining condition to be fulfilled. The proper mode of proceeding to arrive at that result has occupied much of the attention of the supervisors. To that end they have given a careful examination of the terms of the deeds of trust in order to ascertain the extent of their own powers. The conclusion to which they have come will be found embodied in the paper numbered one, attached to this report. It necessarily follows that whilst the supervisors are competent to advise and rec-commend a course of studies additional to those specifically indicated in the deeds, in conjunction with certain other citizens of the town therein designated, they have no power to organize or to direct it. This duty appears therefore to devolve upon the town itself. The supervisors will therefore simply confine themselves, in the present report, to the consideration of the means at present under the control of the trust for maintaining such a school, and to the suggestion of a form or plan such as appears to them best fitted as well fully to carry out the purposes of the donor as also to meet the actual present needs of education in this country.

From a reference to the paper No. 2, annexed to this report, it appears that, after deducting the expense of constructing the academy, a balance remains in the hands of the Town Treasurer, who is also treasurer of this corporation of $6,914 32.

It further appears, from an estimate made by him, that the annual income from rents and proceeds accruing to the trust may be set down as equal to about $1,000 00.

There seems to be a necessity for a further outlay of a portion of the accumulated fund, in the construction of a fence or wall on the lines of the Hancock lot, which may, to a corresponding extent, diminish the income to be expected from that fund. The school and the library will likewise call for some expense in fitting and furnishing, in order for use.

It would not therefore be safe to estimate the means at the command of the fund for the annual expense of the school and the payment of the instructor at more than $1,000 00.

In regard to the nature of the school to be established, the supervisors, after a careful consideration of the language and intentions of the donor, have unanimously come to the conclusion that his purpose was to establish a classical school for advanced instruction, such as is not commonly supplied under the customary system established in the town. Indeed, in view of the general goodness of the common-school system, the establishment of any school of the same kind would be of no public use. The only demand which is rising among us is of still higher forms of instruction, made the more necessary by the advanced age required to fit the young men for admission to the universities. The consequence of raising the standard in them is, that so much more time must be taken to study before reaching them. And this effect reaches also that class of young persons who desire to fit themselves for certain classes of pursuits, without going to the universities. They need precisely the degree of instruction here proposed to be supplied, in order to save the necessity of applying to go to college. One great need now felt all over the United States is of a higher grade of instruction than was formerly thought necessary in the less advanced schools ; and this need can be most readily met in the form now recommended.

The supervisors cannot feel their own obligations as advisers, designated by the donor of the trust, entirely fulfilled, without presenting to the consideration of the town a plan or model of the system of instruction to be hereafter adopted. Of the time when, and the form in which, the school shall be established, they do not undertake to be the judges. Much will of course depend upon the disposition of the town itself. Neither has it been deemed necessary at this time to enlarge upon the possible extension of the library, as that may more properly constitute a subject by itself, to be considered hereafter. At present they confine themselves to a recommendation of a plan of education for the school, which will be found embraced in the paper No. 3, annexed to this report.

All which is respectfully submitted.

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
JOSIAH P. QUINCY,
EDWARD TURNER,
JOHN Q. ADAMS,

NO. 1.

Upon the completion of the building recently erected upon the Hancock lot, for the accommodation of the school and library, contemplated by John Adams in his deeds of gift to the inhabitants of Quincy, the supervisors of the trust established by these instruments conceive that they have exhausted the powers conferred upon them, in so far as they concern the establishment and management of a system of instruction to be pursued therein. They desire to state briefly to their fellow-townsmen their reasons for this conclusion. It is clear that they can exercise no functions which cannot be derived from the expressed or implied intention of the donor, or from some act of the Legislature in furtherance thereof. The will of Mr. Adams, in this regard, must be sought in the deeds by which he conveyed his lands and his library to his fellow-citizens, and the will of the Legislature is expressed in the act by which the supervisors were made a body corporate for certain specified purposes. Copies of those deeds and that act are, therefore, appended to this report, for the examination of such persons as may desire to verify the references which it has been thought necessary to make to them. But in order to gather into a single view those portions of these instruments which are deemed to bear more particularly upon the extent of the duty of the supervisors, they have been extracted from the general context and grouped together in the order of their dates. The earliest mention of the supervisors is contained in the first of the three deeds from John Adams to the inhabitants of Quincy, and is in these words. They are named and requested "to give their advice to the selectmen for the time being, concerning the best mode of managing the said estate for the best interest of the town and for the advancement of the objects herein before specified." In the second deed, it is expressly provided that the estates therein conveyed shall be "managed and conducted upon the same principles, and under the same conditions, restrictions, limitation, forfeiture, and supervisors," as in the former deed. Further on, in the same deed, it is provided that, "when the objects mentioned in the former deed are obtained, a stone school-house shall be erected over the cellar which was under the house anciently built by the Rev. John Hancock." By his third deed, Mr. Adams gave to the town "the fragments of his library," upon the condition, "that those books be deposited in an apartment of the building to be hereafter erected for a Greek and Latin school or academy," and also, upon the further condition, "that these books be placed under the direction of the five gentlemen mentioned in my former deeds as supervisors of the temple and school fund, with the addition of the Rev. Mr. Whitney and the successive settled ministers of the Congregational Society, and also, of the future settled ministers of the Episcopal Society, while they shall remain such."

The act of the Legislature which was obtained by the town, to insure a more convenient exercise of the duties devolved by the deeds upon the supervisors, was approved February third, 1827. The second section provides that, "The said supervisors, in concert with the selectmen of the town of Quincy for the time being, shall have power and authority, and it shall be their duty to carry into effect the intentions of said donor by any act which by said deeds they are authorized and directed to perform, and upon the conditions therein prescribed and accepted by said town." They may "make reasonable rules, regulations, and by-laws, and annex penalties for the breach thereof;" and may "do and perform all acts which corporate bodies are by law authorized to do and perform, subject to the conditions prescribed by said deeds of gift." By the sixth section, "the library shall be and continue under the direction of the supervisors of the Temple and School Fund with the addition of the settled ministers of the Congregational Society, and the settled minister of the Episcopal Society at Quincy for the time being and their successors while they shall remain such respectively, to be disposed of according to the conditions prescribed in said deed of gift." The next section makes it "the duty of the said supervisors to cause to be recorded upon their books copies of any proceedings of the inhabitants of said town of Quincy, and also of the majority of the ministers, magistrates, lawyers, and physicians inhabiting said town, made or had in conformity with the conditions expressed in the deeds of gift of said

John Adams. And the succeeding section provides, "That the supervisors aforesaid be and they are hereby authorized, upon the erection and establishment of said school, to exercise any authority and to do and perform any act in relation to the support and maintenance of the same as trustees forever which the inhabitants of the town of Quincy may authorize and confer upon them."

The supervisors therefore think that the result of all these provisions taken together amounts pretty plainly to this. They are ordered to advise the selectmen, in the management of the lands granted, to take charge of the library in concert with certain ministers of the gospel, and after the erection of the school building to exercise such powers in respect to the school as the inhabitants of Quincy may confer upon them. It would seem to lie entirely with the inhabitants of Quincy, therefore, to prescribe the character and control which they may think most fitting to impress upon this institution. To them in free gift is remitted the duty of providing a wise guidance for this institute of learning, with certain general restrictions and limitations, however, contained in the grants and solemnly assented to by the town. The school, by whomever directed and managed, must be a "Greek and Latin school, for the teaching of the Greek and Latin languages," under a "classical master learned in the Greek and Roman languages." So much is peremptory, and cannot be dispensed with, except by a manifest breach of the condition coupled with the grant. But, besides these studies, "any other languages, arts and sciences, which a majority of the magistrates, ministers, lawyers, and physicians inhabiting in said town may advise," may be added.

In a word, the power now rests with the inhabitants of the town to declare the board which shall superintend and direct the school, but that board must make it a classical school, and can introduce therein no languages as a study other than Greek and Latin, nor any art or science save by the advice of the council of worthies specified in the deeds.

The supervisors would therefore recommend that the inhabitants of the town of Quincy do, as soon as they conveniently may, consider and establish such a permanent provision for the future good government and careful oversight and wise management of this educational establishment, as they in their wisdom may think most calculated to subserve the intent of its founder and promote their own welfare.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, That, Thomas Greenleaf, Josiah Quincy, Thomas Boylston Adams, Edward Miller, and George W. Beale be and they are hereby constituted, a body politic and corporate, by the name of the Supervisors of the Adams Temple and School Fund, in Quincy; in the County of Norfolk, and that they and their successors, to be appointed in manner as directed by three certain deeds of gift of John Adams, late of Quincy, aforesaid, bearing date the twenty-fifth day of June, the twenty-fifth day of July, and the tenth of August, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-two, granting certain real estate and a library to the inhabitants of said Quincy, upon certain conditions therein expressed, shall continue a body politic and corporate forever, and by the same name may sue and be sued in all actions, and may prosecute the same to final judgment and execution.

SECT. 2. Be it further enacted, That the said supervisors, in concert with the Selectmen of the town of Quincy, for the time being, shall have power and authority, and it shall be their duty to carry into effect the intentions of the said donor by any act, which by the said deeds they are authorized and directed to perform, and upon the conditions therein prescribed and accepted by the said town.

SECT. 3. Be it further enacted, That any gift, grant, bequest, or devise, which may hereafter be made to said supervisors for the purposes intended by the said donor, in the deeds of gift, or either of them, shall be valid and effectual to all intents and purposes whatever; and they and their successors, as aforesaid, are hereby empowered by purchase or operation of law, to take, have, hold, use, improve, and manage any estate, real, personal, or mixed, the annual income of which shall not exceed the sum of five thousand dollars, in trust, for the purposes to which the Temple and School Fund is applicable, and for the use and benefit, inso-much as relates to the temple of the Congregational Society at Quincy, and insomuch as relates to the school of the inhabitants of the town of Quincy in their corporate capacity.

SECT. 4. Be it further enacted, That the said supervisors may assemble and meet together as often as they may think it necessary for the promotion of their trust, any three of whom shall constitute a board for doing business; but the concurrence of three, at least, shall be requisite to every act and proceeding whatever. They may determine the manner of calling meetings; they may appoint a clerk, an agent, or agents, and other needful officers, and committees; they may make reasonable rules, regulations, and by-laws, and annex penalties for the breach thereof, not repugnant to the laws of this Commonwealth; they may have a common seal, and change the same at their pleasure, and they may do and perform all acts which corporate bodies are by law authorized to do and perform, subject to the conditions prescribed by the said deeds of gift of the said John Adams, and to such as may be prescribed by any gift, grant, bequest, or devise, hereafter to be made, and which may enure to them for the purposes, and to the uses in the above-mentioned deeds described.

SECT. 5. Be it further enacted, That the clerk of said corporation shall be sworn to the faithful performance of the duties of his office, and shall have the care and custody of all papers and documents belonging to the said supervisors, and shall faithfully record, in a book kept for that purpose, all their acts and proceedings, and shall certify the same when thereto required, and he may call meetings when thereto directed by the supervisors, and do whatever else may be incident to said office. And the said supervisors may remove, at their pleasure, the said clerk, and appoint another in his place, and he shall, on demand, deliver to his successor in office, as soon as may be, all the records, papers, and documents in his hands, in good order and condition, and if he shall neglect to do so for thirty days next after such demand, he shall forfeit and pay a fine of fifty dollars, and a further sum of thirty dollars per month for such neglect, afterwards, which said fines, when paid, shall enure to the benefit of the Temple and School Fund, to be sued for in any court proper to try the same.

SECT. 6. Be it further enacted, That the Library given to the town of Quincy by the said John Adams shall be and continue under the direction of the supervisors of the Temple and School Fund, with the addition of the settled minister of the Congregational Society, and the settled minister of the Episcopal Society at Quincy, for the time being, and their successors, while they may remain such, respectively to be disposed of according to the conditions prescribed in the said deed of gift; and the proceedings of the said supervisors and settled ministers, in relation to the disposal of the said Library, shall be recorded upon their books by their clerk.

SECT. 7. Be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the said supervisors to cause to be recorded upon their books copies of any proceedings of the inhabitants of the said town of Quincy, and also of the majority of ministers, magistrates, lawyers, and physicians inhabiting said town, made or had in conformity with the conditions expressed in the deeds of gift of the said John Adams.

SECT. 8. Be it further enacted, That the supervisors aforesaid be and they are hereby authorized, upon the erection and establishment of the said school, to exercise any authority, and to do and perform any act in relation to the support and maintenance of the same, as trustees forever, which the inhabitants of the town of Quincy may authorize or confer upon them, provided the same be not repugnant to the laws of the Commonwealth.

SECT. 9. Be it further enacted, That the Town Treasurer of the town of Quincy, for the time being, shall also be treasurer of said corporation, and shall be sworn to the faithful performance of the duties of his office, and he shall give bond with sufficient surety or sureties, to be approved by the supervisors and selectmen in such penal sum as they may require, with condition to perform all the duties incumbent on him as treasurer, and he shall render an account of his doings, and exhibit a fair and regular statement of the property and evidences of property in his hands whenever they or the selectmen shall require the same, and shall deliver to his successor in office, as soon as may be, all the books and papers, property and evidences of property, in his hands as treasurer of said corporation, in good order and condition, and in case, by reason of death, or other cause, the said Town Treasurer shall fail to perform the duties and comply with the said obligations herein prescribed, the supervisors, together with the selectmen, shall be empowered to appoint a treasurer for the time being, subject to the conditions required by this act.

SECT. 10. Be it further enacted, That the services of said supervisors shall always be gratuitously rendered, but the clerk may receive such reasonable compensation for the performance of his duty as the said supervisors may see fit to allow, to be taken from the said Temple and School Fund.

SECT. 11. Be it further enacted, That Thomas Greenleaf, of said Quincy, is hereby authorized to appoint the time and place for holding the first meeting of the said supervisors, and to warn such meeting accordingly.

[FEB. 3, 1827.]

Know all Men by these Presents, That I, John Adams, of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Esquire, in consideration of the veneration I feel for the residence of my ancestors and the place of my nativity, and of the habitual affection I bear to the inhabitants with whom I have so happily lived for more than eighty-six years, — and of my sincere desire to promote their happiness, and the instruction of their posterity in religion, morality, and all useful arts and sciences, by contributing all in my power for these purposes, do hereby give, and grant, convey, and confirm to the town of Quincy and their successors, forever, the two following tracts of land, viz., my Rocky Pasture, commonly known by the name of the Red Cedar Pasture, or the Centre Rock Pasture, situate near the Grist Mill, and opposite the house of Deacon Elijah Veazie, containing twenty-five acres more or less ; — another tract of land, containing fifty-four acres more or less, commonly known by the name of the Lane's Pasture, or the Mount Ararat Pasture, near the seat of the Hon. Thomas Greenleaf: To HAVE and to HOLD to the said town of Quincy and their successors forever, — upon the conditions and provisos following: — Provided, first, That the selectmen of the town be authorized and empowered to employ a surveyor of respectable character for science and experience in the practice of surveying, to survey both these lots, ascertain their boundaries, and make an accurate plot of each of said tracts, to be recorded in the town books, within a reasonable time. Provided, secondly, That the rent of the herbage of these pastures, together with the profits arising from the sale of wood, fuel of any kind, timber and stone, be strictly applied to the following purposes, viz., to be placed at interest in some solid public fund, either of the Commonwealth, or of the United States, and the interest again placed at interest, as it arises, until the amount shall be sufficient, with what the town may grant, other individuals subscribe, or the probable sale of pews produce, to raise a fund for the completing and furnishing of a Temple to be built of stone, to be taken from the premises, for the Public Worship of God, and the public instruction in religion and morality, for the use of the Congregational Society in said town; and next after the completion of said Temple, that all the future rents, profits, and emoluments, arising from said land, be applied to the support of a School for the teaching of the Greek and Latin languages, and any other languages, arts and sciences, which a majority of the ministers, magistrates, lawyers, and physicians, inhabiting in the said town, may advise. Provided, thirdly, That if there should be any gross corruption or mismanagement in the care of this interest; or any notorious negligence, or any waste knowingly permitted, or connived at by the said town, or by the selectmen thereof, or by any other person, acting under its sanction or authority, and the same shall appear by the judgment of a jury under the direction of the Supreme Judicial Court, the right to the property hereby conveyed shall be forfeited, and shall revert to the oldest male person, at the time living, among my posterity. And I do hereby request my honorable friends, Thomas Greenleaf, Josiah Quiney, my son Thomas Boylston Adams, Edward Miller, and George W. Beale, Esquires, to give their advice to the selectmen for the time being concerning the best mode of managing the said estate for the best interest of the town, and for the advancement of the objects herein before specified. And I do hereby constitute the said Greenleaf, Quiney, Adams, Miller, and Beale, during their lives, to be a committee, with authority to appoint an agent, annually, to superintend the lands hereby conveyed, and whose duty it shall be to prosecute all trespasses, of any kind whatsoever, made thereupon, such agent to be paid for his services, by the town, such compensation as the Selectmen of said town for the time being shall deem reasonable; and the said Committee shall have authority forever, as any vacancy shall occur in their number by death or by resignation, to fill the same by an election to be made from among the most respectable, intelligent, and active inhabitants of said town. Provided, also, That if the Episcopalian Society of the said town shall at any time hereafter be about to build a Church for the Worship of God, they shall have liberty to take from the land hereby granted as much stone as they may need to use in erecting such church.

In witness whereof, I the said John Adams have hereunto set my hand and seal, this twenty-fifth day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-two.

Voted, That the town accept with gratitude, affection, and respect, the very liberal, valuable, and useful donation of the Hon. John Adams, with the restrictions and conditions expressed in the deed of conveyance, this day presented for their consideration.

Voted, That the town will adopt all suitable and proper measures to carry into complete effect the enlarged and laudable views, and benevolent wishes and intentions, of the venerable donor.

Know all Men by these Presents, That I, John Adams, of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Esquire, in consideration of the kindness with which my former conveyance, dated the twenty-fifth of June, 1822, has been accepted, and in further consideration of all the motives enumerated in that instrument, and various other causes not necessary to be stated particularly, do hereby give, grant and convey, to the inhabitants of the town of Quincy, in their corporate capacity, and their successors forever, the following parcels of land, to wit: First, six acres of Cedar Swamp, in the town of Braintree, in the tract called Hubbard Swamp, which I bought of Capt. Benjamin Beale. Secondly, my Pasture, situated partly in Braintree and partly in Quincy, containing seventeen acres and a half, which I bought of Elkanah Thayer. Thirdly, two pieces of Cedar Swamp, situated in Gardiner's Swamp, so called, one of which I bought of Caleb Faxon, the other of William Thayer, which, when I bought them, I understood were in Quincy, but which, I now am informed, are in Braintree. These are all which I know or suspect to belong to me; but if any other morsel should be found to belong to me in that town, I give it to the town of Quincy. Fourthly, my pasture in Quincy, formerly known by the name of Babel Pasture, containing fifty-one acres, more or less, which I bought of the Hon. Cotton Tufts, as executor to the will of Norton Quincy, Esquire. Fifthly, eight acres of land in the town of Quincy, near the meeting-house, bounded easterly on the county road, southerly on land of Lemuel Brackett, Esquire, westerly on my own land, as the fence now stands, northerly on my own land by a line to be drawn from the western boundary parallel to the line against Mr. Brackett, so as to include Mr. Hancock's ancient cellar and well: To HAVE and to HOLD all the foregoing tracts and parcels of land to the inhabitants of the town of Quincy, and their successors forever, in their corporate capacities, upon the conditions following: First, Provided that plots be taken by skilful surveyors, and recorded in the town books, within a reasonable time. Secondly, Provided that these lands shall be managed and conducted upon the same principles, under the same conditions, restrictions, limitations, forfeiture, and supervisors, and the profits applied to the same ends and purposes, with those in the former deed. Thirdly, Provided that when the objects, mentioned in the former deed are obtained, a Stone School House shall be erected over the cellar which was under the house anciently built by the Rev. Mr. John Hancock, the father of John Hancock, that great, generous, disinterested, bountiful benefactor of his country, once President of Congress, and afterwards Governor of this State, to whose great exertions and unlimited sacrifices this nation is so deeply indebted for her independence and present prosperity, who was born in this house; and which house was afterwards purchased and inhabited by the reverend, learned, ingenuous, and eloquent Lemuel Bryant, pastor of this congregation; which house was afterwards purchased by and inhabited by an honorable friend of my younger years, Col. Josiah Quincy, and also inhabited by his son, Josiah Quincy, Jun., a friend of my riper years, a brother barrister at law, with whom I have been engaged in many arduous contests at the bar, who was as ardent a patriot as any of his age, and, next to James Otis, the greatest orator. Fourthly, That as soon as the funds will be sufficient, a school-master should be procured, learned in the Greek and Roman languages, and, if thought advisable, the Hebrew, not to make learned Hebricians, but to teach such young men as choose to learn it, the Hebrew Alphabet, the rudiments of the Hebrew Grammar, and the use of the Hebrew Grammar and Lexicon; that in after life they may pursue the study to what extent they please. But I hope the future masters will not think me too presumptuous, if I advise them to begin their lessons in Greek and Hebrew, by compelling their pupils to take their pens and write, over and over again, copies of the Greek and Hebrew Alphabets, in all their variety of characters, over and over again, until they are perfect masters of those alphabets and characters. This will be as good an exercise in chirography as any they can use, and will stamp those alphabets and characters upon their tender minds and vigorous memories so deeply that the impression will never wear out, and will enable them at any period of their future lives to study those languages to any extent with great ease.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this twenty-fifth day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-two.

Before JOSIAH QUINCY,

Justice of the Peace

At a legal meeting of the inhabitants of the town of Quincy, August 6th, 1822 :

Voted, That the town accept, with sentiments of profound respect and gratitude, the very valuable present of the Hon. John Adams, of certain parcels of land situated in the towns of Quincy and Braintree, on the conditions expressed in the instrument of conveyance, dated July 25th, 1822, this day offered for their consideration, to be managed and conducted upon the same principles, and subject to the same restrictions, limitations, and provisions, as are contained in his deed to the town, dated 25th June, 1822.

Know all Men by these Presents, That I, John Adams, of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Esquire, in further consideration of the motives and reasons enumerated in my two former deeds, do hereby give, grant, convey, and confirm to the inhabitants of the town of Quincy in their corporate capacity, and their successors, the fragments of my Library, which still remain in my possession, excepting a few that I shall reserve for my consolation in the few days that remain to me, on the following conditions, viz., Condition first, That a catalogue of them be made, recorded in the town books and printed, together with the three deeds, in sufficient numbers to perpetuate the remembrance of them. Condition second, That those books be deposited in an apartment of the building to be hereafter erected for a Greek and Latin School or Academy. Condition third, That these books be placed under the direction of the five gentlemen mentioned in my former deeds as supervisors of the Temple and School Fund, with the addition of the Rev. Mr. Whitney and the successive settled Ministers of the Congregational Society, and also of the future settled Ministers of the Episcopal Society, while they shall remain such. Condition fourth, That none of the books shall ever be sold, exchanged, or lent, or suffered to be removed from the apartments, without a solemn vote of a majority of the superintendents. Condition fifth. The books may be removed to any place the Committee of the town shall direct, or remain where they are, at the pleasure of the Committee of the town ; locked up, and the keys held by the Committee during my life, and the pleasure of my Executors afterwards. Article sixth. I make no condition of this, but submit it to the consideration of the town whether it may be expedient to build the Temple on the Hancock lot near the Academy. Nothing would be a higher gratification to me, or more honorable to my memory ; and I could wish that the triangle on which the present Temple stands should be left forever as a common Training Field, and for other accommodations of the inhabitants of the town. Article seventh. Though I presume not to dictate to the town, yet it is my wish, that the building of the Academy and the establishment of a classical master should be provided for before the Temple, of which I see no present necessity, and I cannot think that this can ever be construed a deviation from the plan and intention of the donor, notwithstanding anything in the two former deeds ; and if any descendant of mine should ever presume to call it in question, I hereby pronounce him unworthy of me ; and I hereby petition all future legislators of the Commonwealth to pass a special law to defeat his impious intentions, and this I think can never be adjudged an ex post facto law. Article eighth. It is not my intention or desire to make any condition of what follows ; but I ask leave to suggest to the town the propriety of applying the income of the Coddington School lands to the uses of this Academy, and to give authority to the superintendents of the Library to apply such parts of it, as they shall judge expedient, to the purchase of books annually to augment and increase this Library. Those books to be kept by themselves in separate alcoves to be denominated the Coddington alcoves. That gentleman's first residence was in this town, and he was an honor to it. He was a man of large and liberal mind. He removed with the excellent Roger Williams to Rhode Island, and became the father, founder, and first Governor of that colony. This will be a proper memorial of respect and gratitude for that very ancient and noble donation.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto put my hand and seal, this tenth day of August, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-two.

NO. 3.

REPORT ON THE SCHOOL.

It is our duty as Supervisors of the Adams Temple and School Fund to offer advice concerning the action to be taken by the town of Quincy in regard to the school contemplated in the Deeds of Trust. By the requirement of the donor this must be "a school for the teaching of the Greek and Latin languages." He also suggests the teaching of the rudiments of Hebrew Grammar, "if thought desirable." It is evident that President Adams wished to endow his native town with what is commonly understood by a Classical School to fit boys for college. In determining what studies should be added to those required by the trust, our advice must be based upon the probable amount of funds, the modern methods of classical instruction, and the studies usually pursued at the public schools. Taking these things into consideration, we cannot think it desirable to attempt to give instruction in the sciences or modern languages at the Adams Academy. It should be a finishing school to receive boys of the age of fourteen and upwards, and impart, in a three years' course, a thorough knowledge of the classical and mathematical studies required for admission to the best American colleges. We believe that a school established upon this basis, and controlled by competent management, may acquire a high reputation, and supply a want that is widely felt. There has been of late years a difference of opinion concerning the value of Greek and Latin whether as mental discipline or in their intellectual results. But, considering the foolish ways in which these languages have been taught, and the amount of time that has been wasted over them, the fact that they have eminent defenders left is no slight proof of their inherent worth. We are persuaded that those best able to recognize the demands of a scientific and industrial age have a high appreciation of the value of classical studies when postponed to the last years of school attendance, and pursued under a teacher versed in modern methods of linguistic training. The instruction at present given in our High School forms a good preparation for a classical course, and should be supplemented by the Adams Academy for any who may desire it. We are advised by gentlemen prominently connected with education that a school of the character indicated would be appreciated at the present time, and, when its reputation became established, would draw a valuable class of taxpayers to the town.

We therefore recommend that a Board of Managers be constituted (of whom one third shall be chosen annually) to establish and govern the Adams Academy as a classical and mathematical school. And we recommend that it be opened as soon as a suitable teacher can be obtained with the funds available for that purpose, together with such fees from pupils as the managers consider it best to demand.

The following regulations are suggested, subject to such changes as the managers shall from time to time deem expedient: —

REGULATIONS.

I.

The title of the School shall be the Adams Academy of Quincy.

II.

The Academical Year shall be divided into terms corresponding with those of the Town Schools, and the course of study shall be limited to three years.

III.

The examination for admission to the Adams Academy shall be the same that is required for Harvard College, with the exception of the classical and mathematical studies pursued at the school.

IV.

In correspondence with the system of equivalents recently adopted at the examinations for Harvard College, studies in Solid Geometry, Logarithms, Plain Trigonometry, and Elementary Mechanics, shall be substituted for portions of the classical course, when the parents or guardians of pupils desire it.

V.

There shall be semi-annual examinations, conducted by the managers, and no pupil whose progress is unsatisfactory shall be allowed to remain at the school.

The following course of study is submitted to the consideration of the ministers, magistrates, lawyers, and physicians of Quincy, who, by the terms of the Trust, may advise any Board of Managers the town shall appoint : —

AUDITORS' REPORT.

WE, the undersigned, Auditors of Accounts for the Town of Quincy for the year ending Feb. 1, 1872, have examined the accounts of the Treasurer, and find them correctly kept, and with proper vouchers for all moneys paid out.

Of the Selectmen's accounts we cannot speak so favorably, for though they show proper vouchers for all moneys drawn from the treasury, we find that the Chairman of the Board has been in the habit, through the year, of collecting bills due the town. A part of the money so collected he has at the close of the fiscal year paid to the Treasurer, including four hundred dollars for lots sold at the cemetery, but we have good reasons for believing that this is but about one-half the amount actually collected from that source, and there is still a considerable sum in addition due from him to the town, the amount of which we are unable to ascertain.

We have also examined the accounts and assets of the Woodward Fund, and find them correct and in agreement with the schedule given in the report of the Treasurer of the Fund.

ENGINEER'S REPORT.

TO THE SELECTMEN OF QUINCY: —

Gentlemen: I most respectfully submit the following report: —

FORCE OF THE DEPARTMENT.

The department consists of a Chief Engineer and four assistants; four hand-engines with hose-carriages attached, one four-wheeled hose-carriage, and one hook and ladder carriage, all in good condition and manned by 201 volunteers.

HOUSES.

The houses of the different companies are now in the best of condition, the one occupied by No. 1 having been painted and papered and had a partially new floor laid. No. 2 house has been furnished with a bell. No. 3 has also been painted and papered. No. 4 has been newly shingled, and had a new platform laid, and the hook and ladder house has been painted and papered. I know of no repairs needed on any of the houses the ensuing year.

HOSE.

There are belonging to the department, 400 feet of new hose, manufactured by Boyd & Sons, 600 feet of old cotton duck hose, rubber-lined, which is in good order, and about 1,500 feet leather hose not in the best condition.

RESERVOIRS.

The reservoirs are all in good condition, with the single exception of the one at the junction of Copeland and Granite streets. It is the opinion of our Board that two new reservoirs are needed in the centre of the town, one between the Niagara engine-house and the Unitarian Church, and another near the junction of Adams and Hancock streets, and I would recommend that the town authorize them to be constructed at once.

REMARKS.

Many of our citizens have strongly urged the addition of a steam fire-engine to the department, and in view of the fact that it will be but a short time (if the time has not already arrived) before one or more engines will be demanded at the north part of the town, I would respectfully suggest that the town take measures to remove either or both numbers 1 and 2, to proper locations in the north part of the town, and purchase a steamer to be located on Hancock street, near the junction of Canal street.

I congratulate my fellow-citizens upon the fact that our department has not been called into use by alarms of fire but upon two or three occasions the past year, and assure them that when an emergency occurs they will find the men and apparatus in readiness and willing to perform any duty required.

In closing this report I would thank the town authorities for the respect and courtesy they have shown me at all times.

To my assistants, for the able and faithful manner in which they have supported me during the past nine months, I desire to return thanks more gratefully than I can express.

To the officers and members of the several companies I would say that words are inadequate to express my feelings, and I hope that the noble and invaluable services that they have rendered me and the inhabitants of our time-honored town will not go unrewarded.

All of which I most respectfully submit to your honorable Board, together with a list of the officers of the several companies comprising the department, and a schedule of town property in charge of each.

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF QUINCY.

The Trustees of the Public Library ask leave to offer their first report relative to the foundation and progress of the institution committed to their care.

At the last town meeting in March, in addition to the sums appropriated for salary of librarian, heating and care of building, and from the proceeds of the dog tax, a further amount of twenty-five hundred dollars was assigned to the library on condition that an equal sum should be raised by private subscription. For this purpose, there had been contributed on the 1st of October by 1,033 individuals, in sums ranging from ten cents to two hundred dollars, a total amount of $2,694.87, thus indicating at once how wide an interest was felt by all ages and classes in the success of the new undertaking. From these sources, the whole sum placed at the disposal of the Trustees, as by the account of the Treasurer of the Board, hereto annexed, has been $7,236.37, of which there has been expended $3,426.56, leaving a balance on hand at this date of $3,809.31. Besides this amount, there remains in the town treasury another balance of $627.73, remaining from the $1,000 set aside for the expenses of salary, lighting, heating, etc., — for which there is already due and to be drawn, the sum of $292.85. The balance in the hands of the Treasurer of the library will be reduced by unpaid bills for books, printing and other charges by the sum of $1,087.19; and still further by the appropriation by the Trustees of $2,500 to cover the expenditure for the books ordered and to be imported, and for certain other desirable purchases in this country. Adding to this balance $222.62, the balance which will remain in the town treasury, $334.88, it will be found that there will be in hand for the exigencies of the library during the coming year the sum of $557.50.

In consequence of unexpected delay and disappointment in the shelving and other preparations necessary to fit up the room in the Adams Academy in a manner suited to the conveniences of the library and the public, the Trustees were unable to open the reading-room for periodicals before the 4th of December. On the 11th of the same month the circulation of the books began. From this time until February 1st the library has been accessible to its patrons forty-three days, during which period there have been loaned 7,050 volumes — an average of nearly 164 per day. When it is considered that this delivery took place before any list of the books was printed, and when the only record of the numerical contents of the shelves was to be found in the manuscript shelf-lists, the proportion of use, in reference to the number of people to which the library was immediately convenient of access, is quite remarkable. At the first opening of a neighboring library which has since proved a great success, feeding a population within a radius of a mile more than treble the whole number of inhabitants of this town, with a catalogue already printed, its first three months only gave an average circulation of 335 per day; when in the same proportion as our library has begun, it should have issued over 500 volumes per day.

The library, now containing 4,607 volumes, of which 2,458 have been given, and 2,149 purchased, will be proportionately increased during the coming year. In this large number of donations is included the valuable gift of the Hon. Charles Francis Adams, which comprises 1,650 volumes of congressional and other documents, and bound newspapers, making in this respect this library almost unique among the smaller libraries in New England, as furnishing unusual facilities to the student of our history in obtaining historical and political knowledge from original sources of the succession of men and of events which have made of this country a great nation. Besides this donation, the Trustees would gratefully acknowledge the presentation of the desirable collections of the Quincy Lyceum, numbering 227 volumes, of the Adams Literary Association, of 215 volumes, of the Quincy Agricultural Library, of 182, and of the Quincy Book Club, of 24 books and 625 numbers of periodicals, which were generously contributed by these organizations to assist in the formation of the infant institution.

The library is also indebted to the generosity of numerous individual donors.

Indeed, so diffused has been the interest in its success, that the reading-room is entirely supplied with periodicals at the expense of private individuals, instead of from the funds at the disposal of the Trustees, which could have been properly and judiciously used for this purpose.

In the selection of books, at the outset, the Trustees were guided by a simple principle, which experience has shown to be safe and economical, — to obtain immediately a considerable collection of books which were of general interest, and would therefore be read. Without undertaking to obtain every volume for which a wish was expressed, they have already purchased, or intend to purchase, such works as seem to them suitable. As the library increases in size, it will also naturally increase its number of books of permanent value. So far, the collection consists mainly of fresh and new books by the most approved and most popular modern authors, — to which additions are constantly being made, — and it will grow in time to meet every reasonable demand of the population to which it furnishes a part of their intellectual and moral culture. In addition to the supplies obtainable at home, an order has been sent to England for works of importance not reprinted in this country, which, under the wise provisions of law, are imported by public libraries free of duty.

The number of names registered under the regulations prescribed by the Trustees as necessary to secure the safety as well as proper care of the books, amount at this date to 1,320, which number will materially increase, when the list of books just printed shall have found an entrance to every home in the town. In absolute freedom, and ease of access, the library is not surpassed by any similar institution in the world. So long as the inhabitants appreciate this fact, and accept each volume loaned as a trust, so long can the Trustees continue the same liberal system of circulation.

In this connection it should be remarked that during the coming year it is expected that some plan may be devised whereby those living at a distance from the centre of the town may receive and return books without visiting the library in person.

The library has now ranged itself by the side of its eighty sister libraries in Massachusetts, and begun the beneficent work, in which all ages and employments may share alike. Whether it will prove the blessing anticipated by its friends will depend upon its proper use. Upon one point a word of caution should be spoken — the reading of the young and immature should always be supervised by parents, guardians, or discreet friends. It only needs further to be said that the Trustees will direct their best efforts to keep the institution on a line with the requirements of the time, in the hope that those who seek entertainment or knowledge shall find here what they seek.

They would express their grateful sense of the services rendered at the outset of the library by volunteers of both sexes, and also take due notice of the industry, zeal, and fidelity with which the librarian and assistant have attended to the various and perplexing details of the work assigned them.

In conclusion, the Trustees would recommend that the town should appropriate the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars for the expense of care, and maintenance of the library, and for the purchase of books, during the coming year.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. W. GREENOUGH,
L. W. ANDERSON,

II. The Library shall be open every week-day, from one o'clock to five in the afternoon, and from six o'clock to nine in the evening; and also on Saturday morning from ten o'clock to twelve; and at such other times as the Trustees may prescribe.

III. Every person entitled to take books from the Library may take therefrom one volume at a time, to be retained not more than fourteen days, unless it be a new or special work designated by the Trustees to be returned within a shorter time. No book shall be taken out again by the person returning it, or by any one of the same household, until after one full library day from its return.

IV. Any book retained beyond the time prescribed shall be subject to a fine of two cents for each day's detention, and shall be sent for by the Librarian, and the messenger's fee charged to the borrower. No books can be taken out by any person owing a fine or charges, until the debt is paid, and until the book retained is restored or replaced.

V. All books shall be returned to the Library at such times as the Trustees may appoint by reasonable notice, under penalty of the fine of fifty cents, and if sent for, with the addition of expense of messenger.

VI. All injuries to books, beyond reasonable wear, and all losses shall be made good to the satisfaction of the Trustees. Any book not returned within one week after it has been sent for by the Librarian shall be regarded as lost. If the volume lost or injured forms part of a set, the whole set shall be replaced by the person liable, he being entitled to the damaged set.

VII. Books of reference, and such other works of special value as may be designated by the Trustees, shall not be taken from the Library without the permission of the Chairman, or two other members of the Board of Trustees.

VIII. Every person entitled to take books from the Library shall receive from the Librarian a card, on which the name of the person and the number of the book called for shall be written, and whenever a book is called for, or returned by, or on behalf of any person, the proper card must be presented: the person to whom the card belongs will be responsible for all books delivered, and for all fines and penalties incurred on its account.

IX. Persons visiting the Library will be required to deport themselves quietly, and to avoid all unnecessary conversation. No person, except the Librarian or the Trustees, shall be allowed to take books from the shelves.

X. Attention is particularly called to the following Act of the Legislature:—

“Whoever wilfully and wantonly writes upon, injures, defaces, tears or destroys any book, plate, picture, engraving or statue, belonging to any law, town, city or other public library, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five dollars, nor more than one thousand dollars, for every such offence.”

REPORT.

IN submitting their annual report to the inhabitants of Quincy, the undersigned deem it proper to preface their observations upon the condition of the present school system of the town, by some suggestions as to the alterations and additions which have become imperatively necessary. The natural and regular growth of population during the last ten years has already filled to overflowing the school-houses which were thought by many to be unnecessarily large at the time they were built, some fifteen or twenty years since. Successive Committees for years past have urged their enlargement without success. Still it has been possible to get along, after a fashion, by hiring rooms in neighboring houses. By such expedients the existing school-houses may be made to answer the purpose in all parts of the town but two. They are the rapidly growing settlement at Atlantic and the flourishing enterprise at Wollaston Heights. There something effectual must be done, and must be done speedily.

ATLANTIC.

A careful canvass of the territory which is tributary to the Quincy School has disclosed one hundred and fifty-six school children exclusive of Squantum proper. Of this number all but six or seven live to the north and west of Squantum street, upon which the present school-house stands. Vastly the greatest number dwell upon Atlantic street and the ways lying about and near to the station of the Old Colony Railway at Atlantic.

The striking increase of population manifest in this part of the town has taken place near that point, while the conformation of the ground and the presence of large tracts of salt meadows, unsuitable for building purposes, together with the tendency of dwellings to gather about the railway station, have convinced the Committee that provision should be made for the education of the children of this community at a point nearer to the river than the Quincy School. The best site is not far from the station, upon the plane land to the north-eastward of it. It is urgently recommended that the Committee be authorized to obtain a suitable lot in that vicinity for a large school-house. The lot should be ample in size. The town is feeling seriously to-day the narrow and cramped dimensions of some of its school lots. It will feel it far more seriously when it becomes absolutely necessary to enlarge them. Then the land, which might have been had by the acre once, must be bought by the foot, if it can be bought at all. As soon as the land is secured the school-house should be put under contract. It is requisite that the new building should be of the most approved modern plan and appointment, and adequate for the comfortable accommodation of three hundred pupils. This estimate may sound large, but little is hazarded in predicting that the building will be filled to overflowing in less than ten years. It would have been an economy if the town had made the school-houses it now has twice as large as they are. The example of hundreds of children unable to find room in them to-day, the lesson taught by the insufficiency of the town-hall to meet the growth of population, and the indications all about us of a rapid filling up of the towns adjoining Boston, warn us not to be penny wise in this matter. The old Quincy School-house with the land upon which it stands should be sold, and made to pay as far as it will go for the new premises. If the land upon both sides of the turnpike, from Squantum street southward, is filled up in course of time with residences, a situation for a school should hereafter be chosen more southerly than the present one, and a little more retired from the main road. That the Quincy School-house is utterly antiquated and inadequate to the demand upon it, the town has heretofore declared by its votes; that it is situated badly for those who now attend it is obvious, and that the plan here proposed will render it entirely superfluous there can be no doubt. It is therefore believed that there should be no delay in the prosecution of the proposed alteration, which will soon be inevitable, and can never be accomplished more cheaply.

WOLLASTON.

The establishment of a numerous community at a point but lately uninhabited, and the springing up of a village in one year where there was but one house two years since, has required the careful attention of the Committee. Temporary quarters were obtained by leasing for one year a small building, which has thus far proved adequate for the number of children who have as yet presented themselves. But the influx at this point is very exceptional, and will require very much ampler provision in the immediate future. In May last the selectmen report only twelve school children upon a territory from which sixty-four now attend the schools at Wollaston Heights. The Old Colony and Newport Railway Company show by their reports that the passengers from the Wollaston station to and from Boston increased from 12,793, in 1869, to 48,270 in 1871. Such facts supply the most conclusive argument in favor of the wisdom of an ample preparation now for the future. A lot of land should be secured at once at a point upon Beale street, about one quarter of a mile distant westerly from the railroad, and near the house at present occupied for school purposes. The probable disposition of the population on this territory is now sufficiently indicated, and must in future be so largely influenced by the lay of the land and the position of the railway station that nothing is risked by fixing upon a permanent site for the public building for schools as soon as may be. It would be well not to delay the work upon it. It cannot reasonably be anticipated that the rooms now used will prove large enough for even one year like the last. Here, as at Atlantic, a true economy and a wise forecast will induce the town to provide now for the impending future. The house at Wollaston Heights should be in all respects equal to that at Atlantic, and should be calculated to seat at least three hundred children. It should be built during the approaching summer, and if this double burden seems to be too considerable for a single year, a part or the whole of the cost of these erections may be distributed upon future years by means of loans. By these means the increased population for which this anticipated expense is undertaken, may be made to share the load taken up for their benefit.

The Committee ask for authority to obtain the land and erect the buildings here, as at Atlantic, with all expedient rapidity.

THE SCHOOLS.

Passing from these matters of special importance to the usual subjects of the annual report, it may be convenient to look over the separate schools a little in detail, before giving a judgment upon their general condition and progress. This distribution of attention is the more natural from the custom of subjecting every school in town to a searching scrutiny by the whole Committee at the close of the school year in January. This duty was performed with a good deal of thoroughness by the Committee, and it is proper to communicate briefly some conclusions reached by them.

PRIMARIES.

It is needless to dilate upon the value and importance of any grade of schools. It is assumed that each is of equal value in its place. As to the Primary Schools, therefore, the first thing that strikes the examiner in this town is the great discrepancy between schools of the same class in different localities, — a discrepancy not now first manifested, but of old growth. The cause is not far to seek. Wherever it has been found possible to grade and classify most accurately and perfectly, there the progress is great. Where that is inconvenient or impossible, the progress is comparatively small. This statement is so true and so notorious, that no pains ought to be spared in future to collect all the school children of one district in one building. So far as this policy has been pursued, the Primary Schools in some parts of the town are divided into grades, between which there is an interval as wide as that between the highest Primary and the Intermediate School. In fact these old-fashioned names have ceased to be accurately descriptive, and often nowadays tend to mislead. There are really five grades of schools in the town system, although it is as yet only partially developed. It would be as well to gradually become accustomed to number the schools by some such scale, instead of insisting upon the confused classification which now prevails. A good example of complete classification is to be seen at the Willard School. The school of class five, there admirably kept by Miss Spear, is a model school for the very first step. Here the alphabet, and the earliest essays at small words in reading and spelling complete the course. Thence the little ones pass to class four, in charge of Miss Locke, who leads them on with the most perfect, gentle discipline and care, to read with some ease in simple sentences and spell small words, to which the more advanced class add the first notion of numbers. Then they are again passed on to class three, where Miss Newcomb, with the distinguished success for which she has been so frequently commended, introduces them to their first acquaintance with geography, and advances them by constant practice in the simpler processes of arithmetic, and carries them forwards with their reading, writing and spelling. Each of these schools is excellent in its way, and together they form a complete and thoroughly efficient system. Side by side, as it were, with them we have a fair sample of the other method. Miss Cole keeps an ungraded Primary School at the railway village. She is a zealous and faithful teacher, and her pupils are precisely similar to those of Miss Locke or Miss Newcomb, yet the school is not to be compared with either of these in any respect. It is to be hoped either that this school may be removed to the Willard School-house, whenever a sufficient building is selected there, or else that the railroad, which has recently been opened through that remote part of the town, may induce such an influx of population as will justify the building of a suitable school-house there, and the establishment of two or three graded schools in it. At present, the condition of that village, in respect to its local school, is far from satisfactory.

The conditions of neighborhood and concentration are such at the Adams School, as to permit at that point the most complete classification. There are three grades of Primary Schools, — a fifth-class school, which has been very successfully managed by Miss Williams; a fourth-class school, which Miss Sheahan has gradually improved, until it can now bear comparison with either of its fellows; and the school kept by Miss Mary E. Dinegan, in the High School building, of the third class, which it is always a pleasure and a satisfaction to visit. These schools are all excellent and all improving, and all doing a great deal of good for the community. It will be noticed that there is no disconnected school here, and consequently there is nothing to be excused, and no source of embarrassment to be concealed. But immediately upon turning to the neighboring region known as Quincy Neck, the Point, and Germantown, the evil attendant upon scattered schools is apparent. By the introduction of a new school-house at some convenient point midway between the Neck and the Point, and by drafting to it the children from the Neck, and from a part at least of the region about Edwards' Hill, it will by and by be possible to dispense with the Neck School, and at the same time to add another Primary School to the system at the Washington School. Then there can be three graded schools in this class, exactly corresponding with those in the West and South, and doubtless of equal excellence. At present the Neck School does not compare well with our best Primary Schools, although its deficiency can neither be attributed to any shortcomings of its careful and painstaking teacher, Miss Plummer, nor to any lack of quality in its pupils. The same evil detracts from the admitted excellence of Miss Souther's school, which, but for its large number of classes, would be as perfect a school in its way as any town need wish for. But the variety of age and attainment in the children collected in one school, which must result from imperfect classification, requires such minute subdivision of recitation as prevents the attainment of the best practical results.

The Crane School, at Germantown, is another instance of isolation and its consequences. It bears twenty-five names upon its roll. Their ages vary from four to sixteen years. Their studies range from algebra to the alphabet. It is a whole school system from the lowest Primary to the High School in one. It has nearly as many recitations as it has pupils, and its teacher must combine the aptitudes and attainments of a gentle mother and a learned professor. Such a combination is not common, and it has happened not unfrequently that Committees have left the little school-house at Germantown in great discouragement. Fortunately there is no such mischance to report at present. Miss Sheldon has proved herself emphatically the person for that place, and her worth has been recognized and appreciated by her pupils. This school has seldom made an appearance so encouraging and pleasant as it has of late. Still, it will be a fortunate day for those children when the town shall decide to transport them to the Washington or Coddington Schools rather than maintain this excrescence upon its plan of education; for at the Coddington School they would have the advantage of a more perfect classification, and they would feel the full impulse of the tide of school life.

There are only two Primary Schools at the Coddington School-house, although it were greatly to be wished that there were three, as at the West and South. But one of its Primary Schools is set apart in the High School building, partly to meet the requirements of the locality and partly from want of room. There is an addition required to the Coddington house, at the same time that the new building already suggested in this report is placed near Edwards' Hill, which would improve the position of things as much in the centre of the town as that would add to the advantages at the Neck and Point. But in view of the pressing exigencies in the northern parts of the town, to which extended reference has been made, it is not thought expedient to present at this time the plan which has been much considered by the Committee for a comprehensive and permanent readjustment of the school accommodation of these parts of the town. It is sufficient here to merely indicate the points at which a deficiency is already apparent. Partly in consequence of its disconnection, and perhaps from other causes as well, Miss Howland's school is not quite equal to some others of its class, and fails to fully satisfy the wishes of the Committee. On the other hand, the infant's school of Miss Underwood is a charming specimen of a fifth-class school, and could only be improved by dividing it into two parts and forming a fourth-class school, before coming to the school of Miss Lizzie E. Morse, which is a full third class in its attainments. Indeed, Miss Morse is a teacher of such natural vivacity and energy, and succeeds so remarkably in inspiring her pupils with something of her own eager desire to excel, that some of her recitations trench occasionally upon the domain of the second-class school, or, as it is usually called, the Intermediate. The two Primary Schools at the Quiney School-house are neither of them capable of a perfect development in their present quarters. The one entrusted last autumn to the care of Miss Cora I. Young was taken from the overflowing of the school of Miss Flint. No adequate school-room could be obtained near by, and the basement of the building was hastily prepared for a temporary abiding-place. The room was low, but perfectly light, well warmed and dry; and thoroughly ventilated. Still it is not held up as a model upon which it is hoped that the town will pattern in future. The accommodation was poor, but sufficient for the immediate need, and preferable to detaching the school from the rest of the pupils, on the one hand, or adding an expensive edifice to that which must be soon abandoned, on the other. The new house at Atlantic will dispose for many years of the just complaints of this part of our town's-people. In the mean time Miss Young is making an admirable school of the fifth class, of the material which has been assigned to her. Miss Flint's school is one of those nominal Primary Schools which include the entire space which should be divided between two schools and a part of a third, in a good system. Hers is a fourth class, a third class, and about one half of a second class school in one, and the consequence is that it is far less satisfactory than any one of them might be by itself. The teacher has, doubtless, labored earnestly and well, and the children are as competent to acquire as any of their contemporaries in the town, but the result of the year's work is not all that could be desired, nor is the school among those to which we point with pride.

The second school at Wollaston is called a Primary School, as the first school is classed as an Intermediate School; but as yet a thorough classification has been impracticable. The extreme rapidity of settlement at this point will require a full assortment of schools very soon, but in the mean time the immediate need is pretty well satisfied by two mixed schools of indefinite grades. The success of the second of these schools has been small, and some alteration will probably be tried in its management.

INTERMEDIATE.

The next step of the ladder is that to the class of schools, commonly called Intermediate, — a name which has lost much of its original significance since the Primary Schools have been graded. They might advantageously be called schools of the second class. From them there is but one step to the Grammar School, which is really the highest point in the ordinary course of study for much the largest number of our young people. The High School is a supplementary school. There are five schools which are at present classed as Intermediate Schools, although the first school at Wollaston Heights combines a little of both Grammar School and High School in its composition. It has been gathered but a few weeks, and numbers only about twenty scholars as yet ; but under the vigorous hand, quick eye, and natural as well as trained aptitude and fitness of Miss H. H. Morse, it is making remarkable progress, and it is very much to be hoped that this teacher may be secured to take charge of the first-class school, which it is expected to establish at this point as soon as a proper house and a sufficient attendance is secured. Such a selection would, it is true, be an experiment in this town, but the Committee have no doubt of its fortunate issue in the case of Miss Morse. The four Intermediate Schools proper have all been doing a good work during the year. Miss Robbins, at the Washington School, could display less apparent product for her intelligent industry than the others, because a very large draft of her most advanced pupils was early removed to the Grammar School ; but she commands the perfect confidence of the Committee as fully as ever. Miss Emily A. Dinegan's school, in the Stone School-house, was generally good, and in some particulars remarkably proficient. Her care and sedulous efforts are never relaxed in the attempt to make her school in every respect gratifying to the Committee. The school of Miss Edwards, at the Coddington, made a very good appearance at the examination, and is making fair progress. It is invidious, where all are good, to select one for special approval, but it is no more than justice if it is well deserved, and it may be calculated to call forth a stronger spirit of honorable emulation. With this motive and with no desire to detract from the well-deserved praise which has been already bestowed upon the three schools which have just been mentioned, the Committee think that a slight superiority was manifested by the school of Miss Veazie, at the Willard, to any of this grade. It is difficult to speak with absolute certainty where all were so good ; but this impression was common to all the Committee.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

Of the four schools of this class two have steadily supported their well-established reputation for sound method, steady progress, and perfect discipline. They have been for some years under the same guidance, and their character is fixed. With the Willard and the Washington Schools the case had been different. Frequent changes had taken place in their management, and the result had been seen in a deterioration of discipline and a relaxation of effort. But the appointment of Mr. Hall at the Washington School, at the beginning of the year, has been productive of admirable consequences. The school has gained spirit and animation, and exhibits a laudable desire to get on in all its studies. The examination was exceedingly satisfactory. Miss Meade has seconded the efforts of the principal zealously and efficiently; and it is with real pleasure that the Committee make substantially the same favorable report in regard to the Willard Grammar School. It too had suffered somewhat in its tone and discipline, and it likewise has been entirely re-established. In September last, Mr. Higgins was elected to the care of that school. In February last, when the school was very carefully examined, it appeared as well in every respect as it ever has done within the recollection of any member of the Committee. And from a competent experience of the methods and manner of instruction adopted by the Principal, and the able and indefatigable assistance afforded him by Miss Thomas, nothing is risked by predicting the most flattering results from another year of such management. The Adams School, under Mr. Dewing, displays the same characteristics with which we have long been familiar. Nowhere is a more careful training manifest in the great first principles of a good plain education. Reading, writing, grammar, and arithmetic are nowhere more thoroughly and assiduously taught. Mr. Blood, who has acted as his assistant, has effected a great improvement in the deportment and proficiency of the department intrusted to him. Nor is the Coddington School lacking in these substantial merits, while there has been manifested there of late a desire to advance, which is cordially greeted by the Committee. An attempt has been made with flattering results by Mr. Brown in this school, as well as by Mr. Higgins at the Willard School, to diminish the reliance upon forms and text-books, which sometimes tends to weaken, rather than to strengthen, the mind, and is apt to substitute the formulas of the teacher for the reasonings of the pupil. Some tact is necessary for such an experiment, and, no doubt, it adds very considerably to the labor of the teacher ; but surely if it is practicable to direct rather than to carry the young learner, to encourage him to put forth his own efforts rather than to rely upon those of others, and to look for reasons in his own brain rather than in a book, its tendency must be to sharpen and develop the reasoning powers. Mr. Brown has also been very fortunate in his assistant, Miss Carrie P. Barnes, who has been singularly judicious in forwarding the course of instruction which he has marked out. In some respects the results already reached are exceptionally gratifying.

HIGH SCHOOL.

This school is designed to afford to such pupils as may desire to pursue their studies somewhat beyond the bounds of a mere familiarity with the solid essentials of a plain common-school education, an opportunity to obtain an acquaintance with Latin and Greek, — if they elect to study them, — French, Geometry and Algebra in their elements, natural science in some of its more practical aspects, the great fundamental principles of mental and moral action and civil polity, a glance at English literature, and a competent facility in the keeping of mercantile accounts. Of course, such a school is capable of the greatest usefulness, but for some years its value has been diminished by the small percentage of pupils who were at once prepared and desirous to partake its privileges. The present year has been more favorable. The school has been fairly filled throughout, averaging an attendance of fifty-five persons, who exhibit a general quality of proficiency and ability not inferior to that of any former year. There is no pupil in Quincy who desires instruction in Greek in this school, and of course no such class has been instituted. In Latin, Mr. Keith has three classes, numbering together forty-six, the more advanced of which display a very commendable knowledge of the principles of the language combined with a fair acquaintance with its construction in the authors which they have studied. The third class also seemed to be laying a sound foundation for the successful prosecution of this useful study. The school was subjected to a very careful examination, extending over nearly ten hours, in January last, and the result was, upon the whole, satisfactory. In some branches of study, in particular, a very strong excellence was manifest, and the general tone and manner of the school was all that could be wished. It is desirable in this school, which is required by law to teach "general history, book-keeping, surveying, geometry, natural philosophy, chemistry, botany, the civil polity of this Commonwealth and of the United States, the Latin, Greek, and French languages, astronomy, geology, rhetoric, logic, intellectual and moral science, and political economy," that such a distribution of time may be made among these numerous pursuits as will admit of something like a thorough attention to some few of them at once. The danger is, that an attempt to cover too much ground will render your edifice insecure and unbraced, and a perpetual repetition of disconnected fragments of knowledge tend to dissipate and enfeeble the mental powers. The most valuable result of intellectual discipline, apart from the mere acquisition of facts, is undoubtedly the power of prolonged and intense attention to a connected series of propositions, the sum and tendency of which it is necessary to understand. This power requires a practice in concentration, and a patient persistence in a single aim which a great variety or daily change of study must weaken. It has been the aim of the gentlemen, therefore, who have directed the course pursued in this school for some years back, to so distribute the seasons of application to the various branches of science, as to secure consecutive periods of unbroken study to each scientific pursuit, combined with a persistent attention to mathematics, and some foreign language, either ancient or modern. It is our conviction that this policy is a sound one, and should be followed as far as can be done without undue neglect of any essential element in such an education as a High School is designed to furnish. They are not really well adapted to the preparation of those who now intend to seek a collegiate or special training. The requirements at Cambridge are becoming each year more exacting and difficult, and the share of attention which the master must bestow upon one or two boys, to enable them to meet these requirements, becomes necessarily more disproportioned to their relative importance in the school. What they gain must be taken from sixty others, who are equally entitled to consideration and care. It is not to be regretted, therefore, that the opening of the Adams'

Academy, designed to meet that single demand, will probably relieve us of the liability to be called upon for such peculiar attention, and enable the school to be devoted more perfectly to its proper work of bestowing a general and diffusive culture of its own rather than forming a single step in a broader system of complete training. Mr. Keith has conducted the school with good success, and has been very efficiently seconded by Miss S. L. Barnes, who replaced the former assistant at the opening of the year. The Committee, at the urgent request of the pupils themselves, have during the year introduced the study of music to a limited extent among the occupations of the school. The subject of the expediency of adopting a thorough elementary training in music, as an essential ingredient in common-school education, has been a great deal debated, and is yet in dispute. It is required in the schools of Germany, which are considered the best in the world. But without entering upon the general question, it may be sufficient to say that the Committee have no doubt as to the propriety of the action taken in this particular instance. It is recommended that the experiment be continued for the coming year, at an expense of about two hundred dollars, and it is confidently believed that no persons, who will be at the trouble of visiting the school, and hearing for themselves the gratifying manifestation of a musical taste and culture which is already apparent, can regard this money as ill spent.

And in this connection, the Committee desire to reiterate once more the often repeated appeal to the parents of school children, to show a more effectual interest in this very important matter of education, by an occasional visit to that school at least where they may happen to be sending a child. If one or other of the parents of one-half of these boys and girls would be careful to do this only once in each term, the good effects upon children, as well as teachers, would be very great.

GENERAL REMARKS.

There remain only one or two considerations of a general character to complete this report. It will have been observed that the review which has been attempted is upon the whole favorable. Indeed, the aspect of school matters is really encouraging, but it is not yet all that is desired. It will be noticed that a sum of money larger than ever before is asked by the Committee. They desire it not certainly to spend themselves, inasmuch as a majority of the Committee yield their places to others coming fresh from the people, and entrusted with their especial confidence, but because an increased expenditure is believed to be essential to the welfare of the town. Many schools are quite bare of maps, blackboards, globes, and similar important aids to effective teaching. To drag along in these days, in order to save a small immediate outlay, without the best instruments of education, is as uneconomical as to manufacture with old-fashioned or worn-out machinery. A small sum is asked for these necessary appliances in such schools as most lack them. Again it is a very injudicious parsimony to scrimp the salaries of teachers to the very last cent at which they will not leave you. This matter ought to be entrusted to the good judgment of the School Committee, and some provision should be made for an emergency. If one set of Committee-men cannot be trusted to exercise a wise discretion on this as on other subjects pertaining to their office, let others who are more judicious be substituted. The intelligence of our rising generation should not be permitted to lag behind that of its neighbors for want of the best guidance. Yet it will do so if our schools are poorer than theirs, and the schools will certainly be poorer if their teachers are inferior, — not so active, not so enterprising, not so well trained, not so anxious to keep abreast of the best thought upon subjects connected with their profession. Now the best teachers cannot be had in these days for less than the best price. The superior members of this profession are speedily recognized and easily obtain the highest remuneration. Quincy now adjoins Boston, and its schools and teachers are brought into sharp and crisp contrast with those of its great neighbor. Able and ambitious teachers can readily cross the river. It is hardly consistent with a decent pride to see first-rate schools taught by teachers who have left our town to better their condition, lining the north bank of the Neponset, while second-rate schools lag along upon the south bank.

It is also recommended that a change be made in the times of vacation in the schools. A considerable number of pupils can attend school only in the winter term. They are obliged to follow other pursuits in the summer term. A glance at the tables of attendance will show how considerable this disparity is in some schools. The close of the winter term in February, accompanied by a recess of one week, is generally accepted by them as the signal for their departure. This short intermission effectually snaps the chain of study. They do not care to commence afresh, after an interval of idleness, a new term which must soon be broken off. Now there seems to be no very valid reason for closing the schools at that time. The season is rough and rugged, and but little adapted to out-of-door recreation or enjoyment. The space is long enough to unsettle, but not sufficient to refresh the pupils. Public opinion and common sense seem to point more and more plainly to the adoption of a simple plan which shall devote our long, cold winter to steady and unbroken exertion, and abandon the severe heats of July and August to complete relaxation. By such an arrangement there would be more study and more play, for the summer vacation could be longer, and a large number of meritorious pupils who now leave us in February would then stay until April. This subject is respectfully urged upon the attention of the next Committee.

The detailed statement of the anticipated general expenses for the ensuing year will be found appended to this report, and a candid examination of that important paper is respectfully urged. It is believed that no material reduction in the sums there specified can be made with a due regard to the best interests of the schools and the town. Having said this, the Committee feel that they have done their duty, and they cheerfully leave the matter where it belongs, in the hands of their fellow-town's-people.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

Three Evening Schools were opened October 2, 1871, in the Adams, Willard and Quincy School buildings respectively, and continued until the 23d of January last.

The school in the Adams Building contained 94 pupils, of whom 71 were males and 23 females, with an average attendance of 59. That in the Willard Building contained 54 pupils, all males, with an average attendance of 26; and that in the Quincy Building contained 53 pupils, all males, with an average attendance of 26.

Reading, Writing, Spelling, Arithmetic, Geography and Book-keeping were taught, with very satisfactory results, in all of the schools, and a small class in the elements of Mechanical Drawing made commendable progress in the Adams School.

The Committee feel convinced that these schools are doing a very useful work, and supply a deserving class of our community, who are or have been debarred from enjoying the advantages of the day schools, with their only means of obtaining an education; and recommend their permanent establishment as part of our school system.
